

NIGHT EDITION CAUGHT IN SHAFT

George Fredinburg Narrowly Es- caped Fatal Injuries

George Fredinburg, superintendent of the Boston Building company's plant at the corner of Lincoln and Tanner streets, had a narrow escape from being killed this morning as a result of his being caught in a shaft.

Mr. Fredinburg was working at a machine when his right arm got caught in a shafting and was broken. The ambulance was called and he was removed to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment.

Mr. Fredinburg resides in Pawtucket, R. I., having only recently come to this city.

BOARD OF TRADE

Will Take Up Billerica Site Proposition

It is understood that the new industry committee of the board of trade has taken up the project of having the Boston and Maine locate its car shops in North Billerica on the site set forth exclusively in yesterday's Sun and will confer with the railroad authorities in a short time.

Tewksbury real estate owners are also working hard to have the company locate within the limits of that town. The Billerica people, however, are confident that they have the finest site to be found in this vicinity and they are equally confident that the land can be secured at a reasonable figure. The Boston and Maine is not speaking any concessions but simply desires land at a reasonable figure.

INVESTIGATE LOBBYING

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 20.—Three measures of interest were presented in the legislature during its 10 minutes session today. A resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate lobbying was introduced by Rep. Daniel A. Colton of Providence. The sponsor for the bill stated that the public press of Rhode Island has published charges that certain persons are undue influence upon members of the general assembly. Such lobbying, Rep. Colton said, was antagonistic to the dignity of the state.

An act to increase the fees of jurors from $2 to $3 was presented by Rep. W. A. Mulvaney of Providence. Senator Edward Atchison of North Smithfield introduced in the upper branch a bill to create an inspector of oyster beds.

THE LOVERS OF ART SUPT. REDWAY

Would Like to Purchase Neal's Rialto for City

There is a movement on foot among the Lowell admirers to secure for the city David Neal's painting of "the Rialto," the historic Venetian bridge over the Grand Canal immortalized by Shakespeare.

The painting was hung in the Whistler house, but has been removed to the city library. A notice on the door calls the attention of the public to the fact that the picture is on exhibition there.

Mr. Walter Coburn is one of the men much interested in the purchase of the picture for the city. He says that should Mr. Neal die, the chances are the picture would become much more valuable in the eyes of the public, and he believes that now is the time to buy it.

David Neal was born in Lowell in 1838, and has spent most of his years in England. He is at present in New Jersey, stricken in health. The question is, will Lowell honor a notable artist born of her own people by buying the picture in question.

It has been stated that Mr. Neal would set a value of something like $2000 on "the Rialto," and it is suggested that if he purchased by a subscription from the whole people, no body contributing heavily, but all who desire contributing something.

PASTOR'S WIFE

Committed Suicide by Inhaling Gas at Danvers

DANVERS, Jan. 20.—During a fit of despondency as the result of a nervous break-down, Mrs. Eugene M. Grant, wife of the pastor of the Danvers Universalist church, committed suicide at her home here today by inhaling illuminating gas. She was 60 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Grant came here from Connecticut eight years ago when Mr. Grant accepted a call to the local parish. Two weeks ago Mr. Grant tendered his resignation to the trustees, to take effect April 1, in order to accept the pastorate of the Universalist church at Wilton, N. H., where the Grant summer home is located. Besides her husband, Mrs. Grant leaves a son and three daughters.

THE SCHENK CASE

Doctors Were Principal Witnesses at the Trial Today

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Prosecuting Atty. Handian of Ohio county, who has been conducting for the state the trial of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, who is charged with poisoning her husband, has been subpoenaed by the defense and will be put on the stand some time today. Certain evidence as to how various witnesses have been paid and an attempt to bring out a conspiracy against their client is said to be part of the plan of Messrs. Royce and O'Brien, who have been defending the accused.

Dr. J. J. Osborne, who was the first witness for the defense when it began to present its side of the case yesterday and who was on the stand at adjournment of court last night, will be called again today to complete his testimony. He declared that he had treated and examined Schenk and found no trace of arsenical poisoning.

Fifteen other physicians are among witnesses called by Mrs. Schenk's counsel and it is expected that several of these will go on the stand today. Attorney O'Brien expects now to complete his case in three days, in which event it is expected Mrs. Schenk will take the stand Monday. From her it is expected to bring out an alleged conspiracy of the Schenk family against her, from the time her marriage with Mr. Schenk was made public.

When the trial began today, Dr. Osborne went back on the stand and Prosecuting Attorney Handian resumed his cross examination.

Dr. Osborne is one of the physicians sent by Mrs. Schenk's lawyers to the hospital to examine Mrs. Schenk. The doctor testified that Mrs. Schenk's symptoms did not agree with the history of the case as to lead or arsenical poisoning but he admitted that the symptoms as described by other physicians were indicative of the poisons. He further admitted that his visit was some time after the removal of Schenk to the hospital and that as soon as the source of supply of poison was removed the patient would recover.

Judge Jordan announced this morning that beginning this evening night sessions will be held to bring the Schenk case to an early close.

According to Attorney O'Brien, Mrs. Schenk may not go on the stand at all. He said he had important witnesses to prove facts, so that Mrs. Schenk's testimony would not be required. Cross examination of Dr. Osborne referred entirely to medicinal practices and especially regarding arsenical poison as to acute and chronic cases and what amounts would cause each class of arsenical poison.

Prosecutor Handian in cross examination took up many phases of arsenical and lead poisoning and for two hours had Dr. Osborne on the grill. He admitted several points brought out by the physicians for the state.

"Now, doctor, after describing to you and what you know of John Schenk's condition after his return from Europe on June 21st, of his illness, symptoms, etc., would you conclude from those symptoms that he was suffering from lead poison?" he was asked.

"Yes, I probably would."

Dr. Roy Stephy of Pittsburgh arrived here this morning for the purpose of testifying in the case. He will be called in connection with the testimony of the detective nurse, Miss Zwickler, alias Mrs. Klein, and his testimony is expected to be of a sensational character.

Entertained Agents of Metropolitan Ins. Co.

The local agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and several invited guests were given a fine treat last night by the local superintendent of the company, Mr. C. B. Redway.

The affair, which was sort of a family one, was given at the Yvick club in Dutton street, as a tribute to the members of the local staff, who during the past year have made the best record of any staff in the country.

The guests numbering 50 sat down to a splendid banquet, which they all agreed was the best ever. The invocation was delivered by Rev. Dr. A. St. John, and the Superintendent Redway presided over the festivities.

The toastmaster in his opening address complimented and extended thanks to the members of his staff for the good work rendered during the past year. He also brought out the good that was done and is being done every day through the nursing department, which has been established for a year or so. Any ill person who carries an industrial policy is entitled to the services of a nurse at the expense of the company, and for this purpose the company has made arrangements with the Young Women's Guild, and the expenses for maintaining this department reach $200 a month.

The other speakers of the evening were: W. B. DeBorja, superintendent of agencies of New York city; John M. Harrigan, superintendent of agencies of ordinary department of New York; Geo. M. Harrigan of the Lowell Trust Co.; Dr. G. Forrest Martin, Dr. Leonard Hunsicker, Dr. W. J. Meagher, Dr. Frank McAviney, Deputy Frederick Brack of Somerville, Charles Hill of Dorchester, Dr. A. St. John, George R. Chandler of the Union National bank, Supt. R. A. Robinson of Lawrence.

A special musical program was rendered and the guests were entertained till a late hour.

IS MATCHED TO MEET AL KAUFMAN

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—At the residence of Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion, it was stated yesterday that Al Kaufman had been matched to meet Al Johnson in London on a certain date in April in a 20 round bout. It is understood the go will take place before Hugh Mcintosh's club, where Scott Langford and Bill Lang will mix it up for 20 innings next month. Aside from that, Johnson and Kaufman have been matched, nothing else could be learned from the family. Johnson is now in Pittsburg.

EVERY DOG KILLED

RAKER CITY, Ore., Jan. 20.—Every dog in the village of Durkee, near here, was killed by the townspeople last night. Earlier in the day a band of mad coyotes had charged into the place, biting many people and dogs. The settlers armed and waged war among the infuriated dogs against them. Then they turned their guns against the dogs, fearing that the rabies, which is rampant among the coyotes in the district, could spread.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—The second day's session of the National Playground Institute was devoted to the reading of papers by men and women prominent in educational and recreational work in various parts of the country. The speakers included George Euler of the University of Wisconsin; Mary E. Stewart, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Ellen Wilson, Columbus, O.; William A. Stecher of Philadelphia and E. B. De Groot of Chicago.

STEALING FAUCETS

The Charge on Which Two Men Appeared in Court

Fréd Lamarche and John Lane, who were arrested during the early part of the week for the alleged larceny of three neckle plated faucets from an unknown person and who entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned in court the following morning, were this morning placed on trial before Judge Hadley.

Inspector Martin Maher testified that on January 15th the two defendants were going around trying to sell the faucets. That they attempted to sell them at Farrell & Conaton's plumbing store, in Dutton street, but Mr. Conaton was suspicious and refused to buy them. They then went to a pawn shop and tried to dispose of the faucets but were unsuccessful. The witness said that in conversation with Lamarche the latter said when he met Lane that Lane had them on his person. Lane in talking with the officer said he found the faucets on the street.

Peter Conaton was called and testified to the men going to his store and trying to sell them as did the pawnbroker.

Lamarche, testifying in his own behalf, admitted that he tried to sell the faucets Monday afternoon. He said he met Lane who said he was a plumber and being hard up wanted to dispose of the faucets. The defendant admitted that he served five months in jail in 1907 for larceny, four months the following year for a similar offense and upon being released from jail was taken to Fall River to plead to a charge of larceny of cloth.

Lane said he found the faucets in the street and intended to turn them over to the police but he was in need of money and tried to sell them. He admitted that he had served time in Boston and had also been at the state hospital in Tewksbury.

The court decided to allow the case to remain open until Monday in order that the police may have an opportunity to try to locate the owner of the faucets. The defendants were each held under $500 for their appearance at that time.

Case of Trespass

Joseph Lamarche and Maximo Elliot were charged with trespassing on the property of James U. Gage, in Moody street. The defendants through an interpreter entered pleas of not guilty and after the testimony had been offered the court seemed to be of the opinion that there was more of a misunderstanding than criminal intent in the matter and continued the matter until tomorrow morning, notifying the defendants that in the meantime they had better move to another house.

According to the testimony of Victor Gelinias, the Moody street grocer, who has been looking after some of Mr. Gage's property in the vicinity of his store, said he rented the tenement to a man, but later learned that the man in question was not living in the house, but was occupied by seven or eight people whom he did not know.

Fréd Avard, the man to whom Gelinias claimed he rented the tenement, said all he had to do in the matter was to go to Mr. Gelinias for the key.

Mrs. Lamarche, wife of one of the defendants, said she hired the place from a man who lived in the rear of the house. It was later brought out that the man in question was in the employ of Mr. Gelinias.

It was at this point that the court decided that there was some misunderstanding and when the defendants said they would pack up their furniture and leave the premises the case was continued till tomorrow morning.

Placed on File

Bertrand H. Durgin, who was charged with the larceny of $290 from Oberlin lodge, I. O. O. F., appeared in court this morning and the case against him was placed on file, having made restitution to the lodge.

Drunken Offenders

John Buckley, who was on probation, violated the rules by getting intoxicated and this morning the court sentenced him to the city farm. John J. Murphy, a parole man, will be returning to the farm. Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

SURPRISE PARTY

MR. AND MRS. LATOUR REMEMBERED BY FRIENDS

A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Latour gathered at the home last night in Brookside. Dr. Latour and caused a great surprise by presenting them with a purse well filled with money.

Mr. and Mrs. Latour are well known in this city, where they lived for a number of years previous to their moving to the neighboring town. The guests sat down to a lunch and then whilst was enjoyed for a couple of hours after which an entertaining program was rendered, those taking part being: Mrs. Louis Latour, who rendered several old Canadian songs; her daughter, Miss Steina Latour, who possessed a rich alto voice; E. C. Gauvin, who delighted the guests with his comic songs; and Mr. Louis Latour, who gave pretty trombone and bass selections.

Refreshments were served and a jolly good time was enjoyed till a late hour.

BEER PRIVILEGE AWARDED

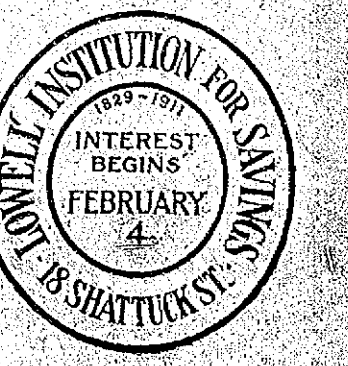

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 20.—The prospect of a beerless season at the local baseball park was removed today, when President Herriman awarded the beer privilege for the coming baseball year. It had been stated that no beer would be allowed to be sold on the premises after the close of last season. In awarding the contract it was stated that the order prohibiting the sale of beer on the grounds will not be put into effect until the completion of the new stands. The date of the erection of these has not been decided on.

PANIC AVERTED DARING HOLD-UP

500 Women in Wild Rush in Fear Guests of Wealthy Society Woman of Fire in Boston Were Robbed

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Almost 500 women ranging in years from girls in their teens to mature and middle-aged women, all inmates and guests of the Franklin Square house for women and girls, East Newton street, South End, were thrown into a state of excitement which threatened a panic shortly before 10 o'clock last night when the fire gongs throughout the building clamored out an alarm.

The alarm was needless, due it is said, to defective wiring. The commotion among the inmates of the house was so great that only the cool, calm and stern commands of the superintendent Mrs. Alice G. Teale, prevented a panic.

The corridors and staircases of the lower part of the building were thronged with frightened women when Mrs. Teale took possession of the situation. She had been attending her sister, who has been ill, and was on the second floor when the alarm was sounded. Before she could completely dress and make her way down the single flight of stairs, hundreds of other women and girls had rushed through the hallways, down the broad staircases and descended in the elevator.

When Mrs. Teale reached the street floor, the marble-tiled corridor was packed with excited women. Evidently her way through them, Mrs. Teale took up a commanding position directly in front of the main exit and commanded all to be calm and collected. Mrs. Teale assured them that there was no cause for fear, that the alarm was needless and the result of an accident. Then, with rare presence of mind, she assumed an authoritative tone and commanded all to return to their rooms.

For a full minute after the rush was made for the street doors the big fire gongs continued to sound. While Mrs. Teale was explaining the cause of all the excitement the number in the corridor and reception rooms was constantly being augmented by late-comers. It was their belief that a fire was raging in some part of the building and they could not seem to understand the purport of the superintendent's words.

It was then that Mrs. Teale displayed rare tact. One young girl, badly frightened, had climbed upon a marble slab at the side of the hall. Mrs. Teale sternly ordered her to get down and listen to what she had to say.

Addressing the terror-stricken women Mrs. Teale said, substantially: "Now is the time to display your womanhood. Turn right around and go to your rooms. Let the cooler ones lead the weaker ones and comfort them and avert a panic!"

"Young men, I call upon you to quiet the girls, for there is really nothing to cause all this commotion."

Having spoken, Mrs. Teale waited to note the effect of her words. She stood hurring crews, gently chiding some of the more excitable.

In a few moments the confidence, inspired by the superintendent's control supplanted the fear that had completely possessed them, and the women obeyed the superintendent's order.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—An unusual holdup was successfully pulled off in a fashionable section of uptown New York shortly after 1 o'clock. Mrs. Frances Elliott, a wealthy society woman, had been entertaining a small party of guests at her home on West 56th street and her guests were just putting on their wraps and saying goodbye when five rough looking men pushed their way through the open door. With drawn revolvers the intruders lined up the hostess and her guests in train-robber fashion and proceeded to go through the pockets of the men and the handbags of the ladies, now and then pausing to remove a tempting bit of jewelry.

Mrs. Elliott and her friends were so thoroughly frightened by the threats and rough actions of the robbers that they made no outcry until the five had left the apartment. Then Mrs. Elliott called up police headquarters. Later she came in person to the detectives' bureau and was cajoled with Captain Murphy. A squad of lynx eyed detectives was detailed to the case. The robbers got $250 in cash and jewelry valued at $2500.

The authorities believe that the five men made their escape in an automobile.

ANOTHER ATTACK

Made by the Revolutionary Forces

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20.—Mail advices from Ceiba, Honduras, received last night, state that the revolutionary forces under Manuel Bonilla attacked Ceiba at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 6. Two or three hundred shots were fired, with no fatalities.

The attack was made at the rear of the town and rifle shots were exchanged between the revolutionists and the government troops. At 8:15, an hour later, quiet seemed to have been restored. According to the advices the band played before the headquarters of the commandant and then marched over the town serenading. At 8:37 the attack was renewed with great vigor but ended suddenly. It was learned at this time that the government troops had deserted to the standard of the revolutionists and this had caused the battle.

Great excitement was caused by the playing of a ship's searchlight over the town later in the evening and the residents hurriedly retired indoors. Reliable persons who saw the boat say it was the Hornet.

Later advices say that the United States gunboat Marietta arrived at Ceiba on the morning of the 15th and stayed a few hours, returning to Puerto Cortez. Ceiba had not fallen up to January 15 but an attack by both land and sea was momentarily expected.

PREMIER MORRIS

PLEASSED WITH FRIENDLY SPIRIT OF AMERICANS

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Jan. 20.—Satisfaction with the friendly spirit exhibited by the American negotiators in the conference last week at Washington between representatives of the United States and Newfoundland governments on the disputed points of The Hague award on the fisheries question was expressed today by Premier Morris. The premier returned to Washington last night where he had attended the conference. He expressed the belief that an amicable arrangement was now possible regarding the details in dispute between the two countries and he expressed the opinion that the Americans in return for minor concessions were apparently disposed to abandon attempts to use purse seines or to fish on Sundays.

APPLETONS WON

Took Three Points From Hamilton Five

The Appleton bowlers won three points from the Hamilton quintet in a game in the Manufacturers' Bowling league last night. The first string was won by the Appletons by the narrow margin of one pin, but the Hamiltons went to pieces in the second string and the Appletons won with comparative ease.

In the Moody Bridge league the Druggists won three points from the Clerks.

KEENE HORSES

BEST OF THEM WILL RACE IN ENGLAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The James R. Keene stable is not likely to figure largely in turf events in America during the coming season, according to advices local horsemen have today. It is said that the best of the string will be raced in England hereafter.

The Keene breeding establishment in Kentucky will be continued, however. A further report in this connection is that James Rowe, who has trained the Keene horses for years, has amicably severed his relations with the veteran horseman, who is now in Europe, and will train H. B. Duryea's ponies in England and France during the approaching racing campaign in those countries.

PAUL MORTON DEAD

He Was Secretary of the Navy Under President Roosevelt—He Attained Fame as a Railroad Executive—Wife and Brother Rushed to His Bedside

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and secretary of the navy under Theodore Roosevelt, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in the Hotel Seymour last night. His wife and his elder brother, Joy, were at his side 15 minutes before he breathed his last, but he was unconscious from the moment of the stroke and neither recognized those about him nor spoke.

His close friend, B. J. Berwind, arrived a few moments earlier, perhaps 10 minutes before he breathed his last, but he was unconscious from the moment of the stroke and neither recognized those about him nor spoke.

At 6 o'clock I dropped into his office, thinking we might go uptown together, but he had left before me. So I went on up to the house alone where I met Mrs. Morton and we drank tea together.

"She knew that Paul had promised me to be home at 6 or before, and as it grew late she turned to me and said: 'Joy, isn't it odd that Paul's late? He's always so punctual.'"

"The words were hardly out of her mouth when the telephone rang and the butler brought bad news," Mrs. Morton, he said, "the hotel Seymour telephones that Mr. Morton has just fainted on the fifth floor."

"We jumped into an automobile and were there in a jiffy. Edward J. Berwind was there before us. They had telephoned to the Metropolitan club, to Paul's office and to others of his friends."

Rejected by Examiner.

"He was on the fifth floor, where he had an appointment with a lawyer, whose name I'm not sure of. They told us that he had fainted in the hallway on his way to his friend's room and that they carried him into a vacant apartment."

"Now, let me tell you a little about my brother's health. About Dec. 1 the Equitable got out what it called a Christmas policy, and when everything was in readiness it was suggested that it would be fitting to make out the first policy in the name of the president of the company.

"Paul was examined and Dr. Wells, the chief examiner for the company, rejected him."

"Of course it was a shock, but Paul never dreamed now serious was his case. It alarmed the family, however, and we had him come on to Chicago to be examined by Dr. Frank Billings."

"That, I think, was about Dec. 5," Paul laughed at us. "They're only trying to scare me, I remember he said."

Blood Pressure Too High.

"Of course Dr. Billings didn't tell Paul all he found, but he did tell me. Your brother's blood pressure is too high," he said. "He has auto-intoxication. Then he explained that auto-intoxication is a condition in which the body does not rid itself of the toxins it secretes and so poisons itself."

In addition he diagnosed cerebral thrombosis. My father died of precisely similar conditions on April 27, 1902.

"Then I came on to New York to find out what they thought here. Dr. Isaac Adler, the family physician, told me that Paul was suffering from a kidney and arterial condition, indicating Bright's disease."

"Dr. Wells told me that he had rejected Paul because his tests showed traces of albumen. 'Your brother,' he said, 'is feeling the effects of what we call an unbalanced ration.'"

His Unbalanced Ration.

"If I tell you a little about Paul's habits, that phrase will explain itself. He was a very temperate man. He ate sparingly, drank and smoked not at all. For breakfast he would eat sometimes a grapefruit, nothing more. For lunch he would sometimes eat a sliced orange and nibble at sweets."

"You see his diet was unbalanced and his blood lacked some of the elements of strength a man that did his work needed. Dr. Wells told me that he would have to take 'the greatest care of himself and that he ought to cut down on work.'"

"It was his first illness, and he refused to rest himself, but we had persuaded him to take a vacation as a Theoretical invalid. He would have sailed for Europe on Feb. 22.

"Gentlemen—"

Here the narrative, told with spirit, candor and a wealth of detail, ended suddenly. Joy Morton had done all he could to tell frankly of his brother's closing hours and when his task ended the tears suddenly welled into his eyes and he could not find words. "This is tragic," he ended abruptly. "He was my younger brother—the last of us. Treat him kindly, gentlemen."

Coroner's Report

In the anteroom of the Hotel Seymour, while Mr. Morton was talking, stood Thomas Fortune Ryan, E. J. Berwind and Theodore Shonts, all of whom had been summoned by telephone. Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopkins Smith, Jr., a daughter and son-in-law, had joined Mr. Morton upstairs.

Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon said that from the antecedent history and the symptoms there was no doubt in his mind that death was due to arterial sclerosis, a hardening of the walls of the arteries, terminating in a cerebral lesion. He thought that Bright's disease was indicated, but there would be no autopsy.

A permit for removal of the body to Mr. Morton's house was granted almost immediately. The death was reported to the coroner's office in the usual stereotyped form, as follows: "Paul Morton, 53 years old, died suddenly at the Hotel Seymour, 10 West 43d street, reported to coroner's office by Dr. Pearson of 49 West 44th street, occupation, railroad man."

The body was removed to the house last night, but no statement of funeral plans was given out.

Friends Deeply Moved

Few, if any, of the directors of the Equitable had news of the death until they were informed by the newspapers. E. W. Bloomingdale, Robert De Forest and Frank S. Witherbee, the last named also of the Equitable executive committee, were all deeply shocked and hurriedly sought details.

Mr. Witherbee said: "I am indescribably shocked. I saw Mr. Morton as late as 4 o'clock this afternoon after the monthly meeting of the Equitable directors. He complained of not feeling well and I urged him to take a rest and vacation, never dreaming, however, that his condition was so serious."

SHOCKED BY MORTON'S DEATH

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The business and financial world in general and life insurance circles in particular were slow in recovering today from the shock caused by the sudden death last night of Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and former secretary of the navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet.

Mr. Morton was stricken at the Hotel Seymour, where, according to his brother, Joy, he had gone to keep an engagement with a lawyer and died of cerebral hemorrhage without recovering consciousness.

Mr. Morton's family were aware that he was in a serious condition physically and had prevailed on him to take a vacation. He was to have sailed for Europe on Feb. 22.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church. The burial will be at Green-Wood cemetery.

Messages of condolence poured in on the bereaved family today from notable personages all over the country.

LODGE'S ELECTION

MONTANA LEGISLATURE WANTS INVESTIGATION OF IT

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 20.—The Montana legislature in joint session yesterday condemned the action of certain "so-called democrats" in the legislature of Massachusetts in voting for the re-election of United States Senator Bruce Cabot Lodge, declared that the re-election of Lodge was on its face the result of a corrupt bargain and demanded a rigid investigation of the methods by which Lodge obtained his election.

HELPING HAND SOCIETY

The sale and entertainment held by the Helping Hand society at the Swedish Congregational church last evening proved to be a success in every way. The program was as follows: 1. Song, by the audience; Bible reading, Elio Erickson; song, choir; vocal solo, Hilda Carlson; recitation, Paul Swanson; violin and piano, Esther and Carrie Anderson; song, Helping Hand Society; introduction of Rev. Mr. Gregg, Rev. John Timmer; speeches, Elenora Gregg, piano duet, Carrie and Martha Anderson; vocal duet, Jennie Abrahamson and Hanna Phil.

The young ladies in charge of the tables were kept busy the entire evening and reported good sales. Those in charge were: Bundle table, Ruth Swanson and Ruth Phil; candy table, Carrie Anderson and Martha Phil; flower work table, Martha Anderson and Jennie Abrahamson; ice cream table, Mabel Swanson and Hanna Phil; coffee table, Flora Johnson. Ice cream and coffee tickets were sold by Nettie Carlson.

BE PARTICULAR

A $5125 VERDICT

Woman Wins Suit Against Her Father-in-Law

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Satisfied that the withdrawal of the latter's hospitality, in giving substantial damages, with costs, it is believed the jury was influenced by the plea that Mrs. West had been "cut" by the Duchess of Rutland and other ladies of the nobility.

Judge Darling in charging the jury said that hospitality meant more than an invitation to dinner and that if a lady, because of stories about her, had been barred from the homes of her

In referring to Mrs. West's readiness to court by the late King Edward the judge's feelings referred to him as "one who spoke no slander nor listened to any."

The case excited tremendous interest and there was a great rush to obtain admittance to the courtroom, hundreds being barred out.

Mrs. Asquith, who yesterday testified that extravagance was a passport to society, sat facing Mrs. West, seated through the crowded room were representatives of many of the prominent families of England.

When the verdict was announced the loud applause was sternly checked by the judge.

Sir Algernon's counsel served notice of appeal and therefore a stay of execution was obtained.

Mrs. Asquith's smart saying is causing quite a stir and the newspapers are asking, "How extravagant should a woman be to gain an entry to aristocratic society?"

SILVER WEDDING

Was Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Lavole of Regina Place

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lavole of 1 and count a large circle of friends in Regina place, Allen street, celebrated their silver wedding yesterday. The affair was of a quiet nature, only the immediate relatives of the couple taking part.

A notable fact with Mr. and Mrs. Lavole is that they were both born twins. Mr. Lavole's twin brother being Gaspard Lavole of Albanel, Que., who is the father of 15 children. Mrs. Lavole's twin sister is Amanda Parent, wife of Blendenbach Balfre of Ste. Melanie, Que., and has eight children.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavole are well known

Rupture Now Curable

Dr. A. W. Turner, a Boston physician, has published a pamphlet explaining how rupture may be cured to stay cured without using the knife.

Of course all ruptured people are interested, and letters are coming to the doctor in great numbers from other physicians and from ruptured people.

To all inquirers the doctor sends the pamphlet by mail without charge.

was born in April, 1861, at Ste. Melanie, and was educated in the parochial school of her native town.

The couple emigrated to this city 24 years ago. On his arrival, Mr. Lavole obtained work in a local factory and later entered the employ of Coffey Bros., wholesale merchants. In 1895 he opened up a grocery business for himself at 183 Hall street, and has since conducted this business with good financial success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavole have had 10 children, six of whom are living, two of whom are nuns in the order of St. Joseph, at Lagrange, Ill., namely, Meralda, in religion Sister Anastasia; Robea, in religion Sister Bertha; Alice, Marie, Anne, Eva and Armand, the latter a popular member of the Association Catholique, and who is tending the store with his father.

Mr. Lavole is well known in fraternal circles, being a member of Court St. Paul, C. O. F., L'Union National de Champlain, L'Union Garin Nationale Independente and Club Des Citoyens Americains.

Although the wedding anniversary of the venerable couple was strictly quiet, Mr. and Mrs. Lavole received numerous gifts from their friends who also offered congratulations over the event.

ROYAL ARCANUM

Lowell Council, No. 82 Had a Busy Night

Last night was a strenuous one for Lowell council, No. 8, of the Royal Arcanum, for it acted as host in entertaining the several councils of the city, heard the reports of the retiring officers, initiated five candidates, and the district deputy, Bro. Billings of Boston, was present and installed the officers for 1911.

The degree work for the initiatory services was performed by the staff of Highland council 970, and as usual was done in faultless manner.

EUGENE STILLINGS, Regent.

District Deputy Grand Regent Billings was assisted in the work of installation by Grand Secretary Kell, who performed the duties of grand guide in a manner as only years of experience on the floor of the council chamber can achieve. The following are the officers installed:

Regent, E. I. Stillings; vice regent, J. S. Jackson; orator, G. T. McElroy; past regent, W. A. Chase; secretary, L. A. Hodgman; collector, W. F. Sanborn; treasurer, G. E. King; chaplain, L. H. DeVoe; guide, T. Gleason; warden, G. S. Pettigrew; secretary, N. Nelson; trustee for three years, W. M. Sherwell.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremony Past Regent Chase was presented a beautiful regent's jewel by Bro. Hillings, in behalf of his council. There were also present Grand Regent Wise and Grand Vice Regent, Hobson, who spoke briefly to the large gathering.

GOOD TEMPLARS

Heard Mr. Greene Explain Charter

Mr. Harvey B. Greene, president of the board of trade, spoke before the members of the Good Templars, G. T., at their meeting Wednesday night, on the proposed city charter, which is now before the legislature. Mr. Greene spoke more particularly on the centralization of power, citing the matter of schoolhouses, which under the new charter would be under the control of the school committee, where it properly belongs and not under another department as now. He also dwelt on the matter of the police and licensing commissions, showing how a better enforcement of the laws was possible if the law-enforcing and the license-granting powers were separated. The principles of the recall, the initiative and referendum were explained in detail, and at the end of his address Mr. Greene was tendered a unanimous vote of thanks. Refreshments were served later and a social time was enjoyed by all present.

SCHOOL SCANDAL

Threatened by Member of Chicago Business Men's Committee

Fred D. Smith Charges Immorality Among Boys and Girls in High Schools in All Large Centres of Population

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Unless steps of a corrective nature are taken, a high school scandal involving the majority of our boys and girls will shock the nation from coast to coast. I make this startling statement advisedly. It is based on facts existing not in Chicago alone, but in all the centres of population.

Fred D. Smith, a member of the committee of 95, made the foregoing statement last night before 600 Chicago business and professional men at a banquet in the Auditorium hotel. The committee of 95 is an organization of business men of the United States and Canada. It proposes in the next 15 months to win for Christian churches millions of unconverted men throughout the cities of North America.

Committee members subscribed $50,000 to finance the campaign during the day when the movement was launched and more is promised.

Speakers before the committee at the day sessions showed that there are three million more women and girls of Christian churches in North America than men and boys.

"The real problem is to reach the people in the cities," said James M. Cannon, banker of New York city. "Here we have an intensity of living that creates at the same time an intensity of relaxation and there lies the danger."

"The people of this nation are too preoccupied to pay the attention they should to spirituality. The people of this nation can be made to recognize the claim of the gospel only by a severe jar and that is what we propose to give them."

MISS DELEHANTY

Becomes Bride of Vanderbilt's Whip

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Charles H. Wilson, stable manager and whip for Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and Miss Josephine Delehanty, or Jane Delehanty, as she is more popularly known in East Boston and among her intimates, were married last evening in a private suite at the Adams house by Charles A. Feyhle, a local justice of the peace and notary public. It was an attractive scene with the entire family of the bride among those present.

The love romance of the couple started one morning early in last November at the horse show in Madison Square garden, New York, when Wilson was giving an exhibition of coach driving, the former Miss Delehanty, the 19 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Delehanty of 463 Meridian street, East Boston, being an interested spectator.

Although some newspapermen and

photographers got on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, none was admitted to the suite until the wedding party was about to disperse. Then the information the reporters sought was given to them by a Newport friend, who had been mistaken for the happy groom himself.

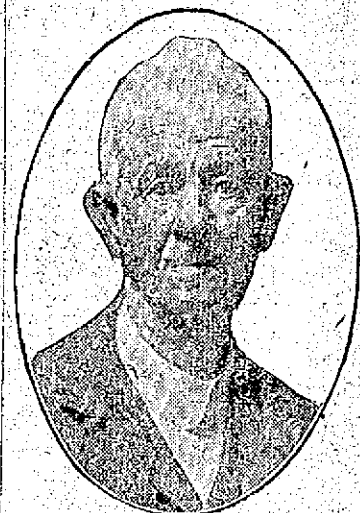

Mr. Feyhle, who has joined many couples, spoke the words that made the 50 year old horseman and man of the world and the pretty East Boston girl man and wife. This was at 7 o'clock, less than two hours later they were being motored to the Back Bay station and there boarded the 9.04 train for Bristol Ferry, R. I., where they were then driven to Mr. Wilson's cottage at South Portsmouth, R. I., where they will remain until they sail for Europe next week.

Restful Sleep Restored-- Indigestion Cured

"Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is far superior to all else as a strengthener and health builder for the aged, weak and sickly," says Mr. D. F. Sibert, 81 years of age.

He writes: "I am always ready to meet and justice where they be long, and will state that my experience with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is that when taken in small doses it is an excellent tonic. I am 81 years old and have suffered with indigestion for many years. These troubles were overcome by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It induces sleep and creates thirst for a glass of water before breakfast. By this the system is the better supplied with oxygen. I as a renewer of youth and tonic stimulant is one of the greatest strength-givers known to science. It aids in destroying disease, and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner, thus keeping the old young in spirits. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low-fever, stomach troubles and all wasting, weakened conditions, if taken in time and as directed.

Made Assistant Adjt. General

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—An addition to the staff of Gov. Eugene N. Foss was made yesterday in the person of Col. Philo Frank Packard, who will become assistant adjutant general and act as chief of staff.

Col. Packard has been on the retired list of the Massachusetts volunteer militia with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Earlier in the week he was made secretary of the service school of the M. V. M., and yesterday he was taken from the retired list, made a full colonel and placed on the active list as assistant adjutant general, vice Col. William Curtis Capelle, retired, as brigadier general.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the early offerings here will be "At the Old Cross Roads," which will be presented by Arthur C. Alston's company at the Opera House soon. That this is decidedly one of the greatest favorites for tour is proven from the fact that this is the fourth annual tour of the play and the season bids fair to collapse even the phenomenal business done by the piece in the preceding seven years. Not only has New York City placed the stamp of approval on this beautiful story of the Sunny South, but the other large cities have joined together in bestowing much praise and favorable comment on the play and the excellence of the organization. Mr. Alston who has in the past given us "Friends," "Tennessee's Partner," "Pretty Peggy," "Shadows on the Hearth," and other first class attractions has outdone himself in this, his best effort. The success of the play has really been remarkable. The cast is one of uniform excellence.

MARIE CAHILL

here to the Opera House next Monday, Jan. 23, direct from the Shubert theatre, Boston, the morning Journal of that city said: "Miss Cahill was more captivating than ever, and broke all past records in making song hits. The production introduces the liveliest lot of handsome girls, the best dancers and most talented singers that can be found grouped in any sort of musical comedy."

"THE SOUL KISS"

"The Soul Kiss" with its record of 999 nights in New York City, will be seen for the first time in this city at the Opera House on Tuesday, January 24. The play has been given a handsome mounting. The scenery is elaborate and full of color. The chorus is strikingly costumed and in good taste. The story young men and women in the background are much more personable than the usual run of musical play characters. Seats are now on sale.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A real feature vaudeville bill, with the best moving pictures to be obtained, is being presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The headline act is presented by Mr. and Mrs. Danie Mann, those well known character artists in their own town comedy playlet, "Muddy Hawkins."

The Four Everetts have a remarkable exhibition of acrobatics and balancing feats replete with sensational features. Archer and Carr are singers and dancers and tellers of witty stories who are well worth seeing more than once, while Gilberte Legee, late of Lewy Dockett's, a misanthrope, and known as "the fashion plate comedian," sings a lot of funny parodies and tells some snappy jokes. Harrington and Millard are bass and baritone singers of illustrated songs.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The "Golden Girl" Corset

The woman who wants to appear at her best should begin with selecting this Golden Girl Corset. This is one of the newest models of the year, fashioned of fine, light weight cotton, lace and ribbon trimmed, and with hose supporters. It has the fitted bust with ribbon draw string—a feature that is found only in the high priced corsets. Pylets, clasp and hose supporter fasteners are finished in gold instead of nickel and from this feature the corset takes its name.

No other popular priced corset gives the figure such smooth lines. It has just the right incurve at the waist; just the right length over the hips, and is in every respect a most comfortable and satisfactory garment. It is a regular stock number corset, selling always at $1.00, and comes in sizes 18 to 26.

We are advertising this as a special leader for our department this week.

OBJECT TO NEWPORT AS TOUR- NAMENT GROUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Dissatisfaction with Newport as the tournament ground for the national tennis matches took form last night in a protest by Karl E. H. Behr, the international player, and Lyle E. Mahan, former international champion.

"Newport is almost inaccessible to the country at large," said Mr. Mahan. "It fails to represent the sport nationally in its true sense. I favor the Germantown Cricket club grounds at Philadelphia, Philadelphia. They are just as central and as easily reached as New York."

"For one thing Newport hasn't courts enough to accommodate an entry as large as that of last August, and the game is growing. Then the difficulty of obtaining officials which has been the joke of the tournament will not trouble us at Germantown. The club there has 600 playing members against some 50 for Newport."

"At this time I am not at liberty to name all those who have joined Mr. Behr and myself, but the insurgent list is a notable one and includes champions. We expect support from Dr. P. H. Hawk and other western players who agree with us that it is time to change the map of tennis and make it in truth the national sport. It claims to be."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

An interesting meeting of Branch St. Louis, A. C. F. was held last night in the Centralville Social club rooms in Lakeview avenue, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Joseph Gregoire; first vice-president, Joseph Payette; second vice-president, E. J. Laroche; treasurer, Elphège J. Beaudette; secretary, Armand Trudeau; first marshal, Edouard Pelopon; second marshal, Come Lefebvre; auditors, Adolphe Bouchard, Maxime Lepine and Henri Thelen; representative to executive council, Albert Macotte; chaplain, Rev. Fr. J. N. Jacques.

The installation of this new board of officers will take place at the regular meeting Feb. 2, and will be followed by a smoke talk.

ed: Chaplain, Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I.; president, Henri Hamilton; first vice-president, Isaac Michaud; second vice-president, Joseph Thériault; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Adolphe Payette; auditors, Joseph Dion, William Brantigan and Emmanuel Granger; marshals, Arthur Dupont and Charles Normandin; representative to the executive council, Edmond Berger.

This new board of officers will be installed on Feb. 2 at C. M. A. C. hall. The installation will be followed by a smoke talk and entertainment, and all of the local Artisans are invited to attend with their friends.

Women's Relief Corps

The regular meeting of James A. Garfield corps, Women's Relief Corps, was held last night in Post 120 hall in Merrimack street. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. One candidate was initiated and several applications were received. Miss Helen Smith was installed as color bearer Number Three. A well attended meeting in the corps by Frank W. Craig, past commander of Post 120, G. A. R. The corps will hold a winter party in the near future at the home of Mrs. Kilpatrick.

Odd Fellows

There was a large attendance at the meeting of Highland-Veritas lodge, the third degree work and the installation of the recently elected officers being the feature. At the conclusion of the meeting the annual session of the Highland Odd Fellows Lodge Association was held and the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, W. O. Farrell; clerk, A. W. Floyd; members of the board of administration, E. W. Chaboussin, G. W. Downs, L. J. Flye, H. C. Moore and P. C. Nichols.

MEETING OF DIRECTORS HELD LAST NIGHT

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Bunting Cricket club was held last night at the clubhouse in South Lowell. President Henry Zuberhew in the chair. Eighteen members renewed their membership. The delegates to the Merrimack Valley Cricket League submitted a full report of the proceedings of the last meeting of that body. At the next meeting of the directors, arrangements will be made for the presentation of the pennant to the Buntings, the pennant now being in the possession of the president of the league, and that official only awaits the pleasure of the Bunting club when the pennant shall be presented. It is quite probable that the cup now in the custody of the Lawrence Cricket club, which was champion last year, will also be presented to the Buntings in the near future. It was voted to hold what and domino tournaments every Saturday afternoon at the clubhouse during the remainder of the winter months. The second in the series will be held tomorrow afternoon. Forty members entered last week and some excellent prizes were captured.

BOY WAS HANGED

For the Murder of a Sheriff at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Louis Augustine, a 17-year-old Indian boy, was hanged at San Quentin prison today for the murder of Sheriff Kemp of Lake county last May. The Indian had had stolen a saddle and was pursued by the sheriff. He hid in a clump of bushes and shot the officer when he appeared. From the time of his arrest to his end the Indian maintained an appearance of stoical indifference as to his fate.

WILL SELL BODY

Aged Man Wants $50 for His Corpse

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20.—Fred Beech, 68, Civil war veteran and resident of Nottingham, near here, offers his body for sale for $50. He is induced to make this offer because of inability to find any kind of work that he can do and want of money to support himself and his aged wife. Besides he believes his body will prove valuable to medical science for dissection because of a peculiar disease with which he has been afflicted all his life and which doctors have been unable to cure.

"I've not long to live and why shouldn't I get $50 for my old bones?" asks Beech. "I'll have no use for them when I am dead and we need the money now."

Mrs. Beech approves the offer of sale.

Was Addressed by Fred-eric L. Burnham

Frederic L. Burnham of Cambridge, agent of the state board of education, addressed the members of the Lowell Art association last night. He spoke on "Art in Education."

He said that people were divided into two classes, the refined and the crude. The latter term was by no means a reflection upon the character or personal worth of the persons concerned; it merely meant that they had not accumulated the experiences in life that enabled them to appear at ease in polite conversation, or to enjoy the social intercourse of their fellowmen without timidity or misgiving. Either the opportunity had not presented itself to them in their earlier years, or they had not been forced by those having their supervision to gain the power of thinking for themselves upon other topics than the narrow routine of their lives, with the result that their minds had been trained and who might give to them were they able to receive.

Nor was the handicap of this crudeness limited to social intercourse, Mr. Burnham held. The child whose education had not developed his own power of observation and concentration made a poor workman when he undertook to earn his own livelihood. The theory of art in education, then, was not merely to draw pictures, or carve wood, or perform other tasks of manual training, but to learn how to put things together and to draw some conclusion from so doing.

He spoke of one school where the children had learned the technique of drawing, but had gained nothing from it. An investigation into the cause disclosed the fact that the teacher had the drawings copied from a board, and followed the work so closely that an error was corrected almost as soon as it was made. The remedy for this school was to instruct the teacher to have the pupils draw an object as they saw it, and not to copy a drawing as someone else had seen it.

He told also of a school in which art had been taught to a dressmaking class engaged in making aprons. The girls were not allowed to cut by a pattern and merely sew the pieces together, but were obliged to fit the aprons to their individual needs. In other words, to be effective, all school work must be done upon the thinking side, and not the mechanical side of the child's brain. It must gain the beginnings of culture through experience. It must acquire individuality in its work.

WHIST PARTY

HELD IN ST. LOUIS' CONVENT HALL

Over 100 people took part in the whist tournament held last night in St. Louis' convent hall in Boston street. The affair was conducted by the women of the parish and its proceeds will be devoted to the parish work.

The game of cards was presided over by Mr. Marcel Roussel and over a hundred beautiful prizes were awarded the winners. This was followed by a pleasing entertainment including choruses, "Pot-Pourri," by the little misses of the first grade; a saynette, "Le Sucre d'orge de Grand-pere Jean," by Ade Lemire and Victor Cornellier; a speech, by Simone Beaudry, aged seven; choruses, "Croquignolaine," by the little boys of the first grade, followed by the terrifying apparition of "Croquignolaine," comic song, Edouard Desmarais, accompanied by Elzear Vezina; song, Alfred Leguin, accompanied by Miss Alma Leguin; reading, Miss Blanche Smith.

Mrs. Alfred Gosselin, president of the Amnities, was president of the tournament, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Desmarais, secretary; Mrs. Philine Soudard, Mrs. Pierre A. Brousseau, Mrs. Henri L. Chaput, Mrs. Charles Loiseleur, Mrs. Calixte Leguin, Mrs. Eudore Morin, Mrs. Delphis Bellefleur, Mrs. Servile Gaudet, Mrs. Godefroy Caron, Mrs. Philippe Caron, Mrs. Oscar Lemire, Mrs. Alfred Gosselin, Mrs. Thomas Savard, Mrs. Joseph Gannache, Mrs. Wilfrid Cordeau, Mrs. Laurent Fauran, Mrs. Joseph Champagne, Mrs. Elie Brault, Mrs. Amelée Caron, Mrs. Wilfrid Gendreau.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Sunday school class, Number 50, of the First Trinitarian church, held a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. L. P. Cutting, 78 Methuen street, last evening. The year-end business was transacted, and the following list of officers was brought in by the nominating committee, and later elected: Teacher, Miss Mary Martin; president, Mrs. Albert Pettie; vice president, Mrs. L. P. Cutting; secretary, Mrs. William Adams. The president then presented the following visiting committee: Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. Lewis Robinson and Mrs. Thomas McClellough; entertainment committee, Mrs. John Hibbs, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Charles Abare. After the meeting a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR A GREAT CELEBRATION

The members of the committee from the three local posts of the G. A. R., who are to arrange for the observance of the 50th anniversary of the passing of the Sixth regiment through the city of Baltimore met last night in the state aid office at city hall and discussed plans for the proposed celebration.

It was finally decided to appoint Comrades Pelree and Dickey to confer with a committee of the Old Sixth reg-

How to Stop Drinking

We are in earnest when we ask you to try ORLINE at our expense. We will give you money back, if after a trial you fail to get results from ORLINE. This is a very generous offer. It gives the wives and mothers of those who drink to a chance of opportunity to try the ORLINE treatment. It also shows our confidence in the merits of ORLINE. ORLINE is recognized as the best and most successful remedy in the world for the cure of Drunkenness or the so-called Liquor Habit. It is a very simple treatment, can be given in the home without publicity or loss of time from business, and at a small price. Read the following letter from Dr. Nott, 8th and Race sts., Philadelphia. It will tell you about some of the wonderful results from the ORLINE treatment.

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriety under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and had a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink. I was called in by an interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend ORLINE, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold ORLINE for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

ORLINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. ORLINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire a taste treatment. ORLINE costs only $1.00 a box. Write for Free ORLINE Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to ORLINE CO., 601 Ordway Building, Washington, D. C. ORLINE is recommended and is for sale in this city by the Baker-Jaynes Drug Co., 119-123 Merrimack st.

ment which is to meet at the New American Saturday. It was feared that the plans of one organization might interfere with the plans of the other and it was thought best to find out the arrangements of the Sixth regiment before furthering their own.

TRUTH CROPS OUT
WHY PILE SUFFERERS SO OFTEN FAIL TO GET RELIEF

Science is getting to the bottom of everything, including the cause and cure of piles. The brightest doctors now admit that piles are caused internally and can be cured only by internal treatment. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt some time ago perfected a remedy in tablet form—Hem-Roid, which cures the cause of piles, and therefore cures permanently. It is sold by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell Mass., and druggists everywhere, under money-back guarantee. $1 for 31 days' treatment. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

Shoemakers to a Hundred Million People

The wonderful Goodyear welting system of shoe machinery first made it possible for the feet of the millions to be clad in high grade shoes at moderate prices.

Less than a generation ago high grade shoes made by shoemakers cost $10 to $20 a pair.

Only wealthy people could afford to wear them. But today, everybody can wear dressier, better and more comfortable shoes at one-third these prices. And you who are accustomed to wearing these modern shoes, would never think of going back to those ancient hand-made styles.

GOODYEAR WELT

is the Name of a Method of Making Shoes

Sixty different machines are involved. Each has a highly specialized task in the making of a shoe.

Yet these machines are not automatic. Double this number of skilled operators are required to run them.

They can not turn leather into shoes unassisted. Steel fingers help human fingers in wonderfully dexterous ways.

They do their work more smoothly and uniformly than could human fingers alone.

The inside of the shoe is left smooth and free from seams. Comfort is assured.

There are fully 500 different trade-marked shoes made with this welt.

When you go to your retailer ask for "Goodyear Welt" Shoes. He should have them in stock.

But the safest way is to write us for a list of all "Goodyear Welts."

Do this before you buy your next pair of shoes. It will pay you. Tear out this advertisement. Write your name and address across it. Mail to us NOW.

Your inquiry brings a booklet illustrating and describing these sixty wonderful machines, and also our booklet, "The Secret of a Shoe—An Industry Transformed," which tells the true story of a great American achievement.

WAR WAGED OVER QUESTION OF SITE OF PANAMA CANAL CELEBRATION EXPOSITION

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

There won't be any bloodshed over the determination of the question unless a hot blooded man from New Orleans meets an equally warm partisan of San Francisco and starts an argument. The country won't resound with the tramp of marching thousands, willing to fight for the vindication of their re-their exhibits to our fair. Of course he cannot ask them to send their works of art and industry to more than one city, and that is what has been underlying the great contest of New Orleans and San Francisco for the exposition.

The Crescent City and the city lying by the Golden Gate have been the chief but not the only bidders for the Panama fair. Others which have in health resort for white folks. The great argument in its favor that it could show visitors the canal itself was overbalanced by the argument that any one who wanted to see the canal or who had business there would go there anyway and that Panama, despite its "genial, sunny climate" (we quote the words of a Panama promoter), could not be relied upon for the months needed to plan, build and to ten, twelve and fifteen millions and even higher before the question was put up to congress for final adjudication.

In pushing its claims for the honor of giving a home to the fair New Orleans has laid stress on its nearness to the canal. It is the nearest metropolitan seaport to Panama and also, incidentally, the nearest to the center of national population. It is only 1,330 death. These are New Orleans' postive arguments. Naturally it spurns with scorn and indignation the suggestions of San Francisco that a bigger city than New Orleans is needed to house the fair (the recent census gave San Francisco 77,837 more inhabitants than its rival) and denies the assertions that its water is impure and dangerous to visitors. San Francisco is nearly 2,000 miles farther from the fifty miles of its boundaries to half a million within a similar radius of New Orleans. It has more hours of sunshine than New Orleans and much less rain. It is a naval base, which New Orleans is not, and is able to provide a splendid stage setting for the gathering of the world's war and merchant vessels which is expected to figure so largely in the opening festivities. It is a pretty argument, so far as it penny grabbers who must live somehow and who turn to the people of the exposition city as their natural prey if the visitors fail to meet their expectations. In addition, there are the inevitable bickerings among the managers of the big show, the delicate social questions which rend families and drive their arbiters to drink or worse, etc. Financially few great world's fairs of the past have been successes.

spective cities' rights to spend millions on an international exposition. Besides, there may be as many as five international shows to mark the opening of the Panama canal, so what's the use of any city exciting itself over the congressional decision in the matter?

Of course there's nothing in the world to keep any city from celebrating the opening of the big ditch if it wants to. According to enthusiastic prognosticators of the benefits which the canal is to confer on all of us, Skowhegan, Me., has as much right to celebrate as Matagorda, Tex., or Wilimette, Ore. The president may even declare the day of the formal opening of the canal a legal holiday for the entire country, and thus all of us will be able to celebrate. But what the cities which have been contending for the honor of official sanction of their plans have been after is the presidential invitation to foreign countries to send the past manifested their willingness to serve as centers of interest on the great days of the opening and thereafter have been Los Angeles, San Diego, Cal., and Panama itself. When the last named city announced its intention of going after the exposition no one saw any logical reason why it should not have the fair, situated at the end of the canal. But a little consideration convinced most persons that an international exposition at Panama would be a grand fizzle, even if it were possible to complete the plans for it without a hitch. The efforts of eminent sanitarians to the contrary notwithstanding, Panama is not yet a keep open a great international exposition worthy of the occasion.

Field Clear For New Orleans and San Francisco.

Los Angeles and San Diego were pushed aside in the argument as being in the "little sisters" class. In spite of their creditable showings in last year's census. That left the field clear for New Orleans and San Francisco, and they went at the matter in a manner which recalled to old timers the days before the fixing-upon Chicago as the site of the World's Columbian exposition in 1893. There was much talk about guarantee funds running up miles from the Atlantic end of the canal and boasts of rich historical interest and a reputation for hospitality second to no other city in the world. It has declared that it had $8,000,000 in sight for the fair, with hopes of raising at least $2,000,000 more. The exposition grounds, chosen some time ago, are only half an hour's ride from the principal hotels of the city. The city asserts ability to house comfortably at one time 100,000 guests and declares that before 1915, the time set for the exposition, its hotel facilities will be greatly increased. It boasts of its healthfulness, the old time scourge of yellow fever having been done to canal than New Orleans is, says the Louisiana metropolis, and asks what right a city so far away from the canal has to official recognition as the scene of one of the biggest celebrations ever to be held in America.

San Francisco's Claims.

Here is San Francisco's argument: First, its citizens are agreed that they want the fair, and San Francisco is in the habit of getting what it goes after. Next, it is the largest and most important city on the American side of the Pacific coast, which expects to gain much from the operation of the canal. A million persons dwell within goes. Meanwhile other cities with experiences with world's fairs or with no aspirations to hold any (New York is in the latter class) have been sitting back comfortably, watching the fight. Most of those in the former class hark back to their own big gatherings of the nations and predict that the holder of the Panama fair will regret the award, for they say, these big affairs never pay. What is gained in the advertising of a city and the drawing of big crowds from all over the world is lost in the cost of putting up the buildings and the management of the show. There are other undesirable features, such as the attraction of hordes of

The outlays of the stockholders are seldom recouped, even to the extent that was true of the big Chicago affair, the stockholders in which received 14 per cent of their money after eleven years' delay.

Exposition to Be a Big Affair.

That the Panama exposition will be a monster of its kind there seems to be no reason to doubt. The nations of the world are interested in the progress and completion of the canal and will expect invitations to the formal opening. From the ceremonies attending the throwing open of the $400,000,000 canal the representatives of the nations and their satellites, together with our own big men and their followers, will turn naturally to the show that has been prepared to mark the progress of the world and to emphasize the bigness and grandeur of the interests which will be served by the canal.

The commerce of the countries of North and South America and the necessity of their preparing for the opening of the canal will be discussed at a pan-American commercial conference to be held in Washington during the week beginning Feb. 13 under the auspices of the pan-American union, formerly known as the international bureau of American republics. The purposes of the conference as announced by John Barrett, director general of the union, is to awaken the commercial organizations, business men and general public of the three Americas to an appreciation of the possibilities of pan-American commerce and the necessity of preparing for the commercial changes which will be brought about by the opening of the Panama canal.

YOUR friend asks permission to introduce to you a "distinguished European." You meet the gentleman, and he proves to be most agreeable. A little later, after several meetings and after you have grown to like him, he confides to you that he is a "little pressed for money." He does not wish to borrow any from you—oh, dear me, no. But if you should like to add to your household furnishings a painting by

That is one of the ways in which the game is worked. If you "fall for it" the picture is speedily transferred to your home, your check is cashed even more speedily, and soon, very soon, thereafter the European departs from loss of cash you may have the feeling that you are in good company. Many of our richest and wisest have been "taken in" in the same way. Why, even J. Pierpont Morgan, head and shoulders above all other collectors, has given to swindlers some of his numerous thousands, according to a Paris authority on such matters. Just listen to what he dares to say about Mr. Morgan:

"Practically all of J. Pierpont Morgan's

"The dealer then invents to go with the canvas," says the authority already quoted, "an interesting story of how the picture hung on the walls of this or that historic chateau and strikes off an 'old' sales catalogue to prove its authenticity. He even makes engravings of it, for it is customary to have engravings of the old masters."

Not alone in painting, but in other fields of art, is practiced the faking which has attracted considerable attention of late in America and abroad. European connoisseurs in particular and the uninitiated public in general are still laughing over the game worked on Dr. Bode, the German art expert and adviser of the Kaiser, who purchased for his sovereign a wax bust of Flora, believing it was the work of Leonardo da Vinci. His opinion stood and the bust was duly admired as the work of the great Italian until it was found that the latter had been molding in his grave for centuries before the bees had made the wax from which the Flora was molded. "Internal evidence" to the effect that the bust was the work of the hands of an English artist of the nineteenth century was afforded by the discovery in its interior of a portion of an English bedquilt of the Victorian era. Now the partisans of the Englishman, who is dead, want his rights to recognition as the modeler of the bust supported by the courts of Germany. How can an ordinary collector of works of art be assured of authenticity when collectors so eminent as J. Pierpont Morgan and the art adviser of the German emperor are fooled sometimes and "done" out of their good money?

It is safe to say that at the present time no unworthy works of art, fake or genuine, are receiving house room in Mr. Morgan's famous art gallery and library in New York, shown in the picture, or in his house in New York, adjoining the library, or in his London residence or in his country house near West Point, N. Y. He has been collecting works of real art so long that no dealer can hope to get an interview with him unless he is known personally to "America's Lorenzo de' Medici." In addition, Mr. Morgan knows more about the genuineness of the history and the value of works of art than ninety-nine one-hundredths of the owners. Collecting paintings, rare books, busts, statues, silver, glass and the myriad other things in which the artistic yearnings of men and women find expression is as much Mr. Morgan's hobby as the collection of railroads and other big corporations.

"Smoke Eaters'" College Is New York's Latest

ALTHOUGH the degree of M. F. F. (Master of Fire Fighting) is not yet included among the recognized honors conferred by the colleges and universities of the United States, it may be included soon if the example of New York city in establishing its new firemen's college is followed by other cities. The institution is the first of its kind in the world.

Certainly in New York and other large cities, and probably in places of smaller size, no other body of public servants commands so large a share of the confidence of the populace as the fire fighters. They are the "bravest of the brave," their heroism is taken as a matter of course, and their willingness to risk life and limb in the discharge of their duties is seldom if ever questioned. They are soldiers of the common good whose battlefield is the city and whose skirmishes and pitched battles are matters of daily occurrence in a warfare that is never ending. Physically they are picked men, and mentally they do not lag behind others whose daily work does not call for familiarity with the "higher branches." If you believe that fire fighting calls for little, or no exercise of the mental faculties in addition to physical hardihood and daring, watch a city fire chief directing his men in their struggle against a big blaze.

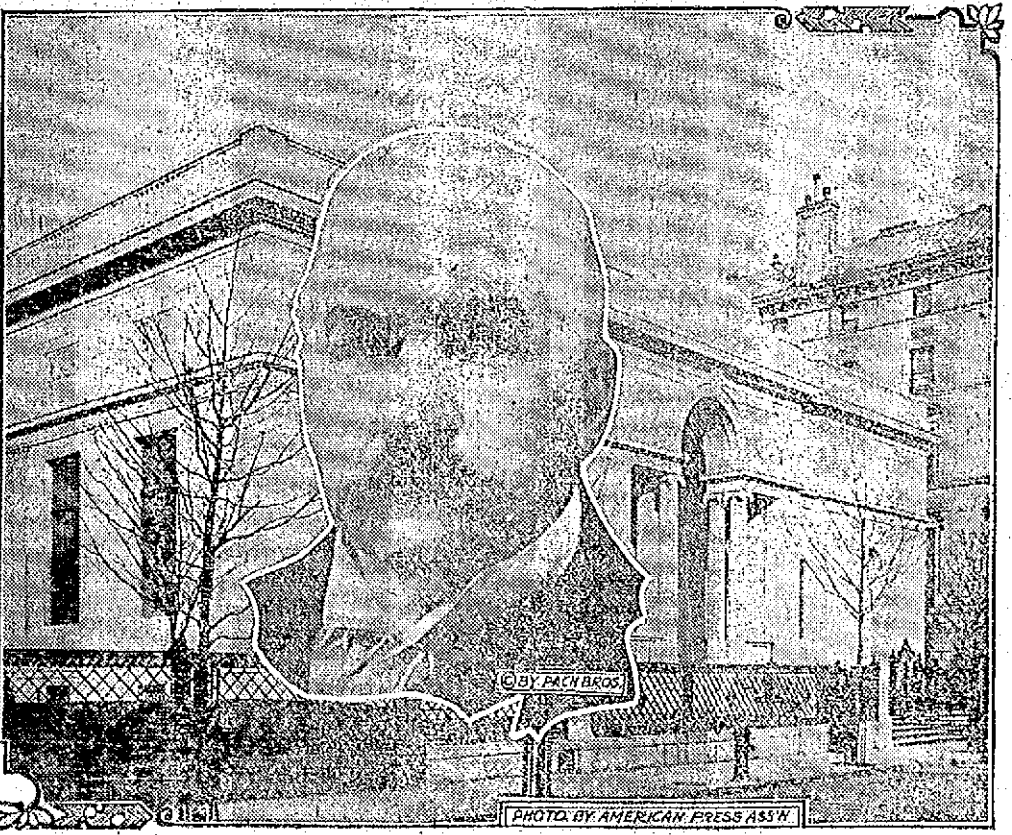

Instruction in all the rudimentary and advanced branches of fire quenching and prevention, with allied branches of education, is the purpose of New York city's new fire college. In its organization it resembles other institutions of learning, however widely its curriculum differs from theirs, but its requirements for admission are rather physical than mental. The purpose of its establishment is stated thus in the official order announcing its opening:

The courses of instruction in the college include general fire fighting, the use of apparatus and tools, engines and boilers, use of high pressure water systems, marine fires, care of horses, care of hose, sapping and jacking, high tension currents, combustibles and explosives, gasoline motor engineering, fire alarm telegraphs, auxiliary systems, first aid to the injured and discipline and administration. There are schools for officers, for engineers, for probationary firemen and for companies. All probationary firemen must attend the probationary fire-

mous fire chief of a decade ago. He is known in Gotham as the personification of daring and speed, for, according to all observers, the swiftest thing in all New York city is Chief Croker's famous "red devil" automobile, going to a big blaze. You know when Chief Croker is coming by the screeching of his siren in the distance, warning everything movable to get out of his way, but you don't see him, for before you have time to notice the machine and its occupant they are too far away to be seen. At the time of his promotion to the head of the department, one of the "old masters," a painting which has adorned the walls of the distinguished foreigner's ancestral home since the days of Charlemagne or thereabouts, why, it might be arranged, to the refilling of the seller's purse and the establishment of your reputation among your friends as an art connoisseur. Of course the price to be paid for the old master is only nominal—a mere trifle compared with the picture's real worth, I assure you—and it is sold to you only because your city. Then comes the sad awakening, when a genuine art expert visits your home at your invitation to inspect your find and pronounces it a fraud, a cleverly painted imitation of the work of the "old masters" and worth about 6 per cent of the price you paid for it.

Friend, the reader, have you been "stung" in this way or in any other way with a spurious painting or statue or bust or other work of art? Do not grieve. To console you for the gan's early purchases are repassing shamefully in a forgotten storeroom, for the experts engaged later by Mr. Morgan found that they were merely copies.

And he goes on to tell how pictures are "faked" by imitating the composition and the coloring of the masters, leaving the pictures to dry for a few months and then simulating the cracks and creases characteristic of old paintings by running the thumb along the back wherever a crack is desired.

For many years New York's fire department has been known as one of the best in the world. Its present head is Edward F. Croker, nephew of Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall. In 1899 Chief Croker succeeded the late Hugh Bonner, New York's fa-twelve years ago, Chief Croker was called the "young chief," being then only thirty-six. He had been in the department fifteen years, so he has now to his credit twenty-seven years of fire fighting work.

HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR;
DRY SHAMPOO METHOD.
The beauty editors of many of the prominent ladies' journals are advocating the use of the "dry shampoo" in preference to any and all methods for beautifying the hair. It is claimed that this method is superior to washing the hair, head of hair in a short time. No matter how dull and lifeless the hair, the following dry shampoo will soon work wonders if regularly used: With 2 ounces of powdered orris root, mix 2 ounces of antiseptic vilane powder. Keep in a tight jar or box and at night apply a tablespoonful, distributing it through the hair with the fingers. In the morning use comb and brush to remove, and all excess oil, dirt, dandruff, etc., will be removed with the utmost satisfaction. Obtain the ingredients of any well stocked druggist.

PURE NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

For Pulmonary Consumption and All Wasting Diseases

Medical authorities in this country as well as abroad regard the pure oil of the cod liver as of the utmost value for the treatment of

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AND GOUT

Also in PULMONARY CONSUMPTION and All Wasting Diseases

It has been in use continuously since 1766, and each year seems to come into greater favor. It is recommended by physicians because of its great nutritive value, and because it is so easily absorbed into the system. We have for a number of years recommended the Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and several preparations made with it because we have great confidence in its good effects. We have taken pains to select, and can guarantee that the oil we sell is the purest and finest possible to obtain. We import it ourselves from the fisheries in Aelsund, Norway. It has received many medals of superiority in exhibitions abroad; and the price is no higher than is being asked for some of the inferior grades. This is the season of coughs and colds, from which more serious ills result. It would be well to safeguard your system with this tried and proven remedy. It will make flesh, aid digestion, equally good for young or old, and will positively stay the ravages of any wasting diseases.

Is Coming Here to Meet Attell

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Jem Driscoll is planning another visit to America. The English featherweight champion recently received several good offers from "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien to meet Abe Attell and several other crack featherweights before his new club in this city. Driscoll stated recently that as O'Brien's offer was a liberal one he would accept and sail for the United States some time around the middle of February.

JEM DRISCOLL

Johnny Altken and a Simplex, the driver for which has not been named. Ralph De Palma, champion mile track driver of 1910 may pilot this last entry through the long grind.

Other entries which are expected within the next few days are "Wild Bob" Burman, Arthur Chevrolet, Frank Dearborn of Los Angeles, Spencer Wishart and others.

The sum of $25,000, which is offered for prizes in this race, is the largest cash purse that has been gotten up at any event in this country or in Europe. The distance of the race is longer than any other speed contest on an American track or speedway except the twenty-four hour race. The winner will carry away the International Speedway Crown and a fortune in gold, as the prize is $10,000, in addition to which various accessory makers will offer.

CONCERT AND SALE
BY LADIES OF SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A successful concert and sale was held by the Helping Hand society of the Swedish Congregational church last evening.

The program in the auditorium was opened with prayer by the pastor, Rev. John Elmen. The following musical numbers were then given: Chorus, church choir; piano solo, Miss Martha Anderson; vocal solo, Miss Hilma Carlsson; vocal duet, Misses Hannah Phil and Jennie Abramson; violin solo, Miss Esther Anderson; piano duet, Misses Martha and Carrie Anderson, and chorus, by the Helping Hand society. Later, Rev. James E. Gregg, pastor of the Kirk Street Congregational church, gave a brief address.

The sale was in the vestry and aprons, fancy work, candy, ice cream, cake and coffee found ready customers. A "grab" also interested many. Altogether the affair was most successful.

WARNING SOUNDED

ATTORNEY GENERAL ADDRESSED JURISTS AND LAWYERS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Attorney General George W. Wickorsham sounded a warning last night against the tendency of popular distrust of various branches of the government, before an audience of more than 400 jurists and lawyers attending the annual meeting of the New York State Bar association. United States Senator Elfish Root presided.

After the address a reception was tendered Attorney General Wickorsham and the members of the State Bar association and its guests at the Century club.

Senator Root was the principal speaker at the afternoon session.

The nominating committee reported the name of Senator Root last night as president of the association.

This evening the annual banquet will be held. Among the speakers will be Attorney General Wickorsham, Chancellor Day and Justice Riddell of the Kings' bench, Toronto, Ont.

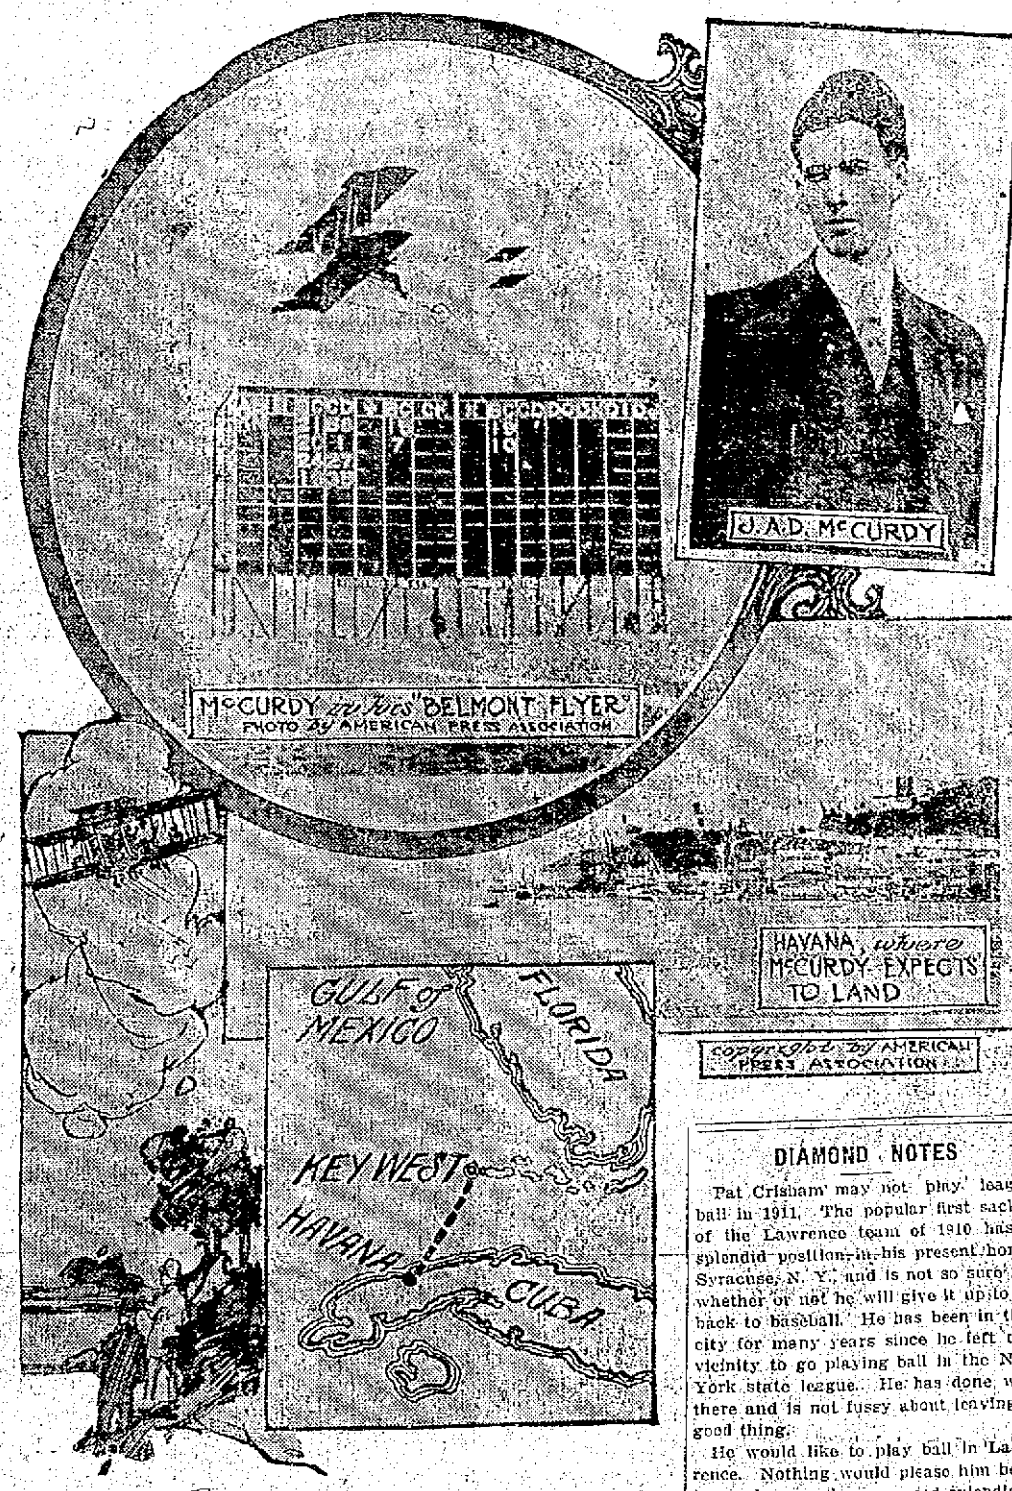

BOXING GOSSIP

The decision should have gone to Joe Thomas, just the same. Take it from those who saw the bout and not from those who are desirous of another match between the two. Looking through a Lawrence paper, which printed Tommy Sullivan's record a few days ago I got a cramp in my eye looking for a note about Tommy's fight, well well call it such, with Bill Pankie at Glen Forest one rainy Saturday afternoon when Harry Gath was in Lawrence and was managing Tommy. All the Boston sports were there and Pankie was an unknown. The Boston sports rather than take a chance on the Lawrence gang getting wise to their ring wouldn't offer even money but demanded 8 to 10 which the Lawrence men went after like a pack of wild, off-balance bait. It was such a bad day that the main event was put on first. They shook hands, they sparred, moment. Bing! Then everybody balked for a car while Tommy's seconds tenderly carried him to his corner and applied restoratives. It only took a minute, too short a fight perhaps to get into the records. But it happened. Since that time Tommy has improved a whole lot but not enough to hand it to Joe Thomas, not by a jugful.

Just think of it. Joe Thomas and Jimmie Gardner are going to box against each other at the Armory club tonight, a regular family feud. They're boxing at the big benefit to Johnnie Nelson and are among a dozen or more preliminaries. All the preliminaries are friendly, but the main bout is of 10 rounds to a decision between Jack Leonard and George Alger. Every boxer and wrestler in Boston has volunteered his services while every referee in the state will take part.

J. A. D. McCURDY AND BELMONT RAGER IN

DIAMOND NOTES

Pat Crisham may not play league ball in 1911. The popular first sacker of the Lawrence team of 1910 has a splendid position in his present home, Syracuse, N. Y., and is not so sure yet whether or not he will give it up to go back to baseball. He has been in that city for many years since he left this vicinity to go playing ball in the New York state league. He has done well there and is not fussy about leaving a good thing.

He would like to play ball in Lawrence. Nothing would please him better as he says he was used splendidly by the public and by the press. But he does not intend to stand for a cut of $75 per month. Crisham does not think that he deserves such a slice in salary. He says that he will not play anywhere for that cut. With the cut in the salary limit, Manager Louis P. Pieper feels that some of the high priced men must suffer a cut. Crisham is one of the players affected as he received big money in 1910. He received something like $260 per month, transportation from and back to Syracuse for himself and family. Crisham probably made as many friends in Lawrence as any player who ever performed in these parts. He was a perfect gentleman all the time, doing his work without a kick and doing it well. It's a question of money, though, and if Crisham goes it will be because the management was forced to cut his salary to live within the limit as laid down by the league—Lawrence Eagle.

Manager Louis P. Pieper would like to get McCrone, who was with New Bedford last season. He is a first sacker. Manager Tommy Dowd of the Whalers has also been doing business with the Lowell team, according to an exchange. Dowd has asked Lowell to name a price on McCrone. That may mean either money or the best trade. McCrone is a clever first baseman and complains that he is "in bad" in New Bedford and has asked to be traded. Pieper will make a good bid to land the player—Lawrence Eagle.

Pitcher Arthur Mayhew has stated that he would like to play in Haverhill next season. He says that his first choice is Lawrence, but if he is to be traded or sold, then he would like to hear no better news than that Billy Hamilton had secured him. Brockton is said to have bid for his services, so it will be to the highest bidder, evidently.

If Louis Pieper secures McCrone to play first base for Lawrence in 1911 he will get one of the best first sackers that ever performed in this league. He may be a grounder, but he is a ball player and he is a good man for any club. McCrone is disaffected with New Bedford and is anxious to be traded to some other club and wants to stay in the New England league.

At the National Sporting club last evening Manager O'Rourke provided 40 rounds of boxing, a bout of four rounds, another of six and three of ten rounds each. The star attraction is a mixup between Tommy Maloney and Harry Stone, local lightweight.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in telling the crowd at the Fairmont A. C. New York, Tuesday night about the Wolgast-Brown match became unusually eloquent.

"The new boxing rules approved by the authorities in Philadelphia," he shouted, "have served to solidify this sport!"

"Hoy, Jack!" yelled a wag far up in the bleacher seats. "Where did you dig up that solidify?"

North Billerica Offers an Exceptional Site

Covers 1000 Acres of Level Land With a Mile and a Half Frontage on Straight Line of Railroad With Concord River in Rear—Is Adjacent to Western & Bedford Branches of B. & M. and to N. Y., N. H. & H.

The town of Billerica is all agog over the prospect of inducing the Boston and Maine railroad to locate its new repair shops in the North village, where is located a site beside which the Wameest proposition is a veritable dump.

The town has just awakened to the fact that it is a site which perhaps offers more advantages to the railroad company than any other within one hundred miles.

Apply the location is such as to be of greatest benefit to Lowell as well as to North Billerica, being only a short distance removed from the city, and the people of the town want the board of trade and the authorities of Lowell to co-operate with them in getting the shops in this locality.

A Sun reporter was taken all over the proposed site yesterday in company with a couple of well known citizens of Billerica and surely if the Wameest site was desirable the North Billerica site would appear to be far more so.

The proposed North Billerica site extends from the North Billerica depot northward to the Revere works. It has a frontage of almost one mile and a half, along an absolutely straight line of track. A collection at the southern boundary of the site gives the information that the spot is 22 miles north of Boston and 32 miles south of Concord. A few hundred yards below its southern boundary the Bedford loop joins the main line. About a mile or perhaps less above its northern boundary the western division joins the southern division, while the N. Y., N. H. & H. tracks join the Boston and Maine at this point. It has all of the junctional advantages of Junctional is the word that the Wameest site offered, and in addition possesses numerous advantages that the other site did not possess.

The land is bordered by the railroad tracks on the west and the Concord river on the east running back a great distance to the river. The latter flows in a comparatively straight line for a mile at this point and its waters could be utilized by the company in the event of establishing its shops here. The land between the river and the tracks runs along the latter as was above stated a distance of a mile and a half and includes many hundred acres. Part way along there are two hundred and fifty acres of additional available with nearly a mile frontage on the tracks so that the company could build on both sides if it desired. The combined lots are considerably over 1000 acres.

The land is practically ready for the builder. It is perfectly level, the entire length, has a good foundation of sandy soil and no rocks or boulders. A good part of it is vacant field with a short strip of woodland and with a few buildings on the remainder. The company can have it at a reasonable price for the asking. The pipe line of the town water works is within an eighth of a mile of it. The Lowell electric light runs poles to its very boundaries so that electric lighting could be had at little expense. It fronts on the tracks for a mile and a half and has the Concord river with its facilities at its back.

If the Boston & Maine should negotiate for this land it is safe to state that the town of Billerica would offer special inducements to get it. There some 12 years ago the town voted to exempt from taxes for 10 years any manufacturing concern that would settle within its confines and it is believed by several leading citizens seen by The Sun reporter today that the town could do as well if not better by the Boston & Maine. If it could be induced to locate there, comparing the North Billerica site with the site experimented upon in Wameest, it would appear that North Billerica has more advantages to the purpose of a shop than the Tewksbury site.

The big lot, starting at the Southern boundary, includes the present base grounds owned by the Walker mills, the "Twin Hill" lot, so-called, owned by Mr. Bemis of North Billerica, the McGillicuddy estate, the Town Farm lot and the Revere company lot. The Boston & Maine already owns a substantial frontage along the tracks. The lot on the other side of the track includes the McGillicuddy estate and the Town Farm lot.

SERIES OF GAMES
For Bowling Championship of Country

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20.—Louis Franz and Jack Gilbert of this city, champions bowlers of Ohio, have accepted the challenge of Jimmy Smith and Eddie Gebhard of Buffalo to roll a series of games for the championship of the country. Although no date has been set for the contests, it is more than likely that the men will meet in Buffalo the latter part of February. Smith and Gebhard have been clearing up everything in the east in great fashion this season and are confident of winning the two man championships of America. The two have worked well together—in fact, have conceded as many as 300 plus handicap to the best bowlers in a ten game match and come out victorious.

PREVENTABLE DISEASES

The movement for health protection, and the sufferings caused by preventable diseases, although to a great extent unrecognized as yet, is growing daily throughout the country. When it is realized that pneumonia and kindred diseases represent ten per cent of the annual mortality statistics in the country the recent introduction of a famous Swiss prescription, SIROLIN, long in general use throughout Europe for the relief and prevention of pulmonary disorders—is both timely and hopeful as a safe and sane treatment for coughs and colds which, if neglected, are the too common causes of pneumonia and incipient consumption. SIROLIN is a safe and effective home remedy, guaranteed to be absolutely free from morphine, cocaine or other habit forming drugs.

About twenty-five of the regular patrons of the D. L. Page dining room in Merrimack street were entertained last night by the company. An excellent menu was served and during the evening graphophone selections were given. Several of the guests made brief addresses, thanking the management for the manner in which they were entertained.

Many Entries For International Race

Louis Disbrow, one of the most prominent of American race drivers who drove in the Vanderbilt cup race last October, and in the Grand Prize race at Savannah, Ga., last November, has been entered in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race to be held on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day.

Disbrow will pilot a specially built racing car. This is the fifth entry which has been filed with the Speedway management since the preliminary announcement of the race, and the fact that the race is still about four months away leads the promoters to believe that thirty-five to forty cars will start.

Disbrow's entry was made through Fred J. Wagner, official adviser of the American Automobile association, and eastern representative of the Indianapolis Speedway. He reports that other entries from famous drivers and cars are expected in New York within the next few days.

The other entries in the race thus far are Lewis Strang, C. B. Baldwin,

NEW ORLEANS WINS

In Preliminary Fight for the Panama Exposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—New Orleans won the first round of the fight for the location of the Panama exposition today when the exposition committee of the house by a vote of 9 to 5 decided in favor of it as the site for the fair to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal in 1913.

After long consideration of the claims of the two cities the committee reported to report favorably the estopinal bill, recognizing New Orleans and authorizing the selection of a board of commissioners, the making of a government exhibit and the like. No appropriation for the pecuniary aid of the New Orleans fair is authorized. It is understood, however, that the committee will favor an extensive government exhibit, to cost approximately $1,000,000.

The bill was referred to a sub-committee for perfection. The committee will report Tuesday and the bill will be reported favorably to the house, where the New Orleans-San Francisco fight will be renewed.

The members of the committee who voted for New Orleans were: Rodenberg, Illinois; Langley, Kentucky; Murphy, Missouri; Woods, Iowa; Rhinock, Kentucky; Heslin, Alabama; Collier, Mississippi; Cullop, Indiana; Covington, Maryland.

The members who favored San Francisco were: Gardner, Massachusetts; Southwick, New York; Stenson, Minnesota; Polindexter, Washington; Maynard, Virginia; Nelson, Wisconsin.

THE GRAND JURY

Inquiring Into Alleged Vote Selling

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 20.—The vote-selling inquiry by the grand jury promises to develop into a real sensation before it is concluded. It develops now that Foreman Woodyard of the grand jury has consulted several lawyers with reference to convicting buyers and sellers of votes on charges of conspiracy. Under the law covering vote-selling the seller cannot be prosecuted after the expiration of eighteen months but according to the opinions of various lawyers consulted by Mr. Woodyard he can go back three years under the criminal conspiracy act. The law states that when a candidate is elected by fraud there has been criminal conspiracy and the grand jury will endeavor to bring indictments under the law, it is said.

If the grand jury goes back three years it will be compelled to investigate the elections of Mayor Platt, Judge Kimbrough, who charged the grand jury in the vote-selling inquiry, States Attorney Lowman, who is conducting the investigation and numerous other officials who have been elected during the past three years.

NO CHOICE YET

In the Senatorial Fight in New York State

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The quiet that enveloped Capitol hill today was a marked change from the feverish atmosphere that has filled legislative halls for the past two weeks. Interest in the contest for the United States senatorship lay mainly outside of the assembly chamber, where both branches of the legislature meet at noon for their third joint ballot.

While plots and counter plots may continue in hotel rooms and lobbies the general belief was that there would be no break until any one candidate is elected next week. So far as open warfare is concerned there was every evidence of a three days' truce.

Speaker Fiske of the assembly said that this understanding prevailed when 30 or more members of both houses got together to go home until Monday. It was expected that other legislators would be released from attending tomorrow's session by the same process of pairing.

Judge Parker in his letter said in part: "The unjust attacks on Mr. Sheehan should not operate to weaken the support of his friends but should cement and strengthen their uncompromising efforts for his election."

Unfortunately in this country altogether too often elections are characterized by undeserved and unjustifiable attacks on worthy candidates. During the campaign of 1901 when Mr. Sheehan ran on the Tammany ticket against Hon. Seth Low for the majority of this city, attacks of Mr. Sheehan were at least as bitter as now directed against Mr. Sheehan. Mr. Sheehan was then denounced by his present strenuous newspaper supporters for taking the nomination from Tammany at all and especially for his attitude on the subject of "Deverism," which was one of the burning issues of the day, and the end of his political career was predicted as certain. Their attitude was as unjust then toward Mr. Sheehan as it is now toward Mr. Sheehan.

I appeal to you and to all loyal democrats to see to it by your votes and influence that Mr. Sheehan, who received the majority vote in caucus, should receive the majority vote of the members of the legislature. Any principle of majority rule, which is essential in a democracy and which makes possible the success of our party, whose supremacy today is, to my mind, a matter of supreme importance. The array of Mr. Sheehan's friends who are bound to him, not by motives of interest, but by the regard and esteem which are the basis of all true friendship, speaks volumes for his selection as senator in comparison with any personal words of mine of unqualified endorsement as his partner and admirer."

After reading the letter Mr. Saunders said that it would not change his attitude, nor would it make the six assemblymen who voted for Parker change their views.

Assemblyman Saunders of Columbia county, who on Wednesday changed his vote from Sheehan to Parker, received a letter from the judge this morning.

Judge Parker told Mr. Saunders that he and those who voted for Parker would do him a favor if they voted for Mr. Sheehan.

Third joint ballot for United States senator resulted as follows: Sheehan 60, Shepard 11, Kernan 4, Parker 3, Herlick 3, Littleton 2, Gerard 2, Glenn 2, Rosendale 1, O'Brien 1, De-pew 32. Total, 141. Necessary for choice, 71.

DR. BLODGETT

Says Bad Meat Is Sent Here

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—At a hearing before the legislative committee on agriculture at the state house yesterday Dr. S. H. Blodgett, who is a former member of the board of health of the town of Lincoln, told the committee that meat illegally stamped and unfit for food is being shipped into the city of Boston. This condition has been called to the attention of the state board of health, he declared, and the latter board has refused to act.

Dr. Blodgett appeared before the committee to favor a bill introduced with the recommendation of the chief of the cattle bureau to make the state board of health, instead of the cattle bureau, responsible for the regulations for the inspection of meat.

"I know of one case," said Dr. Blodgett, "where a cow had died from a lingering disease. After it had been dead six or eight hours it was taken to a slaughtering place in North Lincoln where they have no license to kill. While I can't prove that this particular cow was subsequently stamped and sent into Boston, I know that this is what eventually occurred."

Dr. Blodgett said that this condition of affairs prevails with the full knowledge of the board of selectmen of Lincoln, which appointed the inspector of meat, who he alleges, is now illegally stamping the carcasses brought to the slaughtering place referred to.

"I said something about this condition of affairs to one of the selectmen," said Dr. Blodgett, "and he replied: 'What do you care? You don't have to eat the meat, do you? It's all going into Boston.'"

At present, said Chief Walker of the cattle bureau, the regulations for meat inspection are made and the stamps are furnished by the cattle bureau. The inspection is made by the local inspectors who are responsible to the local boards of health, and through them to the state board. "This situation," said Mr. Walker, "really leaves neither board responsible."

There was no opposition and the hearing closed.

To Heroes Killed in the Spanish War is Planned

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Both branches of the legislature held brief sessions at the state house yesterday afternoon. In the senate the rule was suspended to admit the petition of John F. Welch to authorize the police commissioners of Boston to reinstate or re-employ him.

A $50,000 memorial to the state house grounds to the men from Massachusetts who died in the Spanish war is proposed in a resolve offered by Sen. Powers of Suffolk.

The senate admitted Sen. White's petition to authorize Falmouth to spend $1000 a year to advertise the attractions of that town.

In the lower branch Rep. McElaney of Boston submitted two bills, one for the consolidation of the poor relief, infirmity, overseers of the poor and children's institutions departments of the city of Boston into a single department under one commissioner, to be appointed by the mayor; the other for the consolidation of all the penal and correctional institutions under a single commissioner to be known as the penal institutions commissioner.

Rep. Dean of Wakefield brought up again the so-called Hugen anti-discrimination bill. G. J. Raymond asked for legislation to prohibit bribery, corruption and graft, with heavy fine and imprisonment for violation of his proposed act.

Rep. Hickey of Boston petitioned for legislation to provide that in case of the lapse of an insurance policy the amounts paid in premiums shall be refunded.

Proctor E. Allen is petitioner for a commission to conduct the best method of establishing a course on sex hygiene in the public schools.

The socialist member of the house, Rep. Morrill of Haverhill, wants a constitutional amendment to permit the recall of all state and county officers, whether elected or appointed.

Henry C. Marvin petitions for legislation to prohibit the driving of stock-tailed horses in the summer months unless the horses are protected by screens.

A number of matters were heard by the house rules committee yesterday afternoon on petitions for the admission of bills.

Educational Director F. J. Spence of the Boston Y. M. C. A. and Rep. Herman A. MacDonald urged the admission of a bill to give the school of commerce and finance of that association the right to grant degrees.

Rep. Schmitt asked for admission of a bill for a new bridge over the Merrimack river in Lawrence.

David M. Sweeten of New Bedford desires that the boundary line between New Bedford and Dartmouth be changed. Rep. Andrew Doyle spoke for the bill.

Alfred C. White asked for a bill to establish a system of water supply for West Brookfield.

Judge Davis of Plymouth wanted the right given to the Plymouth & Sandwich street railway to temporarily discontinue service on a portion of its line.

Phillip H. Coleman spoke for the petition of the town of Penobscot for a bill to permit that town to take water from Boston and Fish brooks.

The bearers were Adolphus Hall, Alexander Yancey, Frank Till, Charles Stewart, John Smith and E. H. Brooks. The William Lloyd Garrison lodge, No. 20, K. of P. of Lawrence, of which deceased was an esteemed member, attended the services in a body, and headed by their drum corps, served as an escort to the cortege as it proceeded to the Edson cemetery, where the final prayers were said by Rev. Mr. Fisher and the K. of P. rites were conducted by the lodge. The burial was under the direction of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. Mr. Schenk was one of the prominent colored residents of Lowell, and was loved and respected by all with whom he came in contact. Kind and generous, he was ever a friend of those in distress and in want. His loss is an irreparable one and his family has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

COULON ACCEPTS OFFER.—MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 20.—Johnny Coulon, claimant to the bantam weight championship, through his father and manager, has accepted a tentative offer to make his first appearance in England against the Australian,bantam, to be named by Promoter McIntosh. The guarantee in expenses and percentage of purse was checked yesterday to Coulon.

MR. MAN

My surgical operation on prices sweeps January dulness away. The people will buy clothing in January at extraordinary low prices. I proved it Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by doing March business.

I'll prove it again Today and Tomorrow by offering at slaughter prices the favorite "HEADLINERS" of the different American woolen makers. Your tailor doesn't give you better at big prices—He probably gives you these same fabrics and you are lucky if he does. Buy them on my recommendation.

Place your order now with the understanding that you don't want your suit ready for a month or two.

I WANT YOUR IDEAS

The woolen makers are not sure what styles in cloth the people will demand for Spring. I am showing Brown, Blue and Gray effects. I must know the popular styles before I load up with goods. I therefore invite the young fellows to see my range of samples so I can get your ideas. Come in; you don't have to buy. Just tell my salesmen what you would like for Spring and Summer wear.

GREAT FEAT IN AVIATION

The feat of Aviator Ely in flying from shore to a battleship thirteen miles off, alighting and returning to shore, has demonstrated the value of the airship for naval scout duty in time of war. Ely's feat is the first of its kind but his record will soon be equalled and surpassed by other daring aviators who will readily attempt anything that any rival has accomplished.

WHY PEARY REJECTED WHITE MEN

Commander Peary when closely questioned by the house committee on naval affairs admitted that the reason he did not bring any white man with him on his polar expedition was that he did not wish to share the honor with any white man. If that does not show a mean spirit we do not know what could. It lets in a flood of light upon the character of Peary and his motives in this Arctic business. If Peary did not visit the pole a white man might tell the world just why or wherein Mr. Peary failed. The Eskimo is not likely to do so.

THE SENATORIAL DESERTERS

Every republican member of the legislature who did not support Lodge for senator, voted for some other republican. None of them voted for the democratic nominee, but it would be interesting to know whether the Lowell senator and representatives who voted for Mr. Ames regard the latter as better fitted for the office than Mr. Lodge. As for the Lowell democrats who voted for Mr. Ames, it must be said that they are guilty of an act of party treachery for which they will doubtless have to answer to their constituents.

TO REGULATE NIGHT MESSENGER SERVICE

The Massachusetts child labor committee has a bill before the legislature to prohibit the employment of minors in the night service of telegraph offices. It appears that the committee has learned of many very serious abuses in connection with the employment of boys in such service at night. It is alleged that they spend their spare time in gambling and that they are exposed to other dangers against which they should be protected. Among the latter are included the service rendered to parties carrying on an illegal business. The public messenger is called upon to go errands where an adult would not go; or would not be confident in us will a boy. The object of the committee in seeking further regulation for the service is one to be commended.

THE VETERANS' PENSION BILL

There is a good deal of discussion in congress over a bill providing for an increase of pensions for veterans of the Civil war. It aims to give veterans now on the pension roll a slight increase over the pension now being received. It will grant to all persons who served 90 days or over in the Civil war, or 60 days or over in the Mexican war, now at the age of 62 years, a monthly pension of $15, an increase of $3 per month over that allowed by the act of 1907; it will grant to those 65 years of age, $20 per month, establishing a new rate; to those 70 years of age, $25 per month, an increase of $10 a month; and to those 75 years of age, $36 a month, an increase of $16 per month.

At the present time over 75 per cent of the veterans who served in the Civil war have passed away, and of those who remain about 100 die every day or 3000 every month. Fifty years ago President Lincoln began calling for men to save the union and the calls continued until 2,200,000 had volunteered. Objection is made to this bill because it proposes the same increase for the men who served but a short time, as for those who served during the four years from 1861 to 1865. It is found to be impossible to sift out in any satisfactory manner just who served long or short terms, who suffered little or much. Some of those who enlisted towards the close of the war suffered more in a few weeks than some others who served for two or three years. Hon. James A. Hughes, of West Virginia, speaking in favor of the measure in congress said:

"In 1850 the population of the United States was 23,800,000 and disbursements for pensions $1.4 per capita, while in 1909, when pension expenditures reached the highest mark in our history, $161,933,767.71, the estimated population was 85,566,034 and pension disbursements $1.82 per capita, an increase of only 68 cents per capita. This increase in 59 years is more apparent than real when we consider that in 1850 the wealth of the United States per capita was only $550.50, as compared to $1,310.11 in 1901—the latest figures—or about double or over, as estimated for 1910. The public debt has decreased from $38.27 per capita in 1850 to $11.56 in 1909 and the interest thereon from $1.59 in 1850 to 24 cents per capita. The number of pensioners in 1850 was 256,502 and in 1909, 946,194.

"We may say with greater degree of certainty that the high-water mark has indeed been reached when this bill shall have become a law, as I believe and hope it will. According to the last report of the commissioner of pensions, there was a net reduction of 25,111 pensioners at the close of the fiscal year 1910, notwithstanding there were added to the rolls 26,219, and a decrease in expenditures as compared with the previous year of $1,939,647.63. From these figures it can be readily seen that both the number of pensioners and the amount of expenditures are rapidly decreasing. The estimate of $15,000,000 for the first year of the pending bill is, therefore, probably too high, and I doubt not it will be found that in a very few years the present figures will not be exceeded."

It is quite probable that the bill slightly modified will become law as the majority of the speakers in congress favor it, while few care to put up a stubborn fight against it. It is alleged that if this bill should become law a large number of private pension bills awaiting action will be overlooked or rejected.

Although the bill would call for a considerable increase of expenditure yet the nation will not grudge it as a last proof of gratitude to the survivors of the glorious struggle by which this republic was saved and the Union made imperishable.

SEEN AND HEARD

"That excuse only increases the awkwardness of the case," said Mayor Gaynor of a political fiasco. "That excuse reminds me of young Dr. Start."

"Dr. Start, a short time after he began to practice, was summoned to attend a banker suffering from typhoid fever. He pulled the banker through. Then, in taking leave for good, he congratulated his patient and himself, and said he would call just once more in the course of the week to make sure that no complications had set in."

"He called five days later. The banker's brother met him at the door with a very long face."

"Poor George is dead," he said solemnly.

"Dr. Start turned pale. 'How am I to get out of this?' he thought. 'I must exonerate myself somehow. What negligence have I shown?' Then he said:

"Well, on the whole, I'm not surprised. This isn't the first case of typhoid convalescence, nor will it be the last. A clot, it is clear, formed suddenly at the base of your brother's medulla, the diastole was disordered and the usual heart failure ensued."

"Dr. Start rattled on for several minutes in that strain, but at the end of a long and involved sentence, when he paused to take breath, the dead man's brother said solemnly:

"No, Dr. Start, you are wrong. That isn't what killed George. He went bathing at Coney Island and was carried out by the tide."—New York Tribune.

The telephone, he affirmed unanimously, is a great institution. It becomes a great institution when the wires are crossed and a man's wife bears him talking to "that thing with the dial." The possibilities of the telephone become more complicated when a party line is used.

With these choice bits of information, the story in point can now proceed.

Mrs. Blank has a party line. She and Mrs. Dash were talking and their conversation was not intended for other ears. There was a momentary mistake, it may be parenthetically said, but was gossiping about other women.

In the midst of the conversation the cry of a baby was conveyed simultaneously to the ears of Mrs. Blank and Mrs. Dash.

"Why, I didn't know you had a baby," exclaimed Mrs. Blank.

"And I didn't know you had one," said Mrs. Dash.

"Neither have I."

"I see!" said Mrs. Blank, as a great light dawned. "Mrs. Sheezwee, on the same line I have, and she has a baby. But I'm sure she is not low down enough to eavesdrop."

The soft click of a telephone receiver being hung up as if with great care was heard.

"I know that noisy old hag has been listening to us," appended Mrs. Blank, "but I guess that shot will hold her for awhile."—Louisville Times.

She was a motherly looking old lady of the kind that beams placidly through a pair of round spectacles. So when she accidentally dropped her open handbag on the floor and amid samples of silks and other feminine trifles there appeared a package of cleared papers a faint gasp of astonishment went around the car.

A young man picked up the scattered articles, smiling a little as he handed the rest of all the cleared papers. For a moment she hesitated. Then she blushed faintly and explained:

"I use them to polish my spectacles with," she said. "My grandson Richard told me about them when he was home Christmas. They're the best things to clean glasses with you ever saw, but he only had a few of them and so I've

HOW TO TREAT THE SKIN
Many skin diseases like eczema are due to an external cause and are not the result of impure blood. The taking of internal medicines is a waste of time and money, as many sufferers can testify. The simplest and safest remedy is Cadum, the new medical compound. It stops the itching at once, and the healing begins immediately. People who have suffered for years and who have tried everything should take fresh courage, for this new compound is different from anything else. It is for sores, psoriasis, ulcers, ringworm, rash, pimples, scaly skin, scabs, eruptions, blotches, itch, etc. 10c and 25c per box at all druggists.

She took off her spectacles, deliberately smudged one of the lenses with her ungloved thumb, held up the clouded glass for inspection and set to work polishing it with the elegant paper, while her fellow passengers looked on with amused interest.

Her waist begins just below her neck. Her hips have been planed off even with the rest of her body. She is usually buttoned up the back, and around her neck she wears a section of barbed wire covered with lace. She wears on her head a blond haystack of hair, and on top of this a central dome with rings about the same size as those of Saturn. She is swathed in her gown like an Indian papoose, and on the ends of her feet are dabs of patent leather. She walks on stilts like the experience of a tight-rope dancer. The pores of her skin are full of live white powder. This is woman.—Harper's Weekly.

When Alton W. Tourgee wrote "A Fool's Errand," he named one of his leading characters Theron Fardee. An early copy of the book fell into the hands of the Rev. Luther Pardee, an R. I. Baptist clergyman of Chicago, who was named Theron Pardee. The name is such an unusual combination that in amazement the pastor showed the book to his father, and they were both puzzled by the coincidence. They decided to write Judge Tourgee and ask him what had led him to use his name. He replied, in equal amazement, that he had not supposed there was anything in using the name, and he was astonished to learn that the rightful owner of it was living. His explanation was accepted and the resulting acquaintance was a pleasing all around.—New York Press.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

For the third time M. V. O'Shea, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed chairman of the American committee of the International Congress on Childhood and Youth. The next session of the congress will be held in the United States, probably at Washington, D. C., in 1912. Professor O'Shea was appointed chairman at the recent session of the congress at Brussels.

Rev. J. Caleb Justice, pastor since April, 1909, of Hillsgrove Methodist church, Providence, has asked the church to relieve him of the pastorate, because of a "lamentable departure" from the methods in which a church should be conducted.

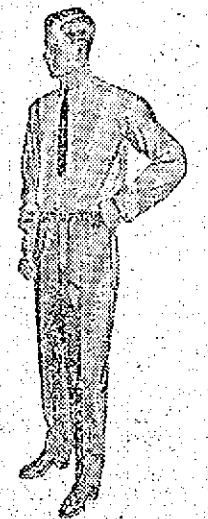

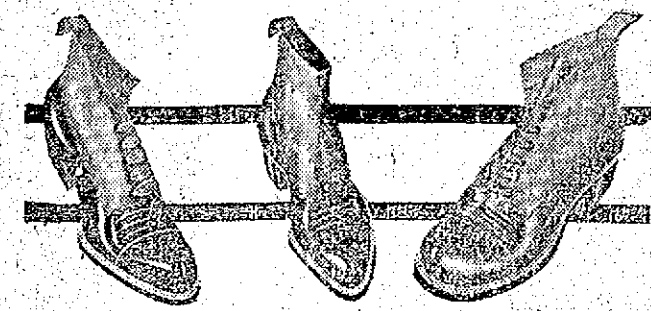

Vida Manley, a six year old girl of Melbourne, Australia, is a musical wonder with a throat of unique formation. Doctors and musicians who have examined the child are amazed to find that her throat is different from that of any other human being. When she was two she suddenly started warbling like a canary, and ever since has retained this peculiar power. Now she will sing like a "Tulip" and sing like any other human songstress. As yet she has not been spoiled by any publicity, and warbles away cheerfully and unconsciously. Her parents are not musical, and they have a number of equally unmusical children.

The Massachusetts Federation of Churches has taken the advance step of establishing permanent headquarters in Boston at 733 Tremont Temple. The joint field secretary with Rhode Island, Rev. Edward Talmadge Root, 's to be at the Boston office every Tuesday, the first and third Mondays and the second, fourth and fifth Wednesdays of each month. Through the generosity of individuals and churches the debt of the organization has been cleared and bills paid to the new year.

that natural field, unimpaired, is one of the most typical images are presented the less desirable they show themselves of being presented at all. Representative embodiments by the actresses are: Frou-Frou, Fedora, Florida, Theodora, Glismondia, Cleopatra, Magda, Cesarine in "La Femme de Claude," Izzy, and Blanche Marie in "La Dame de Chantal." No spectacle was ever benefited, cheered, encouraged, enthralled, instructed, or even rationally entertained by the prospect of those embodiments, or any one of them, and it is beyond reasonable dispute that the exhibition of them has exerted a deplorable influence. No person acquainted with the subject has ever denied the merits of Madame Bernhardt's acting. It is the duty of the critical observer to specify and refine them. They are, in brief, the ability to elicit complete and decisive dramatic effect from situations of horror, terror, violent passion, and mental anguish; neatness in the adjustment of manifold details; evenly sustained continuity; ability to show a woman who seeks to cause physical infatuation and who generally can succeed in doing so; a woman in whom vanity, cruelty, selfishness, and animal propensity are supreme; a woman of formidable, sometimes dangerous, sometimes terrible, mental force. The woman of intrinsic grandeur—the woman essentially good and noble—she has not succeeded in portraying. "Nature's above art in that." Queen Katherine and Heronella, for example, are characters beyond her reach. Her inadequacy in this relation was clearly shown by her presentation of Phaedra. She has never truthfully depicted a woman who truly loves. She never could have given a veritable personation of Imogen, or Viola, or Juliet, or Rosalind, writes William Winter, in Harper's Weekly.

THE FRATERNITIES

CHARLES J. MARTIN,
Chief Ranger.

Court Middlesex, F. of A.---Its History and Officers

Court Middlesex, No. 33, Foresters of America, the second oldest court of Foresters in this city, is one of the most prominent fraternal and benevolent organizations in Lowell. It has grown from a small court, including but fifty members, until today when it boasts of 400. The organization has made rapid strides and prides itself for the manner in which it cares for the members of the court, both in sickness and at death. Court Middlesex has paid out more than $77,000 in sick and death benefits, for management and benevolence, and at the present time has a substantial amount of money in the treasury.

The institution of the court is due in a large measure to members of Court

Merrimack, the oldest court of Foresters in the city. John J. Cluin, the well known optician, was at that time chief ranger of Court Merrimack and called a meeting for the formation of a new court. The meeting was held in the hall of the Young Men's Catholic Library association on the night of Oct. 22, 1883, and the following committee was appointed to organize the new court: Richard B. Allen, chairman; William H. Harrigan, secretary; Patrick Conlon, William H. Grady, Hugh C. McKeer, Hugh Duggan, Cornelius Flatt, Timothy J. Reynolds, Frank T. King, William H. Birmingham, George A. Harrigan, George Maguire, Thomas A. Gidley, David H. Hogan, James A. McQuade, Frank Monahan, William J. Johnson and Daniel W. Sheehan.

As a result of the activity of the members of the above committee a number of men were encouraged to join the proposed court and when a preliminary meeting was held on Dec. 30, arrangements were made for the formation of the court.

On Dec. 18, 1883, Court Middlesex was instituted by Chief Ranger John J. Cluin, and the charter members were, the names above mentioned, and Michael O. McDonald, Dennis Sheehan, Michael O. Keefe, James E. Norton, William B. Moffatt, William H. Sheehan, John S. Shea, Mark P. Gleason, David Kennedy, William H. O'Brien, Frank Wood, John Tansy, William J. Johnson, John H. Farley, John R. Martin, George D. Shepard, Thomas E. Gilday, Peter T. Corcoran, Thomas E. Allen, John Drumelle, Arthur Phelan, Arthur W. Santry, Patrick F. Brady, James Sheehy, James A. Murphy, Peter F. Conaton, John J. Barrows, Charles Howard, John P. Dolan, William Farrell, William E. Curran, Frank E. Mealey, John H. Keeney, George B. Jeffers, John H. Sheehan, Franklin E. Martin, Francis Rourke and John M. F. Gormley.

The meeting proved to be a very enthusiastic one, and from the start there was every indication that the court would be a success. The first officers who were elected at that meeting were as follows:

Past chief ranger, James J. Dunn; chief ranger, Charles J. Martin; sub-chief ranger, John B. Kennedy; treasurer, Michael H. McNiff; financial secretary, John J. Magee; recording secretary, James H. Mickey; senior woodward, Frank Brick; junior woodward, Henry Scanlon; senior headle, Thomas Magee; junior headle, Francis Donovan; lecturer, John H. Condon; trustee, Patrick F. Kennedy; John H. Farley and Daniel H. Quinn; court physician, Dr. Edward J. Welch. The court meets on the second and

Since its institution Court Middlesex has paid out $45,720 in sick benefits, $11,600 in death benefits, $17,750 for management, which includes salaries, hall hire, and incidentals and $130 has been paid in benevolence, making a total of $77,230. At the present time there is about $1300 in the treasury.

Charles J. Martin, the present chief ranger, although a resident of Chelmsford, is well known in this city, especially in fraternal circles. He is employed as an engineer at H. E. Fletcher's quarry in West Chelmsford and is first union member of the Engineering union of Lowell, past sachem of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men.

The twenty-seventh anniversary of Court Middlesex will be celebrated to night at Foresters hall by an entertainment, social party and coupon contest. A concert will be given between eight and nine o'clock by Gilmore's orchestra.

HARMONY CAMPERS HELD SOCIAL AND DANCE IN ASSOCIATE HALL

The Harmony Campers, a social club of well known young men, conducted an enjoyable social and dance at Associate hall last night. A dance of 20 numbers with extras was gone through and it was close to the midnight hour when the last number was concluded.

Those who had charge of the evening's affair were:

Treasurer, Claude Lighdown.

TO JOIN UNION

Carpenters Must Have
3 Years' Experience

The recent convention of the state council of organized carpenters has had the effect of a renewal of interest in unionism among the carpenters of the city as was evidenced at the meeting of the local district council last evening. The council discussed several of the reforms suggested at the state council and gave considerable attention to the proposition of having all local unions examine applicants for membership in the union as to their mechanical qualifications before admitting them and after a lengthy discussion it was decided that all applicants for membership whether apprentices or improvers, must have had three years' experience in the craft. In the special case of improvers who have not had three years' experience they will be admitted conditionally, the provision being that at the end of three years they must have become skilled carpenters.

PAWTUCKET BROTHERHOOD

The meeting of the Pawtucket Brotherhood held at the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church last night was largely attended and included a discussion of the proposed new charter of the order. William H. Wilson was the speaker for the charter and he outlined its provisions in his usual lucid manner and answered many questions concerning it.

There was a brief musical program during which Elijah Axon sang several solos. Harry Hopkins was the accompanist.

REV. MR. WHITEHEAD

DELIVERED A LECTURE IN MID-DLESEX HALL

Rev. John Whitehead in his lecture in Middlesex hall last evening said:

The question of the nature of the resurrection has assumed a new interest and importance in view of the claim of Mrs. Stetson that Mrs. Eddy will rise from the dead. She undoubtedly means that her dead body will rise again. The directors of the Christian Science church do not believe that she will rise again in this world. Did Mrs. Eddy teach that such a resurrection will take place? In Science and Health page 426, she claims that "she has raised the dying to life and health." She teaches that there is no death, and that what we call death is an illusion of mortal mind which Christian Science will dispel. All her teaching about healing is to the purpose that the body of flesh will continue to live; that there is no need for man to die. Mrs. Eddy has led her followers to believe that they will not die; but will continue in this present life. Judge Hanna in a lecture in Christian Science church in Boston, 1907, said: Christian Scientists would do all that Christ did even to raising the dead. Lord Dunsmore in the Christian Science Journal, April, 1907, tells how his wife and himself were cured by Christian Science. He says she learned that there was no necessity for her to die. God never ordained that any of his children were to die. And she lived. Shortly after the article was published Lord Dunsmore died. Mrs. Eddy certainly taught that she could raise the dead. She led her followers to believe that they also could do this. Judge Hanna taught it. Mrs. Stetson is in direct line with her teaching. The directors of mother church are not. Mrs. Eddy expected the resurrection of the material body. She said she could restore its sight and hearing, make new sets of teeth grow, and do many other wonderful cures. She has failed to demonstrate her own claims. Her mother church directors are apostates to her teaching, is her doctrine about the resurrection true? Christ did indeed raise the dead, as instances in Lazarus, the young man at Naim, and Jafur's daughter. He did not, however, keep them alive in this world forever, for they all died afterwards. He did this to establish the belief in His divine nature and power, and to represent in the Word His power of giving eternal life. No one else can do the things He and his disciples did to establish the Christian church. What is done now is what these miracles mean spiritually. Mrs. Eddy, although insisting on the spiritual sense, turns it all the time to material ends of material healing and material gains. Surrounding shows that the Lord's miracles were done to represent the divine power in the life of men in all ages of the world to reform and regenerate. He also solves the difficulty in understanding the nature of the resurrection. He shows that man is a spirit clothed with a body. We have a spiritual body, and a natural body. The resurrection is in the spiritual world.

The Sirolin Sentinel

Sirolin (Pronounced Sir-o-lin): The Celebrated Swiss Remedy for Coughs and Colds.

Sirolin Comes to America

This Famous Swiss Remedy can now be purchased in LOWELL

Sirolin is a famous European preparation that comes to America with an unequalled record of success in the treatment of pulmonary disorders.

Sirolin not only relieves the local symptoms and protects the tissues against the invasions of the tubercle bacillus, but it promotes appetite, increases weight, and acts as a tonic.

Sirolin is pleasant to the taste—a clear, syrup-like liquid.

It is entirely different from the ordinary preparations for coughs and colds. It has no depressing effects, and contains no narcotics or harmful ingredients.

Ask your druggist.

Teach the Children To Use Sirolin

Sound lungs are more than half the battle in the building up of a healthy body.

That's why parents should take great care to see that their children's lungs are properly developed; that they are kept sound in tissue; and with an expansive power in proportion to the weight and height of the body.

This can best be done by—

1st. Vigorous physical exercises, with stress laid on the setting-up exercises, which develop the upper part of the body.

2d. The right kind of food, and plenty of it.

3d. Fresh Air.

4th. The prevention of colds, and their prompt cure if they are contracted. This can be accomplished by the regular use of Sirolin.

Insist on Having Sirolin

It is dangerous to trifle with a bad cold, or bronchitis, or the grippe.

These ailments, disagreeable in themselves, lead to graver diseases, if allowed to run unchecked.

Nine-tenths of the fatal cases of consumption are traced to an origin in some minor ailment of the respiratory organs.

The best and surest way to relieve a cold, or cough, a case of grippe, or any other pulmonary affection, is to use Sirolin freely—at the same time taking things easy.

This is no theory—it is a fact, based on the experience of the leading physicians of the world.

It has an unequalled reputation in Europe, where every family that gives any attention to its health has a bottle of Sirolin in the house.

Your druggist has Sirolin, or he knows all about it. Ask him for it—and refuse any substitute.

Stop that Exhausting Night Cough with SIROLIN

Every one who has suffered from a deep-seated cold knows how annoying and exhausting the night coughs are.

What Is SIROLIN?

Sirolin is the celebrated Swiss remedy for coughs and colds.

Sirolin is a physicians' remedy—not a patent nostrum—and it is known the world over by leading medical men.

Sirolin not only relieves the local symptoms and protects the tissues against the invasion of the tubercle bacillus, but—in addition to this—it promotes appetite, increases weight, and acts as a tonic.

Its creation and use throughout the world marks a distinct advance in the treatment of coughs, colds and other pulmonary affections. Sirolin is clear, syrupy liquid—pleasant to the taste. Your druggist knows about it. Ask him for it.

LEADER OF 250,000 TRAINMEN OPPOSES LOW RAILROAD RATES

P. H. MORRISSEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—P. H. Morrissey, president of the American Railroad Employees' Association, and representing 250,000 men engaged in different branches of railroad work, is working energetically on the side of the railroad companies in the fight being made to prevent an increase of freight rates. Organized railroad labor generally favors higher rates. Mr. Morrissey, appearing before the interstate commerce commission, advocated an increase in freight rates throughout the country. Mr. Morrissey says: "In no other industry in our country is labor so largely employed and none in which so large a proportion of its gross earnings goes directly to labor. Labor got $1,005,349,958 from the railroads in 1909, about 11 per cent of their gross earnings. In other words it received 11 cents of every dollar earned by the railroads. It is estimated that labor will get at least $50,000,000 more when the increases for 1910 are added. Manufacturing gave its labor but 21 per cent of its gross earnings in 1905; the last year for which we find any statistics, and agriculture, the greatest of all our industries, gives such an insignificant percentage to labor that it is not worth while to mention it in comparison. These active operating employees get in a comparative labor sense good pay. They deserve it. They will continue to ask for more if the economic conditions of the country continue to develop as they have in the past ten years. The wage standards of these classes have been increased approximately 40 per cent. In the last decade, yet they have done but little, if anything, more than keep pace with the increased cost of living. They know, too, that transportation has not been a serious element in increasing the cost of living, because rates generally have not been increased. They have learned the small percentage the freight rate bears to the selling price of the commodities they eat and wear, and they reason that the freight rate is not an important factor in influencing the price paid by the ultimate consumer. The railway employees favor a liberal constructive policy toward the railroads, one that will permit them to earn a sufficient sum to maintain the properties according to the highest standards, so that they may give prompt and efficient service to the public, pay good wages to their employees and surround them with the best methods of safety and insure to those who have legitimate holdings in railway properties a fair return on such investments." Referring to the arguments advanced by Louis D. Brandeis in support of the introduction of methods of scientific management of railway properties through which, Mr. Brandeis believes, a million dollars a day could be saved by the railways, Mr. Morrissey as a practical railroad man said he did not believe American workingmen would labor under such conditions as he thought such a system would impose upon them.

HIS ECZEMA GONE AND BOILS CURED

Eczema Began When Three Weeks Old. Arms, Shoulders and Breast a Solid Scab. Boils Broke Out During Teething. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and He Was the Picture of Health.

"My son was about three weeks old when I noticed a breaking-out on his cheeks, from which a watery substance oozed. A short time after, his arms, shoulders and breast broke out also, and in a few days became a solid scab. I became alarmed, and called our family physician who at once pronounced the disease eczema. The little fellow was under his treatment for about three months. By the end of that time, he seemed no better. I became discouraged, and as I had read the advertisement of Cuticura Remedies and testimonials of a great many people who had used them with wonderful success, I dropped the doctor's treatment, and commenced the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and in a few days noticed a marked change. The eruption on his cheeks was almost healed, and his shoulders, arms and breast were decidedly better. When he was about seven months old, all trace of the eczema was gone.

"During his teething period, his head and face were broken out in boils which I cured with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Surely he must have been a great sufferer. During the time of teething and from the time I dropped the doctor's treatment, I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, nothing else, and when two years old he was the picture of health. His complexion was soft and beautiful, and he had a mass of silky curls. I had been afraid that he would never be well, and I feel that I owe a great deal to the Cuticura Remedies." (Signed) Mrs. Mary W. Ramsey, 224 E. Jackson St., Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 24, 1910. Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass., for free book on the skin.

the endorsement of the democrats. Mr. Foster of Illinois introduced a resolution providing for the election of the standing committees of the house by the ways and means committee. It authorized the democratic members of the ways and means committee chosen at this caucus to nominate the majority members of standing committees to the adjourned caucus. Under this resolution, democrats on the ways and means committee would be ineligible to serve on any other committee.

Mr. Fitzgerald offered a substitute resolution empowering Champ Clark as speaker, to designate the democratic members of a tentative committee on the ways and means. Mr. Clark opposed the Fitzgerald resolution. "We have been placed in a power largely by the help of the independent press and the independent voters," said Mr. Clark, "and if we are to remain in power we must keep those forces with us. The only way that can be accomplished is to determine now that the house committees of the next congress shall be elected by the caucus."

In a substitute for both the Fitzgerald and Foster resolutions, Mr. Cox of Indiana offered a resolution providing for a nominating committee to recommend names to the democratic caucus for appointment to the committees, the nominations to be subject to change by a majority vote of the caucus.

Messrs. Stanley of Kentucky and Clark of Florida were among those who rallied around a sub-resolution offered by Mr. Garrett of Tennessee, to put the work of selecting committees into the hands of the committee on rules, subject to ratification by that plan went down to defeat. After a long debate the Foster resolution was finally adopted and the selection of Representative Underwood to be the new chairman of the ways and means committee followed.

The caucus lasted four hours and a half, adjourning about 12:45. Mr. Underwood, in a statement after the caucus said that the committee would meet immediately after the close of this congress and be fully prepared to bring in its first bills as soon as congress reconvened in December.

LONDON LAWYERS

Were Outwitted by Mrs. Asquith

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Herbert Asquith, wife of Premier Asquith, is the centre of public attention here because of her appearing as a witness in the suit of Mrs. Horace West against Sir Algernon West. Sir Algernon West, father-in-law of Mrs. Horace West, is charged by her with slander in telling members of English society that his daughter-in-law was responsible for the separation from her husband. Mrs. West contends that the circulation of these stories caused her to be cut socially and her name stricken from the court list. Mrs. Asquith has set London society agog with her bright retorts to counsel cross examining her on the witness stand. The lawyers were unable to combat successfully with her. Mrs. Asquith made one smart retort when she was asked whether the fact that the plaintiff had been described as extravagant would interfere with her social position. "Why," replied Mrs. Asquith, "I should think that, on the contrary, it would be her best passport to society." Another time she said, "When we came into office," but, with a smile, she instantly corrected the slip—"I should have said when my husband came into office." Mrs. Asquith was described by the poet Watson as the woman of "the viper's tongue." Sir Algernon West was one of the intimate associates of the late William P. Gladstone.

THE DEMOCRATS

Selected Champ Clark for Speaker of the House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, the democratic leader of the house and receptive candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency, was last night nominated by acclamation for speaker of the house in the 62nd congress. This, with the selection of a committee on ways and means to make an early preparation of tariff legislation for submission to congress immediately upon the beginning of the next session in December, when the house becomes democratic was one of the features of a caucus of the democrats—the old and new members of the next congress—held in the hall of the house at the capitol last night.

About 210 democrats were present. Mr. Hay of Virginia president and Mr. Ashbrook of Ohio secretary. Francis Burton Harrison of New York called the attention of the caucus to the fact that the name of Theron Akin, representative-elect from New York, had been called twice in the opening roll call. Mr. Harrison announced that Akin had declared that he would not enter the caucus and that Akin had said he would vote with the republicans. Mr. Harrison, therefore, asked that Akin's name be stricken from the roll of the democrats.

Mr. Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, placed Champ Clark in nomination for speaker. The nomination was seconded and carried by acclamation. Mr. Clark with a broad smile stepped to the front of the chamber and formally accepted the honor.

Mr. Clark's speech met with vociferous cheers. One of the significant speeches in the nomination of Mr.

Clark was by Mr. Ansbury of Ohio. "On behalf of the 15 democratic members elected to the 62d congress from the great state of Ohio" said Mr. Ansbury, "the state which at the next national convention of the democratic party will present the name of Judson Harmon for the presidency, I second the nomination of Champ Clark of Missouri."

Representative Frank Clark of Florida in an impassioned speech struck the first dissonant note by objecting to the fixed program. He said that he understood that a program had been mapped out and he protested against it at length.

Messrs. Adamson of Georgia and Sulzer of New York, ranking members respectively of the interstate commerce and military affairs committees of the present congress, as informally against stripping the speaker of the power of selecting committees.

Mr. Henry of Texas, conspicuously mentioned for chairman of the next rules committee, made the formal motion outlining the order of business. His plan carried. This involved the selection of the personnel of the ways and means committee as informally agreed upon in advance by the leaders, as follows:

Underwood of Alabama, chairman; Randall of Texas, Harrison of New York; Brantley of Georgia, Shackelford of Missouri, James of Kentucky, Kitchin of North Carolina, Hull of Tennessee, Dixon of Indiana, Rainey of Illinois, Hammond of Minnesota, Hughes of New Jersey and A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania.

The Harrison motion to strike Akin of New York from the democratic roll was adopted. Mr. Akin was elected on an independent ticket and had

MAKES GIFT OF $10,000,000

EXTRA MISSING WOMAN ANDREW CARNEGIE THE LOVERS OF ART

Mrs. Harold Newcombe Was Located in Concord Increases His Gift to Carnegie Institute of Washington Would Like to Purchase Neal's Rialto for City

Mrs. Harold Newcombe, formerly Martha Bird, who disappeared from the home of her parents at 68 Tyler street, the Saturday night, before Christmas and left her nine-month-old child behind her, has been located in Concord, N. H., and it is expected that she will be brought to this city tonight.

Mrs. Newcombe, who is but 18 years of age, left her home without notifying either her father or mother as to where she was going. The mother, Mrs. Mary A. J. Bird, became alarmed at her continued absence and her father, Mr. J. Bird, immediately swore out a warrant, charging her daughter with deserting her child, and the warrant was forwarded to Concord.

and engaged Lawyer Joseph E. Loughran to look into the matter and endeavor to locate the daughter.

One of the places where Mr. Loughran sent information about the girl was Concord, and last night an officer there saw a young woman enter a restaurant. After he felt confident that the woman was Mrs. Newcombe, he took her to the police station where she admitted that was her name.

Mrs. Bird immediately swore out a warrant, charging her daughter with deserting her child, and the warrant was forwarded to Concord.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE Sum of $500,000 of Estate Is Involved

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Jan. 20.—A fraudulent conspiracy, involving $500,000 of the estate of the late David F. Walker, financier and president of the defunct California Safe Deposit & Trust Co. of San Francisco, is charged in a suit filed here yesterday. The principal defendant is Mrs. Althea Walker, the widow. She is accused of plotting to deprive Walker's children of his first marriage of securities worth half a million dollars.

Among those accused with Mrs. Walker are United States Reed Smoot of Utah, Margaret W. Smoot and Clarence Walker.

Special Administrator Carl Elving of San Mateo is the plaintiff. He alleges that in trying to settle the affairs of the estate he has vainly made a search for the $500,000 in securities.

The Walker estate is valued at about $1,000,000. By the will everything was left to the widow but the children have filed contests.

Mrs. Walker is at present a resident of Salt Lake.

NAVAL INCREASE Two More Battleships to be Built JOSEPH ROBIN Appears in U. S. Bankruptcy Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Two battleships, two colliers, 8 torpedo boat destroyers and four submarines constitute the administration's naval increase program for next year, under action of the house committee on naval affairs today.

This action of the committee carries out the main features of the administration of building two battleships a year with a few needed auxiliary vessels. Two battleships are to cost $6,000,000 each, exclusive of armor and armament and are to be of 27,000 tons.

The action on the two colliers was unanimous. On the four submarines, which the Pacific coast representatives have been vigorously pressing, the vote was 13 to 2.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Joseph Robin, the indicted head of the Northern bank and Washington savings bank, both of which were closed by the state superintendent of banks, was taken from his cell in the Tombs and examined in the United States bankruptcy court today. Robin's examination is the first step of his creditors to ascertain the amount of his estate. The indicted banker appeared to be in excellent health, but of uncertain memory.

Three attorneys were present.

Robin testified that he had been interested in banking and other business but had no fixed occupation.

Of the exact amount of his holdings Robin was uncertain. He owned, he said, approximately 4000 shares of Northern bank stocks, 17,000 shares of the Fidelity Co., $50,000 worth of bonds of the South Shore Traction company, 170,000 shares of the Acta Indemnity company, 100,000 shares of the Reed Lumber & Timber company and an unknown interest in the Sagara & Lockport Light & Power company, the Babylon & Oak Island Ferry company, Carnegie Trust company, East River bank, Hungarian bank and Huguenot Trust Co. of New Rochelle.

FIVE MEN KILLED

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 20.—Five men were killed, four fatally hurt and several injured as a result of an explosion of dynamite or gas in the Gaton mines, about 15 miles west of Richmond early today. All the dead were Poles, and came here from Pennsylvania. The injured are still in the mine, 200 to 1000 feet from the entrance.

GIRL IS MISSING

May Have Been Taken by the "White Slave" Agents

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Seventeen-year-old Annie Del Luca, whose little sisters testified, against a band of "white slave" traffickers last summer, that four of them were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment, is missing from her home in President street, Brooklyn. Fearing that she has been kidnapped in revenge by friends of the gang, her sister, Caroline has asked the police to find her.

Annie was last seen by her parents two weeks ago, when she left her home on an errand. Her disappearance followed the receipt by her father of a series of letters threatening harm to members of his family. Precautions were taken to guard the younger girls, Mary and Jessie, aged 11 and 9 respectively, but it was thought that Annie was able to care for herself.

Of six prisoners whose fate was largely determined by the testimony of Annie's sisters, four were sentenced to all terms varying from one to ten years, one jumped bail and one was discharged for lack of evidence.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Lowell Firemen's Fund association will be held tonight at the central fire station in Middle street.

A number of the Lowell firemen are going to Lawrence tonight to attend the annual concert and ball of the women of that city.

PANIC AVERTED DARING HOLD-UP

500 Women in Wild Rush in Fear Guests of Wealthy Society Woman of Fire in Boston Were Robbed

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Almost 500 women ranging in years from girls in their teens to mature and middle-aged women, all inmates and guests of the Franklin Square house for women and girls, East Newton street, South End, were thrown into a state of excitement which threatened a panic shortly before 10 o'clock last night when the fire gongs throughout the building cleared out an alarm.

The alarm was needless, due it is said, to defective wiring. The commotion among the inmates of the house was so great that only the cool, calm and stern commands of the superintendent Mrs. Alice G. Teale, prevented a panic.

The corridors and staircases of the lower part of the building were thronged with frightened women when Mrs. Teale took possession of the situation. She had been attending her sister, who has been ill, and was on the second floor when the alarm was sounded. Before she could completely dress and make her way down the single flight of stairs, hundreds of other women and girls had rushed through the hallways, down the broad staircases and descended in the elevator.

When Mrs. Teale reached the street floor, the marble-tiled corridor was packed with excited women. Elbowing her way through them, Mrs. Teale took up a commanding position directly in front of the main exit and commanded all to be calm and collected. Mrs. Teale assured them that there was no cause for fear, that the alarm was needless and the result of an accident. Then, with rare presence of mind, she assumed an authoritative tone and commanded all to return to their rooms.

For a full minute after the rush was made for the street doors the big gongs continued to sound. While Mrs. Teale was explaining the cause of the excitement the number in the corridor and reception rooms was constantly being augmented by late-comers. It was their belief that a fire was raging in some part of the building and they could not seem to understand the purport of the superintendent's words.

It was then that Mrs. Teale displayed rare tact. One young girl, badly frightened, had climbed upon a marble slab at the side of the hall. Mrs. Teale sternly ordered her to get down and listen to what she had to say.

Addressing the terror-stricken women, Mrs. Teale said, substantially:

"Now is the time to display your womanhood. Turn right around and go to your rooms. Let the cooler ones lead the weaker ones and comfort them and avert a panic!"

"Young men, I call upon you to quiet the girls, for there is really nothing to cause all this commotion."

Having spoken, Mrs. Teale waited to note the effect of her words. She stood barring egress, gently "chiding" some of the more excitable.

Caused by a Fire in Boston Today

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—The saddlery and hardware store of Henry Storch at 8 Federal street was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water today with an estimated loss of $25,000. The fire originated on the third floor, from some unknown cause, and swept through into the fourth floor. The fire was soon extinguished but the lower floors were drenched.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—An unusual holdup was successfully pulled off in a fashionable section of uptown New York shortly after 1 o'clock. Mrs. Frances Elliott, a wealthy society woman, had been entertaining a small party of guests at her home on West 56th street and her guests were just putting on their wraps and saying goodbye when five rough looking men pushed their way through the open door. With drawn revolvers the intruders lined up the hostess and her guests in train-robber fashion and proceeded to go through the pockets of the men and the handbags of the ladies, now and then pausing to remove a tempting bit of jewelry.

Mrs. Elliott and her friends were so thoroughly frightened by the threats and rough actions of the robbers that they made no outcry until the five had left the apartment. When Mrs. Elliott called up police headquarters. Later she came in person to the detectives' bureau and was closeted with Captain Murphy. A squad of lynx eyed detectives was detailed to the case. The robbers got $250 in cash and jewelry valued at $2500.

The authorities believe that the five men made their escape in an automobile.

ANOTHER ATTACK

Made by the Revolutionary Forces

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20.—Mahadives from Cuba, Honduras, received last night, state that the revolutionary forces under Manuel Bonilla, attacked Celba at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 6. Two or three hundred shots were fired, with no fatalities.

The attack was made at the rear of the town and rifle shots were exchanged between the revolutionists and the government troops. At 8:15, an hour later, quiet seemed to have been restored. According to the advices the band played before the headquarters of the commandant and then marched over the town serenading. At 8:37 the attack was renewed with great vigor but ended suddenly. It was learned at this time that the government troops had deserted to the standard of the revolutionists and this had caused the battle.

Great excitement was caused by the playing of a ship's searchlight over the town later in the evening and the residents hurriedly retired indoors. Reliable persons who saw the boat say it was the Hornet.

Later advices say that the United States gunboat, Narletta, arrived at Celba on the morning of the 16th and stayed a few hours, returning to Puerto Cortes. Celba had not fallen up to January 15 but an attack by both land and sea was momentarily expected.

BRIGHAM YOUNG

WAS CHARACTERIZED AS A "TREACHEROUS REBEL"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Brigham Young was characterized as "a treacherous rebel" last night by Mrs. H. O. Owen, speaking to the Twentieth club of All Souls church, Unitarian, of this city, of which President Taft is a member. Mrs. Owen vigorously protested against the decorations of the silver service to be presented to the battleship Utah by the people of that state. She declared that one piece bore the features of Brigham Young as the dominant figure and that she hoped to have a measure introduced in the house of representatives designed to delay the acceptance of the silver until this is altered. Mrs. Owen said that she had seen a statuette of the battleship Utah by the people of that state. She declared that one piece bore the features of Brigham Young as the dominant figure and that she hoped to have a measure introduced in the house of representatives designed to delay the acceptance of the silver until this is altered. PREMIER MORRIS

PLEASED WITH FRIENDLY SPIRIT OF AMERICANS

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Jan. 20.—Satisfaction with the friendly spirit exhibited by the American negotiators in the conference last week at Washington between representatives of the United States and New Foundland governments on the disputed points of The Hague award on the fisheries question was expressed today by Premier Morris. The premier returned to Washington last night where he had attended the conference. He expressed the belief that an amicable arrangement was now possible regarding the details in dispute between the two countries and he expressed the opinion that the Americans in return for minor concessions were apparently disposed to abandon attempts to use purse seines or to fish on Sundays.

MCLEAN DEFEATED LAMY

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 20.—In races that were not remarkably fast, Robert McLean of Chicago made good his claim to the national indoor skating championship by defeating Edmund Lamy, the former champion of Saranac Lake, N. Y., at the national amateur races last night. From here the skaters go to Detroit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The James R. Keene stable is not likely to figure largely in turf events in America during the coming season, according to advices local horsemen have today. It is said that the best of the string will be raced in England hereafter.

The Keene breeding establishment in Kentucky will be continued, however. A further report in this connection is that James Keene, who has trained the Keene horses for years, has amicably severed his relations with the veteran horseman, who is now in Europe, and will train H. B. Duryea's ponies in England and France during the approaching racing campaign in those countries.

PAUL MORTON DEAD

Head of Equitable Assurance Co.
Passed Away Suddenly

He Was Secretary of the Navy
Under President Roosevelt—He Attained Fame as a Railroad
Executive—Wife and Brother
Rushed to His Bedside

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and secretary of the navy under Theodore Roosevelt, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in the Hotel Seymour last night. His wife and his elder brother, Joy, were at his side 15 minutes after he was stricken, but he was dead at 5:45 o'clock, a few minutes before they arrived and an hour after he was stricken.

His close friend, E. J. Berwind, arrived a few moments earlier, perhaps 20 minutes before he breathed his last, but he was unconscious from the moment of the stroke and neither recognized those about him nor spoke.

The coroner's office is satisfied that death resulted from natural causes and there will be no autopsy.

Mr. Morton himself had no idea that his life was in danger, but his family, his physicians and a few close friends knew his condition was precarious and that if he did not take care of himself something was going to happen. Joy Morton immediately left the room where the body lay gave a full account of the death and of his brother's health.

"Paul and I took luncheon together at noon today," he said. "I had come on here from Chicago only this morning and Paul met me at the station. We went to the Equitable building together, where at Paul's request I attended a meeting of the directors, at which he presided. Then we had luncheon together in the building and sat together talking until perhaps half past two.

News of the Fainting
"I had other business and so had to see you at the house at 6 or a little before, I said, and we parted. At 6 o'clock I dropped into his office, thinking we might go uptown together, but he had left before me. So I went on up to the house alone, where I met Mrs. Morton and we drank tea together.

"She knew that Paul had promised me to be home at 6 or before, and as it grew late she turned to me and said: 'Joy, isn't it odd that Paul's late? He's always so punctual.'

"The words were hardly out of her mouth when the telephone rang and the butler brought bad news. 'Mrs. Morton,' he said, 'the hotel Seymour telephones that Mr. Morton has just fainted on the fifth floor.'

"We jumped into an automobile and were there in a jiffy. Edward J. Berwind was there before us. They had telephoned to the Metropolitan club, to Paul's office and to others of his friends.

Rejected by Examiner
"He was on the fifth floor, where he had an appointment with a lawyer, whose name I'm not sure of. They told us that he had fainted in the hallway on his way to his friend's room and that they carried him into a vacant apartment.

"Now, let me tell you a little about my brother's health. About Dec. 1 the Equitable got out what it called a Christmas policy, and when everything was in readiness it was suggested that it would be fitting to make out the first policy in the name of the president of the company.

"Paul was examined and Dr. Wells, the chief examiner for the company, rejected him.

"Of course it was a shock, but Paul never dreamed how serious was his case. It alarmed the family, however, and we had him come on to Chicago to be examined by Dr. Frank Billings. That I think, was about Dec. 5. Paul laughed at us. 'They're only trying to scare me,' I remember he said.

Blood Pressure Too High
"Of course Dr. Billings didn't tell Paul all he found, but he did tell me. Your brother's blood pressure is too high," he said. "He has auto-intoxication." Then he explained that auto-intoxication is a condition in which the body does not rid itself of the toxins it secretes and so poisons itself. In addition, he diagnosed cerebral thrombosis. My father died of precisely similar conditions on April 27, 1902.

"Then I came on to New York to find out what they thought here. Dr. Isaac Adler, the family physician, told me that Paul was suffering from a kidney and arterial condition, indicating Bright's disease.

"Dr. Wells told me that he had rejected Paul because his tests showed traces of albumen. 'Your brother,' he said, 'is feeling the effects of what we call an unbalanced ration.'

His Unbalanced Ration
"If I tell you a little about Paul's habits that phrase will explain itself. He was a very temperate man. He ate sparingly, drank and smoked not at all. For breakfast he would eat sometimes a grapefruit, nothing more. For luncheon he would sometimes eat a sliced orange and nibble at sweets.

"You see his diet was unbalanced and his blood lacked some of the elements of strength a man that did his work needed. Dr. Wells told me that he would have to take the greatest care of himself and that he ought to cut down on work.

"It was his first illness and he refused to call himself sick; but we had persuaded him to take a vacation as a

Gentlemen—
Here the narrative, told with spirit, eagerness and a wealth of detail, ended suddenly. Joy Morton had done all he could to tell frankly of his brother's closing hours and when his task ended the tears suddenly welled into his eyes and he could not find words. "This is tragic," he ended abruptly. "He was my younger brother—the last of us. Treat him kindly, gentlemen."

Coroner's Report

In the anteroom of the Hotel Seymour, while Mr. Morton was talking, stood Thomas Fortune Ryan, E. J. Berwind and Theodore Shonts, all of whom had been summoned by telephone. Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopkins Smith, Jr., a daughter and son-in-law, had joined Mrs. Morton upstairs.

Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon said that from the antecedent history and the symptoms there was no doubt in his mind that death was due to arterial sclerosis, a hardening of the walls of the arteries, terminating in a cerebral lesion. He thought that Bright's disease was indicated, but there would be no autopsy.

A permit for removal of the body to Mr. Morton's house was granted almost immediately. The death was reported to the coroner's office in the usual stereotyped form, as follows: "Paul Morton, 53 years old, died suddenly at the Hotel Seymour, 50 West 45th street, reported to coroner's office by Dr. Pearson of 42 West 44th street, occupation, railroad man."

The body was removed to the house last night, but no statement of funeral plans was given out.

Friends Deeply Moved
Few, if any, of the directors of the Equitable had news of the death until they were informed by the newspapers. E. W. Bloomington, Robert De Forest and Frank S. Withers, the last named also of the Equitable executive committee, were all deeply shocked and inquired eagerly for full details.

Mr. Withers said: "I am immensely shocked. I saw Mr. Morton as late as 4 o'clock this afternoon after the monthly meeting of the Equitable directors. He complained of not feeling well and I urged him to take a rest and vacation, never dreaming, however, that his condition was so serious."

SHOCKED BY MORTON'S DEATH
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The business and financial world in general and life insurance circles in particular were slow in recovering today from the shock caused by the sudden death last night of Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and former secretary of the navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet. Mr. Morton was stricken at the Hotel Seymour, where, according to his brother, Joy, he had gone to keep an engagement with a lawyer and died of cerebral hemorrhage without recovering consciousness.

At Morton's family were aware that he was in a serious condition physically and had prevailed on him to take a vacation. He was to have sailed for Europe on Feb. 22.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Thomas Protestant Episcopal church. The burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery here.

A number of coroners' juries were on the bereaved family today from notable personages all over the country.

LODGE'S ELECTION

MONTANA LEGISLATURE WANTS INVESTIGATION OF IT

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 20.—The Montana legislature in joint session yesterday condemned the action of certain "so-called democrats" in the legislature of Massachusetts in voting for the re-election of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge; declared that the election of Lodge was, on its face, the result of a corrupt bargain, and demanded a rigid investigation of the methods by which Lodge obtained his election.

Woman Wins Suit Against Her Father-in-Law

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Satisfied that the story told to the lord chamberlain by Sir Algernon West that his son's separation from his wife was due to her extravagance was responsible for the exclusion from court of Mrs. Horace West, his daughter-in-law, a jury yesterday awarded to her $5000 damages on this count and $125 more because the jury believed the story told by Sir Algernon to Lady Grove led to the withdrawal of the latter's hospitality.

In giving substantial damages, with costs, it is believed the jury was influenced by the plea that Mrs. West had been "out" by the Duchess of Rutland and other ladies of the nobility.

Judge Darling in charging the jury said that hospitality meant more than an invitation to dinner and that if a lady, because of stories about her, had been barred from the homes of her

In referring to Mrs. West's readiness to court by the late King Edward the judge feelingly referred to him as "one who spoke no slander nor listened to any."

The case excited tremendous interest and there was a great rush to obtain admittance to the courtroom, hundreds being barred out.

Mrs. Asquith, who yesterday testified that extravagance was a passport to society, sat facing Mrs. West seated through the crowded room were representatives of many of the prominent families of England.

When the verdict was announced the loud applause was sternly checked by the judge.

Sir Algernon's counsel served notice of appeal and therefore a stay of execution was granted.

Mrs. Asquith's smart saying is causing quite a stir, and the newspapers are asking, "How extravagant should a woman be to gain an entry to aristocratic society?"

SILVER WEDDING

Was Observed by Mr. and Mrs.
Lavoie of Regina Place

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lavoie of Regina place, Alken street, celebrated yesterday their silver wedding. The affair was of a quiet nature, only the immediate relatives of the couple taking part.

A notable fact with Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie is that they were both born twins. Mr. Lavoie's twin brother being Gaspard Lavoie of Alhambra, Que., who is the father of 16 children. Mrs. Lavoie's twin sister is Amanda Parent, wife of Deudonne Barrette of Ste. Melanie, Que., and has eight children.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie are well known and count a large circle of friends in this city, where they have lived for the last 21 years.

Mr. Lavoie was born in Ste. Melanie, Que., on Dec. 8, 1865. He was educated at the college of Joliette, Que., where he graduated with great honors. At the age of 20, he was married to Miss Marie Louise Parent, the ceremony being performed in the village church of Ste. Melanie, by Rev. Fr. F. X. Jeannotte. Mrs. Lavoie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Parent of Ste. Melanie, who recently celebrated their golden wedding. She

Rupture Now Curable

Dr. A. W. Turner, a Boston physician, has published a pamphlet explaining how rupture may be cured to stay cured without using the knife.

Of course all ruptured people are interested, and letters are coming to the doctor in great numbers from other physicians and from ruptured people.

To all inquirers the doctor sends the pamphlet by mail without charge.

was born in April, 1884, at Ste. Melanie, and was educated in the parochial school of her native town.

The couple emigrated to this city 24 years ago. On his arrival, Mr. Lavoie obtained work in a local factory and later entered the employ of Coffey Bros., wholesale merchants. In 1895 he opened up a grocery business for himself at 183 Hall street, and has since conducted this business with good financial success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie have had 10 children, six of whom are living, two of whom are nuns in the order of St. Joseph, at Lagrange, Ill.; namely, Meralda, in religion Sister Bertha; Alice, Maria Anne, Eva and Armand, the latter a popular member of L'Association Catholique, and who is tending the store with his father.

Mr. Lavoie is well known in fraternal circles, being a member of Court St. Paul, C. O. E., L'Union Samuel de Champlain, L'Union Garin Nationale Independente and Club Des Citoyens Americains.

Although the wedding anniversary of the venerable couple was strictly quiet, Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie received numerous gifts from their friends who also offered congratulations over the event.

A Drop of Blood

Or a little water from the human system when thoroughly tested by the chief chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., tells the story of impoverished blood—nervous exhaustion or some kidney trouble. Such examinations are made without cost and is only a small part of the work of the staff of physicians and surgeons under the direction of Dr. R. V. Pierce giving the best medical advice possible without cost to those who wish to write and make a full statement of symptoms. An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alternative and glyceric extract of roots, without the use of alcohol, such as

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Which makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment. Get what you ask for!

ROYAL ARCANUM

Lowell Council, No. 84
Had a Busy Night

Last night was a strenuous one for Lowell council, No. 8, of the Royal Arcanum, for it acted as host in entertaining the several councils of the city, heard the reports of the retiring officers, initiated five candidates, and the district deputy, Bro. Billings of Boston, was present and installed the officers for 1911.

The degree work for the initiatory services was performed by the staff of Highland council 970, and as usual was done in faultless manner.

EUGENE STILLINGS, Regent.

District Deputy Grand Regent Billings was assisted in the work of installation by Grand Secretary Kell, who performed the duties of grand guide in a manner as only years of experience on the floor of the council chamber can achieve. The following are the officers installed:

Regent, E. I. Stillings; vice regent, J. S. Jackson; orator, G. T. McElroy; past regent, W. A. Chas; secretary, L. A. Hodgman; collector, W. F. Sanborn; treasurer, G. E. King; chaplain, J. H. DeVoe; judge, J. C. Clemen; warden, C. S. Pettigrew; secretary, N. Nelson; trustee for three years, W. M. Sherwell.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremony Past Regent Chas was presented a beautiful regent's jewel by Bro. Billings in behalf of his council. There were also present Grand Regent Wise and Grand Vice Regent Hobson, who spoke briefly to the large gathering.

GOOD TEMPLARS

Heard Mr. Greene Explain Charter

Mr. Harvey B. Greene, president of the board of trade, spoke before the members of Spindie City Lodge, I. O. G. T., at their meeting Wednesday night, on the proposed city charter, which is now before the legislature. Mr. Greene spoke more particularly on the centralization of power, citing the matter of schoolhouses, which under the new charter would be under the control of the school committee, where it properly belongs and not under another department as now. He also dwelt on the matter of the police and licensing commissions, showing how a better enforcement of the laws was possible if the law-enforcing and the license-granting powers were separated. The principles of the recall, the initiative and referendum were explained in detail, and at the end of his address Mr. Greene was tendered a unanimous vote of thanks. Refreshments were served later and a social time was enjoyed by all present.

The following committee had charge: Bessie Bent, F. E. McLean and Richard Roberts.

MISS DELEHANTY

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Charles H. Wilson, stable manager and whip for Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and Miss Josephine Delehanty, or Jane Delehanty, as she is more popularly known in East Boston and among her intimates, were married last evening in a private suite at the Adams house by Charles A. Feyhle, a local justice of the peace and notary public. It was an attractive scene with the entire family of the bride among those present.

The love romance of the couple started one morning early in last November at the horse show in Madison Square garden, New York, when Wilson was giving an exhibition of coach driving, the former Miss Delehanty, the 19 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Delehanty of 463 Meridian street, East Boston, being an interested spectator.

Although some newspapermen and

photographers got on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, none was admitted to the suite until the wedding party was about to disperse. Their information the reporters sought was given to them by a Newport friend, who had been mistaken for the happy groom himself.

Mr. Feyhle, who has joined many couples, spoke the words that made the 60 year old horseman and man of the world and the pretty East Boston girl man and wife. This was at 7 o'clock. Less than two hours later they were being motored to the Back Bay station and, there boarded the 9.04 train for Bristol Ferry, R. I. They were then driven to Mr. Wilson's cottage at South Portsmouth, R. I., where they will remain until they sail for Europe next week.

COSTUME PARTY

HELD BY PROF. ELVIN'S PUPILS LAST EVENING

Prof. W. F. Elvin gave a delightful costume party to his pupils last evening in Elvin hall, Dutton street and about 100 couples were present. Elvin's orchestra furnished music. Mr. and Mrs. Elvin had general charge.

Restful Sleep Restored-- Indigestion Cured

"Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is far superior to all else as a strengthener and health builder for the aged, weak and sickly," says Mr. D. F. Sibert, 81 years of age.

He writes: "I am always ready to merit and justice where they be long, and will state that my experience with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is that when taken in small doses it is an excellent tonic. I am 81 years old and have suffered with indigestion for many years. These troubles were overcome by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It induces sleep and creates thirst for a glass of water before breakfast. By this the system is the better supplied with oxygen. I find Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey far superior to all else, and while I am greatly opposed to taking spirits as thousands do, I will always use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey." D. F. Sibert, Scotland, Archer Co., Texas.

MR. D. F. SIBERT, 81 Years of Age

as a renewer of youth and tonic stimulant is one of the greatest strength-givers known to science. It aids in destroying disease, and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner, thus keeping the old young in spirits. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low-fever, stomach troubles and all wasting, weakened conditions, if taken in time and as directed.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It is an absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the cork in the bottle is unbroken. Price $1.00 a large bottle. Write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for an illustrated medical booklet containing testimonials and rules for health, and doctor's advice, both sent free.

Made Assistant Adj. General

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—An addition to the staff of Gov. Eugene N. Foss was made yesterday in the person of Col. Philo Frank Packard, who will become assistant adjutant general and act as chief of staff.

Col. Packard has been on the retired list of the Massachusetts volunteer militia with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Earlier in the week he was made secretary of the service school of the M. V. M., and yesterday he was taken from the retired list, made a full colonel and placed on the active list as assistant adjutant general, vice Col. William Curtis Capelle, retired, as brigadier general.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the early offerings here will be "At the Old Cross Roads" which will be presented by Arthur C. Alston's company at the Opera House soon. That this is decidedly one of the greatest favorites on tour is proven from the fact that this is the tenth annual tour of the play and the season bids fair to eclipse even the phenomenal business done by the piece in the preceding seven years. Not only has New York City placed the stamp of approval on this beautiful story of the Sunny South, but the other large cities have joined together in bestowing much praise and favorable comment on the play and the excellence of the organization. Mr. Alston, who has in the past given us "Friends," "Tennessee's Pardner," "Pretty Peggy," "Shadows on the Hearth," and other first class attractions has outdone himself in this, his best effort. The success of the play has really been remarkable. The cast is one of uniform excellence.

MARIE CAHILL

here to the Opera House next Monday, Jan. 23, direct from the Shubert theatre, Boston, the morning Journal of that city said: "Miss Cahill was more captivating than ever, and broke all past records in making song hits. The production introduces the liveliest lot of handsome girls, the best dancers and most musical singers that can be found grouped in any sort of musical comedy."

"THE SOUL KISS" with its record of 300 nights in New York City, will be seen for the first time in this city at the Opera House on Tuesday, January 24. The play has been given a handsome mounting. The scenery is elaborate and full of color. The chorus is strikingly costumed and in good taste. The many young men and women in the background are much more personable than the usual run of musical play choristers. Seats are now on sale.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A real feature vaudeville bill, with the best moving pictures to be obtained, is being presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The headline act is presented by Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Mann, those well known character artists, in their pastoral comedy playlet, "Mandy Hawkins."

The Four Everetts have a remarkable exhibition of acrobatics and balancing feats replete with "sensational" features. Archer and Carr are singers and dancers and tellers of witty stories who are well worth seeing more than once. While Gilbert Lodge, late of Lew Dockstader's, "minstrels" and known as "the fashion plate comedian," sings a lot of funny parodies and tells some snappy jokes. Harrington and Millard are bass and baritone singers of illustrated songs.

The "Golden Girl" Corset

The woman who wants to appear at her best should begin with selecting this Golden Girl Corset. This is one of the newest models of the year, fashioned of fine, light weight coutil, lace and ribbon trimmed, and with hose supporters. It has the fitted bust with ribbon draw string—a feature that is found only in the high priced corsets. Eyelets, clasp and hose supporter fasteners are finished in gold instead of nickel and from this feature the corset takes its name.

No other popular priced corset gives the figure such smooth lines. It has just the right incense at the waist; just the right length over the hips, and is in every respect a most comfortable and satisfactory garment. It is a regular stock number corset, selling always at $1.00, and comes in sizes 18 to 26.

We are advertising this as a special leader for our department this week.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Dissatisfaction with Newport as the tournament ground for the national tennis matches took form last night in a protest by Karl E. H. Behr, the international player, and Lyle E. Mahan, former intercollegiate champion.

"Newport is almost inaccessible to the country at large," said Mr. Mahan. "It fails to represent the sport nationally in its true sense. I favor the Germantown Cricket club grounds at Manheim, Philadelphia. They are just as central and as easily reached as New York."

"For one thing Newport hasn't courts enough to accommodate an entry as large as that of last August, and the game is growing. Then the difficulty of obtaining officials which has been the joke of the tournament will not trouble us at Germantown. The club there has 600 playing members against some 60 for Newport."

"At this time I am not at liberty to name all those who have joined Mr. Behr and myself, but the insurgent list is a notable one and includes champions. We expect support from Dr. P. B. Hawk and other western players who agree with us that it is time to change the map of tennis and make it

MEETING OF DIRECTORS HELD LAST NIGHT

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Bunting Cricket club was held last night at the clubhouse in South Lowell. President Henry Robertson was in the chair. Eighteen members renewed their membership. The delegates to the Merrimack Valley Cricket league submitted a full report of the proceedings of the last meeting of that body. At the next meeting of the directors, arrangements will be made for the presentation of the pennant to the Buntings; the pennant now being in the possession of the president of the league, and that official only awaits the pleasure of the Bunting club when the pennant shall be presented. It is quite probable that the cup now in the custody of the Lawrence Cricket club, which was champion last year, will also be presented to the Buntings in the near future. It was voted to hold whist and domino tournaments every Saturday afternoon at the clubhouse during the remainder of the winter months. The second in the series will be held tomorrow afternoon. Forty members entered last week and some excellent prizes were captured.

BOY WAS HANGED

For the Murder of a Sheriff at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Louis Augustine, a 17-year-old Indian boy, was hanged at San Quentin prison today for the murder of Sheriff Kemp of Lake county last May. The Indian had stolen a saddle and was pursued by the sheriff. He hid in a clump of bushes and shot the officer when he appeared. From the time of his arrest to his end the Indian maintained an appearance of stoical indifference as to his fate.

Was Addressed by Fred-eric L. Burnham

Frederic L. Burnham of Cambridge, agent of the state board of education, addressed the members of the Lowell Art association last night. He spoke on "Art in Education." He said that people were divided into two classes, the refined and the crude. The latter term was by no means a reflection upon the character or personal worth of the persons concerned; it merely meant that they had not accumulated the experiences in life that enabled them to appear at ease in polite conversation, or to enjoy the social intercourse of their fellowmen without timidity or misgiving. Either the opportunity had not presented itself to them in their earlier years, or they had not been forced by these having their supervision to gain the power of thinking for themselves upon other topics than the narrow routine of their lives, with the result that they had very little to offer to those whose minds had been trained and who might give to them were they able to receive it.

Nor was the handicap of this crudeness limited to social intercourse, Mr. Burnham held. The child whose education had not developed his own powers of observation and concentration made a poor workman when he undertook to earn his own livelihood. The theory of art in education, then, was not merely to draw pictures, or carve wood, or perform other tasks of manual training, but to learn how to put things together and to draw some conclusion from so doing.

He spoke of one school where the children had learned the technique of drawing, but had gained nothing from it. An investigation into the cause disclosed the fact that the teacher had the drawings copied from a board, and followed the work so closely that an error was corrected almost as soon as it was made. The remedy for this was to instruct the teacher to have the pupils draw an object as they saw it, and not to copy a drawing as somebody else had seen it.

He told also of a school in which art had been taught to a dressmaking class engaged in making aprons. The girls were not allowed to cut by a pattern, but were obliged to fit the aprons to their individual needs. In other words, to be effective, all school work must be done upon the thinking side, and not the mechanical side of the child's brain. It must gain the beginnings of culture through experience; it must acquire individuality in its work.

WHIST PARTY

HELD IN ST. LOUIS' CONVENT HALL

Over 400 people attended the whist tournament held last night in St. Louis' convent hall in Boisvert street. The affair was conducted by the women of the parish and the proceeds will be devoted to the parish work.

The game of cards was presided over by Mr. Marcel Roussel and over a hundred beautiful prizes were awarded the winners. This was followed by a pleasing entertainment including choruses, "Pol-Touri," by the little misses of the first grade; a sennet, "Le Saure d'orge Grand-pere Jean," by Aida Lemire and Victor Cornilleau; a speech, by Simone Beaudry, aged seven; choruses, "Cromquintaine," by the little boys of the first grade, followed by the terrifying apparition of "Cromquintaine," comic song, Edmond Desmarais, accompanied by Elzear Vezina; song, Alfred Lequin, accompanied by Miss Alma Lequin; reading, Miss Blanche Smith.

Mrs. Alfred Gosselin, president of St. Anne's sodality, was president of the committee in charge, assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. Jos. Masse, secretary, Mrs. Philome Soudard, Mrs. Chapt, Mrs. Charles Leclerc, Mrs. Collette Lequin, Mrs. Eudore Morin, Mrs. Delphis Belleville, Mrs. Sorville Renaud, Mrs. Geoffrey Caron, Mrs. Philippe Fortin, Mrs. Oscar Lemire, Mrs. Alfred Gervais, Mrs. Thomas Sarras, Mrs. Joseph Gaminche, Mrs. Wilfrid Gendreau, Mrs. Laurent Favreau, Mrs. Joseph Champagne, Mrs. Elie Brault, Mrs. Amedee Caron, Mrs. Wilfrid Gendreau.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Sunday school class, Number 60, of the First Trinitarian church, held a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. L. P. Cutting, 78 Methuen street, last evening. There was considerable business transacted, and the following list of officers was brought in by the nominating committee, and later elected: Teacher, Miss Mary Martin; president, Mrs. Albert Pettie; vice president, Mrs. L. P. Cutting; secretary, Mrs. William Adams. The president then appointed the following committees: Visiting committee, Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. Lewis Robinson and Mrs. Thomas McLaughrey; entertainment committee, Mrs. John Hibbs, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Charles Abare. After the meeting a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR A GREAT CELEBRATION

The members of the committee from the three local posts of the G. A. R., who are to arrange for the observance of the 60th anniversary of the passing of the Sixth regiment through the streets of Baltimore met last night in the state aid office at city hall and discussed plans for the proposed celebration.

It was finally decided to appoint Comrades Pelton and Dickey to confer with a committee of the Old Sixth reg-

How to Stop Drinking

We are in earnest when we ask you to try ORLINE at our expense. We will give you money back, if after a trial you fail to get results from ORLINE. This is a very generous offer. It gives the wives and mothers of those who drink to excess an opportunity to try the ORLINE treatment. It also shows our confidence in the merit of ORLINE. ORLINE is recognized as the best and most successful remedy for the world has ever known for Drunkenness or the so-called Liquor Habit. It is a very simple treatment, can be given in the home without publicity or loss of time from business, and at a small price. Read the following letter from Dr. Nott, 5th and Race sts., Philadelphia. It will tell you about the wonderful results from the ORLINE treatment.

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriety under my personal observation. The patient had been heavily for fifteen years and he had a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend ORLINE, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold ORLINE for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

ORLINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORLINE costs only $1.00 a box. Write for Free ORLINE Booklet (enclosed in plain sealed envelope) to ORLINE CO., 604 Orrline Building, Washington, D. C. Shoemakers to a Hundred Million People

The wonderful Goodyear welting system of shoe machinery first made it possible for the feet of the millions to be clad in high grade shoes at moderate prices.

Less than a generation ago high grade shoes made by shoemakers cost $10 to $20 a pair. Only wealthy people could afford to wear them. But today, everybody can wear dressier, better and more comfortable shoes at one-third these prices. And you who are accustomed to wearing these modern shoes, would never think of going back to those ancient hand-made styles.

WAR WAGED OVER QUESTION OF SITE OF PANAMA CANAL CELEBRATION EXPOSITION

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

HERE won't be any bloodshed over the determination of the question unless a hot blooded man from New Orleans meets an equally warm partisan of San Francisco and starts an argument. The country won't resound with the tramp of marching thousands, willing to fight for the vindication of their re-their exhibits to our fair. Of course he cannot ask them to send their works of art and industry to more than one city, and that is what has been underlying the great contest of New Orleans and San Francisco for the exposition.

The Crescent City and the city lying by the Golden Gate have been the chief but not the only bidders for the Panama fair. Others which have in health resort for white folks. The great argument in its favor that it could show visitors the canal itself was overbalanced by the argument that any one who wanted to see the canal or who had business there would go there anyway and that Panama, despite its "genial, sunny climate" (we quote the words of a Panama promoter), could not be relied upon for the months needed to plan, build and

to ten, twelve and fifteen millions and even higher before the question was put up to congress for final adjudication. In pushing its claims for the honor of giving a home to the fair New Orleans has laid stress on its nearness to the canal. It is the nearest metropolitan seaport to Panama and also, incidentally, the nearest to the center of national population. It is only 1,350 death. These are New Orleans' positive arguments. Naturally it spurs with scorn and indignation the suggestions of San Francisco that a bigger city than New Orleans is needed to house the fair (the recent census gave San Francisco 77,837 more inhabitants than its rival) and denies the assertions that its water is impure and dangerous to visitors. San Francisco is nearly 2,400 miles farther from the fifty miles of its boundaries to half a million within a similar radius of New Orleans. It has more hours of sunshine than New Orleans and much less rain. It is a naval base, which New Orleans is not, and is able to provide a splendid stage setting for the gathering of the world's war and merchant vessels which is expected to figure so largely in the opening festivities. It is a pretty argument, so far as it penny grabbers who must live somehow and who turn to the people of the exposition city as their natural prey if the visitors fail to meet their expectations. In addition, there are the inevitable bickerings among the managers of the big show, the delicate social questions which rend families and drive their arbiters to drink or worse, etc. Financially few great world's fairs of the past have been successes.

spective cities' rights to spend millions on an international exposition. Besides, there may be as many as five international shows to mark the opening of the Panama canal, so what's the use of any city exciting itself over the congressional decision in the matter?

Of course there's nothing in the world to keep any city from celebrating the opening of the big ditch if it wants to. According to enthusiastic prognosticators of the benefits which the canal is to confer on all of us, Skowhegan, Me., has as much right to celebrate as Matagorda, Tex., or Wilamette, Ore. The president may even declare the day of the formal opening of the canal a legal holiday for the entire country, and thus all of us will be able to celebrate. But what the cities which have been contending for the honor of official sanction of their plans have been after is the presidential invitation to foreign countries to send the past manifested their willingness to serve as centers of interest on the great days of the opening and thereafter have been Los Angeles, San Diego, Cal., and Panama itself. When the last named city announced its intention of going after the exposition no one saw any logical reason why it should not have the fair, situated at the end of the canal. But a little consideration convinced most persons that an international exposition at Panama would be a grand fizzle, even if it were possible to complete the plans for it without a hitch. The efforts of eminent sanitarians to the contrary notwithstanding, Panama is not yet a keep open a great international exposition worthy of the occasion. Field Clear For New Orleans and San Francisco.

Los Angeles and San Diego were pushed aside in the argument as being in the "little sister" class, in spite of their creditable showings in last year's census. That left the field clear for New Orleans and San Francisco, and they went at the matter in a manner which recalled to old timers the days before the fixing upon Chicago as the site of the World's Columbian exposition in 1893. There was much talk about guarantee funds running up miles from the Atlantic end of the canal and boasts of rich historical interest and a reputation for hospitality second to no other city in the world. It has declared that it had $5,000,000 in sight for the fair, with hopes of raising at least $2,000,000 more. The exposition grounds, chosen some time ago, are only half an hour's ride from the principal hotels of the city. The city asserts ability to house comfortably at one time 100,000 guests and declares that before 1915, the time set for the exposition, its hotel facilities will be greatly increased. It boasts of its healthfulness, the old time scourge of yellow fever having been done to canal than New Orleans is, says the Louisiana metropolis, and asks what right a city so far away from the canal has to official recognition as the scene of one of the biggest celebrations ever to be held in America. San Francisco's Claims.

Here is San Francisco's argument. First, its citizens are agreed that they want the fair, and San Francisco is in the habit of getting what it goes after. Next, it is the largest and most important city on the American side of the Pacific coast, which expects to gain much from the operation of the canal. A million persons dwell within goes. Meanwhile other cities with experiences with world's fairs or with aspirations to hold any (New York is in the latter class) have been sitting back comfortably, watching the fight. Most of those in the former class hark back to their own big gatherings of the nations and predict that the holder of the Panama fair will regret the award, for, they say, these big affairs never pay. What is gained in the advertising of a city and the drawing of big crowds from all over the world is lost in the cost of putting up the buildings and the management of the show. There are other undesirable features, such as the attraction of hordes of

The outlays of the stockholders are seldom recouped, even to the extent that was true of the big Chicago affair, the stockholders in which received 14 per cent of their money after eleven years' delay.

Exposition to Be a Big Affair.

That the Panama exposition will be a monster of its kind there seems to be no reason to doubt. The nations of the world are interested in the progress and completion of the canal and will expect invitations to the formal opening. From the ceremonies attending the throwing open of the $400,000,000 canal the representatives of the nations and their satellites, together with our own big men and their followers, will turn naturally to the show that has been prepared to mark the progress of the world and to emphasize the bigness and grandeur of the interests which will be served by the canal.

The commerce of the countries of North and South America and, the necessity of their preparing for the opening of the canal will be discussed at a pan-American commercial conference to be held in Washington during the week beginning Feb. 13 under the auspices of the pan-American union, formerly known as the international bureau of American republics. The purposes of the conference as announced by John Barrett, director general of the union, is to awaken the commercial organizations, business men and general public of the three Americas to an appreciation of the possibilities of pan-American commerce and the necessity of preparing for the commercial changes which will be brought about by the opening of the Panama canal.

YOUR friend asks permission to introduce to you a "distinguished European." You meet the gentleman, and he proves to be most agreeable. A little later, after several meetings and after you have grown to like him, he confides to you that he is a "little pressed for money." He does not wish to borrow any from you—oh, dear me, no! But if you should like to add to your household furnishings a painting by

That is one of the ways in which the game is worked. If you "fall for it" the picture is speedily transferred to your home, your check is cashed even more speedily, and soon, very soon, thereafter the European departs from loss of cash you may have the feeling that you are in good company. Many of our richest and wisest have been "taken in" in the same way. Why, even J. Pierpont Morgan, head and shoulders above all other collectors, has given to swindlers some of his numerous thousands, according to a Paris authority on such matters. Just listen to what he dares to say about Mr. Morgan: "Practically all of J. Pierpont Mor-

Not alone in painting, but in other fields of art, is practiced the faking which has attracted considerable attention of late in America and abroad. European connoisseurs in particular and the uninitiated public in general are still laughing over the game worked on Dr. Rodé, the German art expert and adviser of the kaiser, who purchased for his sovereign a wax bust of Flora, believing it was the work of Leonardo da Vinci. His opinion stood and the bust was duly admired as the work of the great Italian until it was found that the latter had been molding in his grave for centuries before the bees had made the wax from which the Flora was molded. "Internal evidence" to the effect that the bust was the work of the hands of an English artist of the nineteenth century was afforded by the discovery in its interior of a portion of an English bedquilt of the Victorian era. Now the partisans of the Englishman, who is dead, want his rights to recognition as the modeler of the bust supported by the courts of Germany. How can an ordinary collector of works of art be assured of authenticity when collectors so eminent as J. Pierpont Morgan and the art adviser of the German emperor are fooled sometimes and "done" out of their good money?

It is safe to say that at the present time no unworthy works of art, fake or genuine, are receiving houses room in Mr. Morgan's famous art gallery and library in New York, shown in the picture, or in his house in New York, adjoining the library, or in his London residence or in his country house near West Point, N. Y. He has been collecting works of real art so long now that no dealer can hope to get an interview with him unless he is known personally to "America's Lorenzo de' Medici." In addition, Mr. Morgan knows more about the genesis, the history and the value of works of art than ninety-nine one-hundredths of the owners. Collecting paintings, rare books, busts, statues, silver, glass and the myriad other things in which the artist's yearnings of men and women find expression is as much Mr. Morgan's hobby as the collection of railroads and other big corporations.

"Smoke Eaters" College Is New York's Latest

ALTHOUGH the degree of M. F. F. (Master of Fire Fighting) is not yet included among the recognized honors conferred by the colleges and universities of the United States, it may be included soon if the example of New York city in establishing its new firemen's college is followed by other cities. The institution is the first of its kind in the world.

Certainly in New York and other large cities, and probably in places of smaller size, no other body of public servants commands so large a share of the confidence of the populace as the fire fighters. They are the "bravest of the brave," their heroism is taken as a matter of course, and their willingness to risk life and limb in the discharge of their duties is seldom if ever questioned. They are soldiers of the common good whose battlefield is the city and whose skirmishes and pitched battles are matters of daily occurrence in a warfare that is never ending. Physically they are picked men, and mentally they do not lag behind others whose daily work does not call for familiarity with the "higher branches." If you believe that fire fighting calls for little or no exercise of the mental faculties in addition to physical hardihood and daring, watch a city fire chief directing his men in their struggle against a big blaze.

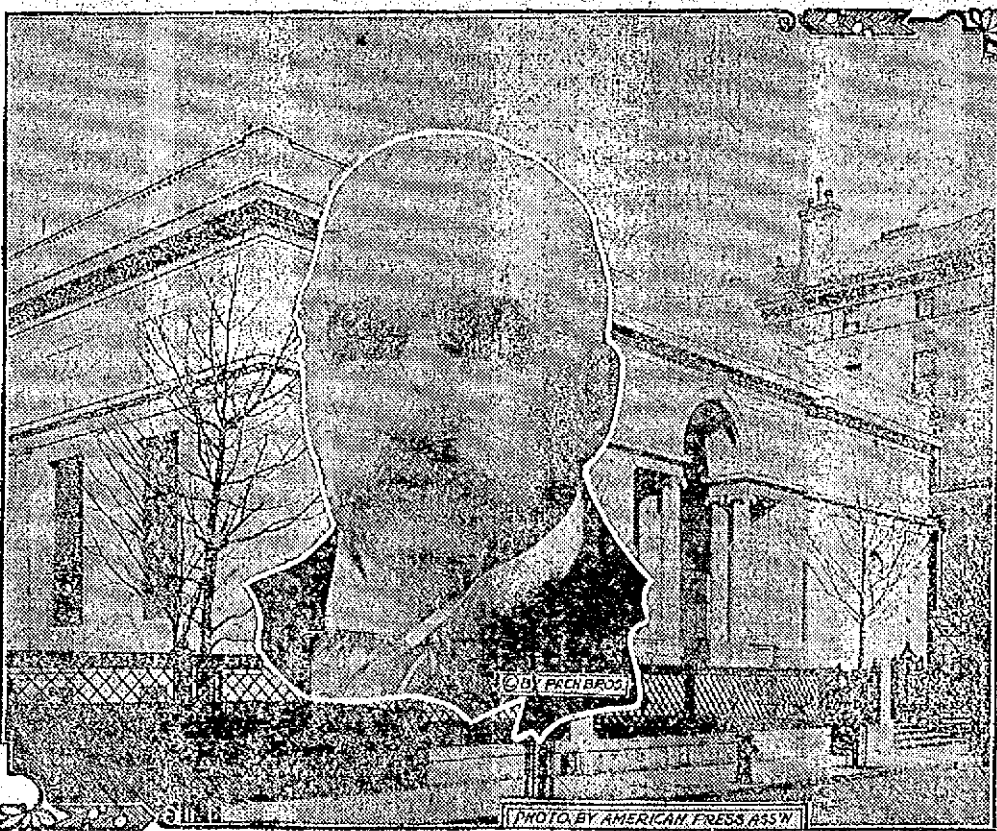

Instruction in all the rudimentary and advanced branches of fire quenching and prevention, with allied branches of education, is the purpose of New York city's new fire college. In its organization it resembles other institutions of learning, however widely its curriculum differs from theirs, but its requirements for admission are rather physical than mental. The purpose of its establishment is stated thus in the official order announcing its opening:

The courses of instruction in the college include general fire fighting, the use of apparatus and tools, engines and boilers, use of high pressure water systems, marine fires, care of horses, care of hose, tapping and nailing, high tension currents, combustibles and explosives, gasoline motor engineering, fire alarm telegraphs, including auxiliary systems, auxiliary fire appliances, first aid to the injured and discipline and administration. There are schools for officers, for engineers, for probationary firemen and for companies. All probationary firemen must attend the probationary firemen's school for at least thirty days before they are appointed to permanent positions in the department. They will receive instruction in the use of tools, scaling ladders and other life saving appliances, as well as elementary instruction in first aid to the injured.

mouse fire chief of a decade ago. He is known in Gotham as the personification of daring and speed, for, according to all observers, the swiftest thing in all New York city is Chief Croker's famous "red devil" automobile going to a big blaze. You know when Chief Croker is coming by the screeching of his siren in the distance, warning everything movable to get out of his way, but you don't see him for before you have time to notice the machine and its occupant they are too far away to be seen. At the time of his promotion to the head of the department,

And he goes on to tell how pictures are "faked" by imitating the composition and the coloring of the masters, leaving the pictures to dry for a few months and then simulating the cracks and creases characteristic of old paintings by running the thumb along the back wherever a crack is desired.

For many years New York's fire department has been known as one of the best in the world. Its present head is Edward F. Croker, nephew of Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall. In 1899 Chief Croker succeeded the late Hugh Bonner, New York's fa-

GRAND RECITAL

BY PUPILS OF GEORGE LOWELL TRACY

Colonial hall was packed to its doors last night by people responding to Mr. George Lowell Tracy's invitation to attend his first private musical recital. The singing highly pleased the audience and the performers were showered with floral tributes of all kinds. The program was as follows:
Chorus of Shepherds from "Rosamunde" Schubert
Waltz Song, "Merrily I Roam" Schumann
"The Four Leaved Shamrock" Slott Duet, "The Gipsies" Brahms
"Thou Art the Star" Tracy
Misses Etta B. Thompson and Teresa Slattery.
"Woodland Roses" Moir

"Nellie Gray" Arranged
The Harvard Male Quartet of Boston, Messrs. Jewell Boyd, W. B. Phillips, L. M. Bartlett, J. L. Thomas.
Shadow Song from "Dinorah" Meyerbeer
"The Last Rose of Summer" Miss Katherine L. Mullen.
Piano solo, Transcription "Les Preludes" Liszt-Bendel
Mr. Harris Shaw of Boston, Aria from "The Queen of Sheba" Gounod
"Comin' Thro' the Rye" Miss Etta B. Thompson.
Two M. S. Quartets: "Slumber Song," "Song of the Soldier" Tracy
Aria from "Sampson and Delilah" St. Saens Harvard Quartet.
Valse Chante, "Si J'avais vos Allons," Messager
Sextet from "Lucia" Donizetti

Misses Mollen and Slattery and the Harvard Quartet.
The Harvard male quartet of Boston and Mr. Harris Shaw of Boston, pianist, assisted, and Miss Julia G. Slattery and Mr. Shaw were the accompanists.
The Harvard quartet was exquisite in its singing, and is considered about the best ever heard in this city.
Miss Teresa A. Slattery has a rich, powerful soprano voice and the way she reached the high notes charmed her audience. She is one of Lowell's coming star soprano singers.
Misses Katherine L. Mullen, Etta B. Thompson and Margaret F. Cawley also proved to be wonderful singers and were encored several times.

HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR; DRY SHAMPOO METHOD.

The beauty editors of many of the prominent ladies' journals are advocating the use of the "dry shampoo" in preference to any and all methods for beautifying the hair. It is claimed that this method is superior to washing the hair and creates a clean, lustrous, wavy head of hair in a short time. No matter how dull and lifeless the hair, the following dry shampoo will soon work wonders: If regularly used, with 2 ounces of powdered cerise root, mix 2 ounces of antiseptic ylange powder. Keep in a tight jar or box and at night apply a tablespoonful, distributing it through the hair with the fingers. In the morning use comb and brush to remove, and all excess oil, dirt, dandruff, etc., will be removed with it. Men and women both use it with the utmost satisfaction. Obtain the ingredients of any well stocked drugist.

McALLISTER-WARNOCK

The marriage of Mr. Roland T. McAllister and Miss Blanche M. Warnock, both well known and popular young residents of this city took place yesterday afternoon. They were married by Rev. S. W. Cummings, pastor of the First Baptist church, at his residence, 62 Fairmount street. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Clark. Mr. McAllister is a professional chauffeur, while the bride formerly held a responsible position in the office of a local garage. Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. McAllister left on a brief automobile honeymoon. After their return they will reside at 138 Appleton street.

PURE NORWEGIAN

COD LIVER OIL

For Pulmonary Consumption and All Wasting Diseases

Medical authorities in this country as well as abroad regard the pure oil of the cod liver as of the utmost value for the treatment of

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AND GOUT

Also in PULMONARY CONSUMPTION and All Wasting Diseases

It has been in use continuously since 1766, and each year seems to come into greater favor. It is recommended by physicians because of its great nutritive value, and because it is so easily absorbed into the system. We have for a number of years recommended the Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and several preparations made with it because we have great confidence in its good effects. We have taken pains to select, and can guarantee that the oil we sell is the purest and finest possible to obtain. We import it ourselves from the fisheries in Aelsund, Norway. It has received many medals of superiority in exhibitions abroad; and the price is no higher than is being asked for some of the inferior grades. This is the season of coughs and colds, from which more serious ills result. It would be well to safeguard your system with this tried and proven remedy. It will make flesh, aid digestion, equally good for young or old, and will positively stay the ravages of any wasting diseases.

Jaynes' Emulsion

The most palatable preparation of the pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil combined with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. There is scarcely a better preparation for pulmonary consumption, deep-seated coughs, or for anyone to take who is run down or thin and needs a tonic food. All the valuable properties of the oil retained and yet so pleasant that children actually like it. Will keep in perfect condition almost indefinitely. Made in our own laboratory fresh 3 times a week.

Black Bottle

This contains almost 2-3 of the pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, and is made from the original formula of Dr. Hyndman. Used by physicians generally for over 75 years. The taste of the oil is disguised with licorice, which makes the preparation not only palatable, but more valuable.

STEIN-BLOCH $20 SUITS and OVERCOATS

Reduced to $14.75

A big part of these Suits and Overcoats we'd be tempted to put away for another season rather than lose the profit on them—if we had the place to store them.

That's the rub. We can't carry anything over if it's possible to move it—Of course, we won't give the goods away, but will go the limit in actual price cutting.

These suits at $14.75 include Stein-Bloch and College Brand fancies, of this season's make that were $20.00, also a small lot of College Brand Suits from last season, (sizes 32 and 33 only), that were $22.50 and $25.00.

The overcoats include black, blue and Oxford kerseys in dress lengths; also the long convertible collar coats in fancy fabrics. In the suits and dress overcoats there are sizes for very large men—up to 48 breast. The long fancy coats go up to 42.

A Few More Boosters—

THE KING'S SPEECH

British Cabinet Meets for Purpose of Drafting It

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The cabinet held its first meeting today for the purpose of drafting the king's speech from the throne and a program of legislation for what promises to be a historic session of parliament.

The militant suffragettes thickly dotted Downing street, determined to remind the ministers that their demands were as urgent as ever. One banner suggested that Home Secretary Winston Churchill should be imprisoned. The active young bearers of this conviction managed to elude the police, rushed the home secretary when he appeared on the street, and, using the banner as a lance, attempted to knock off Mr. Churchill's hat. The police dispersed the trouble-makers.

BELLE MOORE

HER CONVICTION HAS BEEN AFFIRMED

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The conviction of Belle Moore, the so-called "white slave" dealer who was sentenced to serve not less than two years and six months in prison, was affirmed by the appellate division of the supreme court today. Belle Moore was convicted during the John D. Rockefeller, Jr., grand jury inquiry of procuring women for immoral purposes. The court said it was conceded that a trap was laid for the women but that her contention that the crime defined by the statute was legally impossible of the accomplishment and that therefore no crime had been committed was not well taken.

FLORENCE WHITTIER

NO TRACE YET OF THE LOST GIRL

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—So utterly did 19-year-old Florence E. Whittier vanish from sight last Friday that the police and the many detectives at work on the case have been unable to find a single clue from which to trace her. The young girl, whose strange disappearance was first made known yesterday morning, was a relative of the poet Whittier and the daughter of Maynard Whittier, a member of the Ipswich board of health and a retired merchant of that town.

PROFIT-SHARING AGREEMENT

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The suit of Clarence Verner, an attorney, to dissolve the profit-sharing agreement made in 1907 between the city and the car companies reached the United States circuit court today when Mr. Verner filed a petition with a clerk of the court. A lawyer as owner of 200 shares of stock, asks that the agreement be declared null and void and that moneys paid to the city by the companies be returned to the latter.

STOCK MARKET

WAS STEADY AT THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY

Buying Orders Distributed in the Cotton—Other Features of the Trading Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—With few exceptions prices at the opening of the stock market indicated an irregular tone. C. P. R. declined 3 1/2 points, American Smelting & Refining Co. U. S. Steel 1 1/2. N. P. Com. Gas, Reading and Tennessee Copper improved fractionally.

Under the influence of a brisk selling movement, in which traders concentrated pressure against stocks that were among the weak features in yesterday's decline, prices yielded sharply in the early trading. Ches. & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Amal. Copper and U. S. Steel fell a point below yesterday's close. Offerings at the lower level were absorbed readily and there was a partial recovery. N. P. leading with an overnight gain of a point.

The trend of prices was downward in response to a general selling movement which continued throughout the morning. Settlement was mixed though professional traders were inclined to be bearish and to weaken the market further on short selling. Notable strength was shown by a large number of inactive industrials and specialties, including North American, National Biscuit, International Harvester and Tennessee Copper. Bonds were steady.

Business Conditions

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate that with few exceptions general trade shows a tendency toward expansion and a satisfactory absorption of spring goods is anticipated. A fair trading business is noted at Boston and retail trade has been stimulated by special sales. In cotton goods at first hands no improvement is shown and mills are still curtailing production but in new wear the tendency is toward further expansion. Large transactions are pending in the wool market while a steady movement appears in leather. The returns of bank exchanges from all leading cities in the United States for this week aggregate $2,964,653,491, a loss compared with the same week last year of 13.6 per cent, but compared with 1909 the total is practically the same.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—The weakness of the local copper market's opening and inspiration from the London market, a new low record with fairly heavy sales. The remainder of the list was steady.

Supt. REDWAY "THIRD DEGREE"

Entertained Agents of Metropolitan Ins. Co.

The local agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and several invited guests were given a fine treat last night by the local superintendent of the company, Mr. C. B. Redway. The affair, which was sort of a family one, was given at the York club in Dutton street, as a tribute to the members of the local staff, who during the past year have made the best record of any staff in the country.

The guests numbering 50 sat down to a splendid banquet, which they all agreed was the best ever. The invocation was delivered by Rev. Dr. A. St. John Chandra, and Superintendent Redway presided over the festivities. The toastmaster in his opening address complimented and extended thanks to the members of his staff for the good work rendered during the past year. He also brought out the good that was done and is being done every day through the nursing department, which has been established for a year or so. Any girl person who carries an industrial policy is entitled to the services of a nurse at the expense of the company, and for this purpose the Young Women's Guild, and the expenses for maintaining this department reach $200 a month.

The other speakers of the evening were W. F. Doherty, superintendent of agencies of New York City; John Murray, superintendent of agencies of ordinary department of New York; Geo. M. Harrigan of the Lowell Trust Co.; Dr. G. Forrest Martin, Dr. Leonard Huntress, Dr. W. J. Meagher, Dr. Frank McAviney, Deputy Frederick Somerville, Charles Hill of Rochester, Dr. St. John Chandra, George R. Chandler of the Union National bank, Supt. R. A. Robinson of Lawrence.

A special musical program was rendered and the guests were entertained till a late hour.

IS MATCHED TO MEET AL KAUFMAN

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—At the residence of Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion, it was stated yesterday that Al Kaufman had been matched to meet Al Johnson in London on a certain date in April in a 20 round bout. It is understood the go will take place before Hugh McIntosh's club, where Sam Langford and Bill Lang will mix it up for 20 rounds next month. Aside from the fact that Johnson and Kaufman have been matched, nothing else could be learned from the family. Johnson is now in Pittsburgh.

EXPECT TO IDENTIFY BODY

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. Jan. 20.—An examination of the checkbook of the National Exchange bank of Springfield, Mo., found on the body of the American who met death in the woods outside this city, shows stubs indicating that a check for $10 was drawn in favor of "Underwood" on May 12 last and another for $25 to the order of W. H. Powell on Aug. 11. Among the man's effects was a baggage check numbered 1061 and issued by the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf railroad, Springfield, Mo. The police hope to identify the body upon information expected from the authorities of Springfield.

THE AVIATION PRIZE

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator on behalf of whom the Royal Aero club of Great Britain contested on a technicality the award of the Statue of Liberty prize to the late J. B. Henson, today acquiesced to the Aero Club of America's unopposed intentions, but said that the officials suffered from inexperience when it came to conducting an international meet. Grahame-White's expression was made at a luncheon given at the presentation to him of a silver trophy commemorative of his plucky though unsuccessful attempt to fly from London to Manchester. He said that he would like to dispel the impression that there was any lack of sportsmanship in America regarding the recent contests at Belmont park.

BEEF TRUST CASES

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. Jan. 20.—Atty.-Gen. Major withdrew his motion to issue a writ of habeas corpus to strike out the answers of the Hammond Packing Co. and the St. Louis Dressing and Provision Co. to a motion asking the court to appoint a special commissioner to take testimony. In the suits against the Armour, Swift and Morris Packing companies he filed motions to continue them until after the April term.

RACQUET CHAMPIONSHIPS

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—The first of the athletic championships, that for the racquet doubles, opened at the Tennis and Racquet club in this city today with a victory for New York over Boston.

The drawings brought Payne Whitney and M. S. Bargar of New York against C. F. Fennell and Barrett Wendell, Jr., of Boston, and the former pair won by good team work in a hard fought five set match. Scores: 12-15, 15-6, 15-5, 17-15, 15-1.

EVERY DOG KILLED

BAKER CITY, Ore. Jan. 20.—Every dog in the village of Durkee, near here, was killed by the townspeople last night. Earlier in the day a band of mad coyotes had charged into the place, biting many people and horses. The settlers armed and waged war among the intruders for many hours. They turned their guns against the dogs, fearing that the rabies, which is rampant among the coyotes in the district, could spread.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—The second day's session of the National Playground Institute was devoted to the reading of papers by men and women prominent in educational and recreational work in various parts of the country. The speakers included George E. Brier of the University of Wisconsin; Mary B. Skowart, Baltimore, Md.; M. E. Wilson, Columbus, O.; William A. Stecher of Philadelphia and E. B. De Groo, of Chicago.

Organized Labor to Oppose it

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 20.—Organized labor in the various states is called upon to exert its influence to secure legislation forbidding the alleged use by police authorities of the third degree to secure confessions from prisoners in a letter sent out from the national headquarters of the American Federation of Labor at Washington and which has been received by the trades council of this city. The letter, which is signed by Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, describes the practice alleged as having no warrant for its existence, "except the brute power of barbarism and the traditions derived therefrom" and declares "that its practice on the part of the police is usurpation that must be stopped."

"LITTLE MOTHER"

BADLY BURNED WHILE HELPING HER SISTERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Eight-year-old Annie Ryan, of Paterson, N. J., while playing the role of "little mother" to seven sisters and brothers, was badly burned yesterday afternoon and was rushed to the General hospital, where she is said to be dying. The mother had deserted the family last Christmas and since then Annie had been doing the housework while her father was at work.

Annie was at the stove preparing a meal when a live coal fell on her dress. She ran about the rooms, while her 6-year-old brother, Willie, threw water over her. The fire was put out by Truant Officer Moore, who had gone to the house to inquire why the girl did not go to school.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER

SOUTH BEND, Ind. Jan. 20.—The Miller & Donahue Lumber Co., one of the largest in northern Indiana, has failed for $250,000 and is now insolvent, according to a petition being heard in the superior court today which was filed by the Fullerton-Powell Hardware Lumber Co. and asks for the appointment of a receiver. The Miller & Donahue Co.'s failure follows the failure of the Hogardus Land and Lumber Co. of Ford county, Ill., the papers of which it had endorsed to the extent of $111,000.

NEW ORLEANS WINS

In Preliminary Fight for the Panama Exposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—New Orleans won the first round of the fight for the location of the Panama exposition today when the exposition committee of the house by a vote of 9 to 6 decided in favor of it as the site for the fair to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal in 1915.

The bill was referred to a sub-committee for perfection. The committee will report Tuesday and the bill will be reported favorably to the house, where the New Orleans-San Francisco fight will be renewed.

The members of the committee who voted for New Orleans were:

Rosenberg, Illinois; Langley, Kentucky; Murphy, Missouri; Woods, Iowa; Rhinock, Kentucky; Heflin, Alabama; Collier, Mississippi; Cullup, Indiana; Covington, Maryland.

The members who favored San Francisco were:

Gardner, Massachusetts; Southwick, New York; Stenstrom, Minnesota; Polindexter, Washington; Maynard, Virginia; Nelson, Wisconsin.

A minority report will be made to

THE GRAND JURY

Inquiring Into Alleged Vote Selling

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 20.—The vote-selling inquiry by the grand jury promises to develop into a real sensation before it is concluded. It develops now that Foreman Woodyard of the grand jury has consulted several lawyers with reference to convicting buyers and sellers of votes on charges of conspiracy. Under the law covering vote-selling the seller cannot be prosecuted after the expiration of eighteen months but according to the opinions of various lawyers consulted by Mr. Woodyard he can go back three years under the criminal conspiracy act. The law states that when a candidate is elected by fraud there has been criminal conspiracy and the grand jury will endeavor to bring indictments under the law, it is said.

If the grand jury goes back three years it will be compelled to investigate the elections of Mayor Platt, Judge Kimbrough, who charged the grand jury in the vote-selling inquiry, States Attorney Lowman, who is conducting the investigation and numerous other officials who have been elected during the past three years.

NO CHOICE YET

In the Senatorial Fight in New York State

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The quiet that enveloped Capitol hill today was a marked change from the feverish atmosphere that has filled legislative halls for the past two weeks. Lately the contest for the United States senatorship lay mainly outside of the assembly chamber, where both branches of the legislature meet at noon for their third joint ballot.

While plots and counter plots may continue in hotel rooms and lobbies the general belief was that there would be no break toward any one candidate until next week. So far as open warfare is concerned there was every evidence of a three days' truce.

Speaker Friebe of the assembly said that this understanding prevailed when 30 or more members of both houses got leave to go home until Monday. It was expected that other legislators would be released from attending tomorrow's session by the same process of pairing.

Judge Parker in his letter said in part:

"The unjust attacks on Mr. Sheehan should not operate to weaken the support of his friends but should cement and strengthen their uncompromising efforts for his election."

Unfortunately in this country altogether too often elections are characterized by undervalued and unjustifiable attacks on worthy candidates. During the campaign of 1901 when Mr. Sheehan ran on the Tammany ticket against Hon. Seth Low for the mayoralty of this city, attacks of Mr. Sheehan were at least as bitter as now directed against Mr. Sheehan. Mr. Sheehan was then denounced by his present strenuous newspaper supporters for taking the nomination from Tammany at all and especially for his attitude on the subject of 'Deveryism,' which was one of the burning issues of the day, and the end of his political career was predicted as certain. Their attitude was as unjust then toward Mr. Sheehan as it is now toward Mr. Sheehan.

"I appeal to you and to all loyal democrats to see to it by your votes and influence that Mr. Sheehan, who received the majority vote in caucus, should receive the majority vote of the members of the legislature. Any other course is subversive of the principle of majority rule, which is essential in a democracy and which makes possible the success of our party, whose supremacy today is, to my mind, a matter of supreme importance. The array of Mr. Sheehan's friends who are bound to him, not by motives of interest, but by the regard and esteem which are the basis of all true friendship, speaks volumes for his selection as senator in comparison with any personal words of mine of unqualified endorsement as his partner and admirer."

After reading the letter Mr. Saunders said that it would not change his attitude, nor would it make the six assemblymen who voted for Parker change their votes.

Assemblyman Saunders of Columbia county, who on Wednesday changed his vote from Sheehan to Parker, received a letter from the judge this morning.

Judge Parker told Mr. Saunders that he and those who voted for Parker would do him a favor if they voted for Mr. Sheehan.

Third joint ballot for United States senator resulted as follows:

Sheehan 50, Shepard 41, Kernan 4, Parker 3, Herriot 3, Littleton 2, Gerard 2, Glenn 2, Rosendale 1, O'Brien 1, Depeew 52. Total, 141. Necessary for choice, 71.

DR. BLODGETT

Says Bad Meat Is Sent Here

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—At a hearing before the legislative committee on agriculture at the state house yesterday Dr. S. H. Blodgett, who is a former member of the board of health of the town of Lincoln, told the committee that meat illegally stamped and unfit for food is being shipped into the city of Boston. This condition has been called to the attention of the state board of health, he declared, and the latter board has refused to act.

Dr. Blodgett appeared before the committee to favor a bill introduced with the recommendation of the chief of the cattle bureau to make the state board of health, instead of the cattle bureau, responsible for the regulations for the inspection of meat.

"I know of one case," said Dr. Blodgett, "where a cow had died from a lingering disease. After it had been dead six or eight hours it was taken to a slaughtering place in North Lincoln, where they have no license to kill. While I can't prove that this particular cow was subsequently stamped and sent into Boston, I know that this is what eventually occurred."

Dr. Blodgett said that this condition of affairs prevails with the full knowledge of the board of selectmen of Lincoln, which appointed the inspector of meat, who, he alleges, is now illegally stamping the carcasses brought to the slaughtering place referred to.

"I said something about this condition of affairs to one of the selectmen," said Dr. Blodgett, "and he replied: 'What do you care? You don't have to eat the meat, do you? It's all going into Boston.'"

At present, said Chief Walker of the cattle bureau, the regulations for meat inspection are made and the stamps are furnished by the cattle bureau. The inspection is made by the local inspectors who are responsible to the local boards of health, and through them to the state board. "This situation," said Mr. Walker, "really leaves neither board responsible."

There was no opposition and the hearing closed.

To Heroes Killed in the Spanish War is Planned

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Both branches of the legislature held brief sessions at the state house yesterday afternoon. In the senate the rule was suspended to admit the petition of John F. Welch to authorize the police commissioners of Boston to reinstate or re-employ him.

A $50,000 memorial on the state house grounds to the men from Massachusetts who died in the Spanish war is proposed in a resolve offered by Sen. Powers of Suffolk.

The senate admitted Sen. White's petition to authorize Falmouth to spend $1000 a year to advertise the attractions of that town.

In the lower branch Rep. McElaney of Boston submitted two bills, one for the consolidation of the poor relief, infirmary, overseers of the poor and children's institutions departments of the city of Boston into a single department under one commissioner to be appointed by the mayor; the other for the consolidation of all the penal and correctional institutions under a single commissioner to be known as the penal institutions commissioner.

Rep. Dean of Wakefield brought up again the so-called Hagen anti-discrimination bill. G. J. Raymond asked for legislation to prohibit bribery, corruption and graft, with heavy fine and imprisonment for violation of its proposed act.

Rep. Hickey of Boston petitioned for legislation to provide that in case of the lapse of an insurance policy, the amounts paid in premiums shall be refunded.

Frederick B. Allen is petitioner for a commission to consider the best method of establishing a course on sex hygiene in the public schools.

The socialist member of the house, Rep. Morrill of Haverhill, wants a constitutional amendment to permit the recall of all state and county officers, whether elected or appointed.

Henry C. Merwin petitions for legislation to prohibit the driving of docked horses in the summer months unless the horses are protected by screens.

A number of matters were heard by the house rules committee yesterday afternoon on petitions for the admission of bills.

Educational Director F. J. Speare of the Boston Y. M. C. A. and Rep. Herman A. MacDonald urged the admission of a bill to give the school of commerce and finance of that association the right to grant degrees.

Rep. Schenck asked for admission of a bill for a new bridge over the Merrimack river in Lawrence.

David M. Sweeney of New Bedford desires that the boundary line between New Bedford and Dartmouth be changed.

Rep. Andrew Doyle spoke for this bill.

Alfred C. White asked for a bill to establish a system of water supply for West Brookfield.

Judge Davis of Plymouth wanted the right given to the Plymouth & Sandwich street railway to temporarily discontinue service on a portion of its line.

Philip H. Coleman spoke for the petition of the town of Peabody for a bill to permit that town to take water from Boston and Fish brooks.

Attorney Henry Hurlburt, counsel for the Boston & Maine railroad, desired the admission of a bill to permit that railroad to make certain changes in location in the city of Lynn.

Charles F. Powers urged the admission of a bill for the maintenance of a new bridge between Neponset and Quincy.

Rep. Charles F. McCarthy of Marlboro spoke for an increase of salary of the judges of probate of Middlesex.

In executive session the committee discussed the question of the advisability of admitting the order introduced by Rep. Flanagan of Worcester for an investigation of the Worcester county house of correction.

There was singing by Mrs. John C. Parker and Miss Elizabeth Ryan. There were many beautiful floral pieces. The bearers were: Herbert C. Sweetser, George M. Wright, Ervin W. Sweetser of Chelmsford, Orrin C. Frye of Lowell. Burial was in the family lot, Undertaker C. M. Young in charge.

O'NEIL—The funeral of the late Mr. Daniel O'Neill took place this morning at 9:15 o'clock from the home of Mr. David Scanlon, 58 Fourth street, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9:45 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Francis Cronin of St. Bernard's church, West Newton, Mass., a nephew of the deceased. The choir directed by Mr.

Thomas P. Boulger sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Mr. Boulger and Miss Margaret Griffin. Miss Carolyn White presided at the organ. There were friends present from West Newton, Boston and New York city. The bearers were Messrs. John McKenna, David Scanlon, John Daly, Peter O'Neill, Charles O'Neill and James Liston. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal services were conducted by Rev. Fr. Cronin, assisted by Rev. Fr. Murphy. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Mr. William Scanlon, and the interment was under the direction of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

FRANCIS—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Francis took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. John A. Mahar, at Raymond place, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Denis Murphy. The choir directed by Mr. Thomas P. Boulger sang the Gregorian mass, Miss Carolyn White presiding at the organ. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Among them was a pillow of roses and carnations, inscribed "Mother," from the son of the deceased; wreath of roses from the Mystic club; spray of roses and pinks, from Mrs. B. Welsh and Miss Katie Barry; wreath of roses and carnations from the following young friends: William Clark, Thomas Degan, John Stevenson, Robert Hurd, Henry Sullivan, Harold Normand, Earl Normand, Henry Quinn, John Costello, Edward Farrell, Martin Gilligan, Winnie Melton, Frank Tibbitt, James Carr, Joseph Florence, Thomas Baxter and Allie Selenia. The bearers were Messrs. Martin Duffy, Joseph Farley, John A. Mahar and John Duffy. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the final absolution was given at the grave by Rev. Fr. Murphy. Funeral Director James W. McKenna in charge.

SCHENCK—The funeral of the late George L. Schenck took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 101 Chapel street. Services were held at the house at 2:30, Rev. C. E. Fisher officiating, assisted by the William Lloyd Garrison lodge, No. 20, K. of P., of Lawrence. The following hymns, "Sometimes We'll Understand," "Let the Lights Burn Below" and "Good Night," were rendered by Mrs. Charles S. Young. There was a profusion of floral tributes, including a large pillow, inscribed "Husband and Papa," from the family; wreath, Richardson hotel, employees; pillow, inscribed "Rest," W. Hazard, J. Thompson, Robert Pitts, Charles Wormley and Richard Tallfers; pillow, K. of P., No. 20, of Lawrence; basket, Mrs. Fred LeClair; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Denis Laury; spray, Mr. P. Lew, Mrs. H. Lew, Mr. William Bently, Mr. and Mrs. Conly and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lew, Mr. and Mrs. Tallfers, W. H. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Williamson, Household of Ruth, No. 1795, of Leominster, Mrs. E. Anderson, Mr. G. W. Bently, and a large wreath, Mr. and Mrs. John Gale. The bearers were Adolphus Hall, Alexander Yancoy, Frank Till, Charles Stewart, John Smith and E. H. Brooks. The William Lloyd Garrison lodge, No. 20, K. of P., of Lawrence, of which deceased was an esteemed member, attended the services in a body, and headed by their drum corps, served as an escort to the cortege as it proceeded to the Edson cemetery, where the final prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Fisher and the K. of P. rites were conducted by the lodge. The burial was under the direction of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

Mr. Schenck was one of the prominent colored residents of Lowell, who was loved and respected by all with whom he came in contact. His kind generous, he was ever a friend of those in distress and in want. His loss is an irreparable one and his family have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

COULON ACCEPTS OFFER—MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 20.—Johnny Coulon, claimant to the bartani-weight championship, through his father and manager, has accepted a tentative offer to make his first appearance in England against the Australian "bantam" to be named by Promoter McIntosh. The guarantee in expenses and percentage of purse was cabled yesterday to Coulon.

MR. MAN

My surgical operation on prices sweeps January dulness away. The people will buy clothing in January at extraordinary low prices. I proved it Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by doing March business.

I'll prove it again Today and Tomorrow by offering at slaughter prices the favorite "HEADLINERS" of the different American woolen makers. Your tailor doesn't give you better at big prices—He probably gives you these same fabrics and you are lucky if he does. Buy them on my recommendation.

Place your order now with the understanding that you don't want your suit ready for a month or two.

I WANT YOUR IDEAS

The woolen makers are not sure what styles in cloth the people will demand for Spring. I am showing Brown, Blue and Gray effects. I must know the popular styles before I load up with goods. I therefore invite the young fellows to see my range of samples so I can get your ideas. Come in; you don't have to buy. Just tell my salesmen what you would like for Spring and Summer wear.

GEORGE H. WOOD'S VACATE SALE GOES MERRILY ON

The people are coming from far and near. Join the crowds and get your share of the spoils. Tell your friends. Wake up, girls and boys. Right now is the opportunity of your life to get a watch—a real, genuine time-keeping watch for just a little bit of work. Our special offer for two weeks—Any boy or girl who will get his or her father or mother or uncle or aunt or any other person to our special closing out sale, to buy a Waltham or Elgin Watch, we will give them a real, live new watch, guaranteed good time-keeper—no old or damaged watch, but a fine time-piece. Better be up and doing, for this is a real offer. We have thousands of dollars worth of silverware, china clocks, cut glass, etc., that must be sold. You will be surprised when you look in earnest for the bargains we will give. Now boys and girls, old and young, this is for you—bring this ad. and present after you have bought your diamond or watch and see if it's worth while to buy at this sale. Any and all of our finest, good Waltham, Elgin, Hamilton, Howard and all other American watches, all new, perfect goods, including all our wholesale and retail departments. We will name a few of the many bargains to be found in this forced sale. The big sign is up on the Hamilton wall that says this building is to be demolished before July. We are really selling many articles for less than we could get at auction, but remember it costs to have an auction and you can come and quietly select what you would like and no reasonable offer will be refused. We are very heavily stocked with the best, perfect and latest goods and now MUST get out. We have been here 38 years and expected we could stay as long as we wished. Ladies' come in the earlier forenoon and you will surely find bargains of really fine and beautiful goods at half and oftentimes much less than that if you will really take the time to find them.

GREAT FEAT IN AVIATION

The feat of Aviator Ely in flying from shore to a battleship thirteen miles off, alighting and returning to shore, has demonstrated the value of the airship for naval scout duty in time of war. Ely's feat is the first of its kind but his record will soon be equalled and surpassed by other daring aviators who will readily attempt anything that any rival has accomplished.

WHY PEARY REJECTED WHITE MEN

Commander Peary when closely questioned by the house committee on naval affairs admitted that the reason he did not bring any white man with him on his polar expedition was that he did not wish to share the honor with any white man. If that does not show a mean spirit we do not know what could. It lets in a flood of light upon the character of Peary and his motives in this Arctic business. If Peary did not visit the pole a white man might tell the world just why, or wherein, Mr. Peary failed. The Eskimo is not likely to do so.

THE SENATORIAL DESERTERS

Every republican member of the legislature who did not support Lodge for senator, voted for some other republican. None of them voted for the democratic nominee, but it would be interesting to know whether the Lowell senator and representatives who voted for Mr. Ames regard the latter as better fitted for the office than Mr. Lodge. As for the Lowell democrats who voted for Mr. Ames, it must be said that they are guilty of an act of party treachery for which they will doubtless have to answer to their constituents.

TO REGULATE NIGHT MESSENGER SERVICE

The Massachusetts child labor committee has a bill before the legislature to prohibit the employment of minors in the night service of telegraph offices. It appears that the committee has learned of many very serious abuses in connection with the employment of boys in such service at night. It is alleged that they spend their spare time in gambling and that they are exposed to other dangers against which they should be protected. Among the latter are included the service rendered to parties carrying on an illegal business. The public messenger is called upon to go errands where an adult would not go, or would not be confided in as will a boy. The object of the committee in seeking further regulation for the service is one to be commended.

THE VETERANS' PENSION BILL

There is a good deal of discussion in congress over a bill providing for an increase of pensions for veterans of the Civil war. It aims to give veterans now on the pension roll a slight increase over the pension now being received. It will grant to all persons who served 90 days or over in the Civil war, or 60 days or over in the Mexican war, now at the age of 62 years, a monthly pension of $15, an increase of $3 per month over that allowed by the act of 1907; it will grant to those 65 years of age, $20 per month, establishing a new rate; to those 70 years of age, $25 per month, an increase of $10 a month; and to those 75 years of age, $36 a month, an increase of $16 per month.

At the present time over 75 per cent of the veterans who served in the Civil war have passed away, and of those who remain about 100 die every day or 3000 every month. Fifty years ago President Lincoln began calling for men to save the union and the calls continued until 2,200,000 had volunteered. Objection is made to this bill because it proposes the same increase for the men who served but a short time, as for those who served during the four years from 1861 to 1865. It is found to be impossible to sift out in any satisfactory manner just who served long or short terms, who suffered little or much. Some of those who enlisted towards the close of the war suffered more in a few weeks than some others who served for two or three years. Hon. James A. Hughes, of West Virginia, speaking in favor of the measure in congress said:

"In 1880 the population of the United States was 50,155,783 and disbursements for pensions $114 per capita, while in 1909, when pension expenditures reached the highest mark in our history, $161,973,703.77; the estimated population was $8,566,034 and pension disbursements $1.82 per capita, an increase of only 68 cents per capita. This increase in 30 years is more apparent than real when we consider that in 1880 the wealth of the United States per capita was only $850.20, as compared to $1,319.11 in 1904—the latest figures—or about double or over, as estimated for 1910. The public debt has decreased from $38.37 per capita in 1880 to $11.56 in 1909 and the interest thereon from $1.59 in 1880 to 24 cents per capita. The number of pensioners in 1880 was 250,902 and in 1909, 946,194.

"We may say with greater degree of certainty that the high-water mark has indeed been reached when this bill shall have become a law, as I believe and hope it will. According to the last report of the commissioner of pensions, there was a net reduction of 25,111 pensioners at the close of the fiscal year 1910, notwithstanding there were added to the rolls 23,219, and a decrease in expenditures as compared with the previous year of $1,939,647.62. From these figures it can be readily seen that both the number of pensioners and the amount of expenditures are rapidly decreasing. The estimate of $45,000,000 for the first year of the pending bill is, therefore, probably too high, and I doubt not it will be found that in a very few years the present figures will not be exceeded."

It is quite probable that the bill slightly modified will become law as the majority of the speakers in congress favor it, while few care to put up a stubborn fight against it. It is alleged that if this bill should become law a large number of private pension bills awaiting action will be overlooked or rejected.

Although the bill would call for a considerable increase of expenditure yet the nation will not grudge it as a last proof of gratitude to the survivors of the glorious struggle by which this republic was saved and the Union made imperishable.

SEEN AND HEARD

"That excuse only increases the awkwardness of the case," said Mayor Gaynor of a political rascal. "That excuse reminds me of young Dr. Start."

"Dr. Start, a short time after he began to practice, was summoned to attend a banker suffering from typhoid. Dr. Start pulled the banker through. Then, in taking leave for good, he congratulated his patient and himself, and said he would call just once more in the course of the week to make sure that no complications had set in."

"He called five days later. The banker's brother met him at the door with a very long face."

"Poor George is dead," he said solemnly.

"Dr. Start turned pale. 'How am I to get out of this?' he thought. 'I must exonerate myself somehow. What negligence have I shown?' Then he said:

"Well, on the whole, I'm not surprised. This isn't the first case of typhoid convalescence, nor will it be the last. A clot, it is clear, formed suddenly at the base of your brother's medulla, the diastole was disordered and the usual heart failure ensued."

"Dr. Start rattled on for several minutes in that strain, but at the end of a long and involved sentence, when he paused to take breath, the dead man's brother said solemnly:

"No, Dr. Start, you are wrong. That what killed George. He went bathing at Coney Island and was carried out by the tide."—New York Tribune.

The telephone, he it affirmed unanimously, is a great institution. It becomes a great institution when the wires are crossed and a man's wife hears him talking to "that blonded old cat." The possibilities of the telephone become more complicated when a party line is used.

With these choice bits of information, the story in point can now proceed.

Mrs. Blank has a party line. She and Mrs. Dash were talking and their conversation was not intended for other ears. There was nothing compromising, it may be parenthetically said, but as women on rare occasions do, they were gossiping about other women.

In the midst of the conversation the cry of a baby was conveyed simultaneously to the ears of Mrs. Blank and Mrs. Dash.

"Why, I didn't know you had a baby," exclaimed Mrs. Blank.

"And I didn't know you had one," said Mrs. Dash.

"I haven't."

"I see!" said Mrs. Blank, as a great light dawned. "Mrs. Skewzee is on the same line I have, and she has a baby. But I'm sure she is not low down enough to savepapa."

The soft click of a telephone receiver being hung up as if with great care was heard.

"I know that noisy old hag has been listening to us," appended Mrs. Blank, "but I guess that shot will hold her for awhile."—Louisville Times.

She was a motherly looking old lady of the kind that beams placidly through gold rimmed spectacles. So when she accidentally dropped her open handbag on the floor and amid samples of silks and other feminine trifles there appeared a package of cigar papers a faint gasp of astonishment went around the car.

A young man picked up the scattered articles, smiling a little as he handed her last of all the cigar papers. For a moment she hesitated. Then she blushed faintly and explained:

"I use them to polish my spectacles with," she said. "My grandson Richard told me about them when he was home Christmas. They're the best things to clean glasses with you ever saw, but he only had a few of them and so I've

Many skin diseases like eczema are due to an external cause and are not the result of impure blood. The taking of internal medicines is a waste of time and money, as many sufferers can testify. The simplest and safest remedy is Cadum, the new medical compound. It stops the itching at once, and the healing begins immediately. People who have suffered for years and who have tried everything should take fresh courage for this new compound is different from anything else. It is for sores, psoriasis, ulcers, ringworm, rash, nimmer, scaly skin, scabs, eruptions, blotches, itch, etc. 10c and 25c per box at all druggists.

When Albion W. Tourgee wrote "A Fool's Errand," he named one of his leading characters Theron Pardee. An early copy of the book fell into the hands of the Rev. Luther Pardee, an Episcopal clergyman of Chicago, whose father was named Theron Pardee. The name is such an unusual combination that in amazement the rector showed the book to his father, and they were both puzzled by the coincidence. They decided to write Judge Tourgee and ask him what had led him to use his name. He replied in equal amazement that he had not supposed there was such a man living as a Theron Pardee. Then he stated that he had a prolonged search for a suitable name for the character of his story—one that would express just what he had imagined this character to be. In the course of the hunt an old copy of the curriculum of Union college had fallen into his hands. It was dated 1825, or something as far back, and among the names of the students was one Theron Pardee. The judge said it had impressed him as being one of the richest, most solid and most satisfactory names he ever had heard of, so he decided to adopt it for his character. The curriculum was so old that he had no hesitation in using the name, and he was astonished to learn that the right-hand owner of it was living. His explanation was accepted and the resulting acquaintance was pleasing all around.—New York Press.

just bought these. Just see!" She took off her spectacles, deliberately smudged one of the lenses with her ungloved thumb, held up the clouded glass for inspection and set to work polishing it with the elegant paper, while her fellow passengers looked on with amused interest.

Her waist begins just below her neck. Her hips have been planned off even with the rest of her body. She is usually buttoned up the back, and around her neck she wears a section of her hair covered with beads. She wears on her head a blond haystack of hair, and on top of this a central dome with rings about the same size as those of Saturn. She is swathed in her gown like an Indian princess, and on the ends of her feet are dabs of patent leather. She walks on stilts like a tight-rope dancer. The pores of her skin are full of fine white powder. This is woman.—Harper's Weekly.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

For the third time M. V. O'Shea, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed chairman of the American committee of the International Congress on Childhood and Youth. The next session of the congress will be held in the United States, probably at Washington, D. C., in 1912. Professor O'Shea was appointed chairman at the recent session of the congress at Brussels.

Rev. J. Caleb Justice, pastor since April, 1909, of Hills Grove Methodist church, Providence, has asked the church to relieve him of the pastorate, because of a "lamentable departure from the methods in which a church should be conducted."

Vida Mailey, a six year old girl of Melbourne, Australia, is a musical wonder, with a throat of unique formation. Doctors and musicians who have examined the child are amazed to find that her throat is different from that of any other human being. When she was two she suddenly started warbling like a canary, and ever since has retained this peculiar power. Now she trills like a Tetraxilla also, and sings like no other human songstress. As yet she has not been spoiled by any publicity, and warbles away cheerfully and unconsciously. Her parents are not musical, and they have a number of equally unmusical children.

The Massachusetts Federation of Churches has taken the advance step of establishing permanent headquarters in Boston at 733 Tremont Temple. The joint field secretary with Rhode Island, Rev. Edward Talmadge Root, is to be at the Boston office every Tuesday, the first and third Mondays and the second, fourth and fifth Wednesdays of each month. Through the generosity of individuals and churches the debt of the organization has been cleared and bills paid to the new year.

woman of formidable, sometimes dangerous, sometimes terrible mental force. The woman of this kind—our woman essentially good and noble—she has not succeeded in portraying "Nature's above art in that." Queen Katherine and Hermione, for example, are characters beyond her reach. Her inadequacy in this relation was clearly shown by her presentation of Phaedra. She has never truthfully depicted a woman who truly loves. She never could have given a veritable personation of Imogen, or Viola, or Juliet, or Rosalind, writes William Winter, in Harper's Weekly.

that natural field, unhappily, is one of morbid eccentricity, and the better its most typical images are presented the less desirable they show themselves of being presented at all. Representative embodiments in this actress are Frau-Prou, Fedora, Floria, Theodora, Glismonda, Cleopatra, Magda, Cesarine in "La Femme de Claude," Izzy, and Blanche Marie in "La Dame de Chant." No spectator was ever benefited, cheered, encouraged, ennobled, instructed, or even rationally entertained by the prospect of those embodiments, for any one of them, and it is beyond reasonable dispute that the exhibition of them has exercised a deplorable influence. No person acquainted with the subject has ever denied the merits of Madame Bernhardt acting; it is the duty of the critical observer to specify and define them. They are, in brief, the ability to elicit complete and decisive dramatic effect from situations of horror, terror, vehement passion, and mental anguish; eagerness in the adjustment of manifold details; overtly sustained continuity; ability to show a woman who seeks to cause physical infatuation and who generally can succeed in doing so; a woman in whom vanity, cruelty, selfishness, and animal propensity are supreme; a

Court Middlesex, F. of A. Its History and Officers

Court Middlesex, No. 23, Foresters of America, the second oldest court of Foresters in this city, is one of the most prominent fraternal and benevolent organizations in Lowell. It has grown from a small court, including but fifty members, until today when it boasts of 400. The organization has made rapid strides and prides itself for the manner in which it cares for the members of the court both in sickness and at death. Court Middlesex has paid out more than $7,000 in sick and death benefits, for management and benevolence, and at the present time has a substantial amount of money in the treasury.

The institution of the court is due in a large measure to members of Court

Merrimack, the oldest court of Foresters in the city. John J. Cluin, the well known politician, was at that time chief ranger of Court Merrimack and called a meeting for the formation of a new court. The meeting was held in the hall of the Young Men's Catholic Literary association on the night of Oct. 27, 1883, and the following committee was appointed to organize the new court: Richard B. Allen, chairman; William H. Harrigan, secretary; Patrick Conlon, William H. Grady, Hugh C. McOsker, Hugh Duggan, Cornelius Hart, Timothy J. Reynolds, Frank T. King, William H. Birmingham, George A. Higgins, George Maguire, Thomas J. Gilday, David H. Hogan, James A. McQuade, Frank Monahan, William J. Johnson and Daniel W. Sheehan.

As a result of the activity of the members of the above committee a number of men were encouraged to join the proposed court and when a preliminary meeting was held on Dec. 30, all arrangements were made for the formation of the court.

On Dec. 18, 1883, Court Middlesex was instituted by Chief Ranger John J. Cluin, and the charter members were the names above mentioned, and Michael E. McDonald, Dennis Sheehan, Michael O'Keefe, James T. Norton, William B. Moffatt, William H. Sheehan, John S. Shea, Mark P. Gleason, David Kennedy, William H. O'Brien, Frank Wood, John Conway, William J. Johnson, John H. Farley, John E. Martin, George D. Shepard, Thomas B. Gilday, Peter T. Corcoran, Thomas E. Allen, John Brunelle, Arthur Phelan, Arthur V. Santry, Patrick F. Brady, James Sheehan, James A. Murphy, Peter B. Conaton, John J. Barrows, Charles Howard, John E. Dolan, William Farrell, William P. Chrlin, Frank E. Mesley, John H. Keenan, George B. Jeffers, John H. Sheehan, Franklin R. Martin, Francis Rourke and John M. F. Gormley.

The meeting proved to be a very enthusiastic one, and from the start there was every indication that the court would be a success. The first officers who were elected at that meeting were as follows:

The present officers of the court are as follows: Past chief ranger, James J. Dunn; chief ranger, Charles J. Martin; sub chief ranger, John B. Keeney; treasurer, Michael H. McNiff; financial secretary, John G. Magee; recording secretary, James H. Hickey; senior woodward, Frank Brick; junior woodward, Henry Scanlon; senior beadle, Thomas Magee; junior beadle, Francis Donovan; lecturer, John H. Condon; trustee, Patrick F. Kennedy; John H. Farley and Daniel H. Quinn; court physician, Dr. Edward J. Welch. The court meets on the second and

Since its institution Court Middlesex has paid out $45,720 in sick benefits, $11,600 in death benefits, $17,750 for management, which includes salaries, hall hire and incidentals and $1100 has been paid in benevolence, making a total of $77,250. At the present time there is about $1300 in the treasury.

Charles J. Martin, the present chief ranger, although a resident of Chelmsford, is well known in this city, especially in fraternal circles. He is employed as an engineer at H. E. Fletcher's quarry in West Chelmsford and is an ex-president of the Quarry Workers union, member of the Engineers' union of Lowell, past sache of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men.

The twenty-seventh anniversary of Court Middlesex will be celebrated tonight at Foresters' hall by an entertainment, social party and coupon contest. A concert will be given between eight and nine o'clock by Gilmore's orchestra.

HARMONY CAMPERS

HELD SOCIAL AND DANCE IN ASSOCIATE HALL

The Harmony Campers, a social club of well known young men, conducted an enjoyable social and dance at Associate hall last night. A dance of 20 numbers with extras was gone through and it was close to the midnight hour when the last number was concluded. Those who had charge of the evening's affair were:

Treasurer, Claude Lightbown.

TO JOIN UNION

Carpenters Must Have 3 Years' Experience

The recent convention of the state council of organized carpenters has had the effect of a renewal of interest in unionism among the carpenters of the city as was evidenced at the meeting of the local district council last evening. The council discussed several of the reforms suggested at the state council and gave considerable attention to the proposition of having all local unions examine applicants for membership in the union as to their mechanical qualifications before admitting them and after a lengthy discussion it was decided that all applicants for membership whether apprentices or improvers, must have had three years' experience in the craft. In the special case of improvers who have not had three years' experience they will be admitted conditionally, the provision being that at the end of three years they must have become skilled carpenters.

PAWTUCKET BROTHERHOOD

The meeting of the Pawtucket Brotherhood held at the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church last night was largely attended and included a discussion of the proposed new charter of the city. William H. Wilson was the speaker for the charter and he outlined its provisions in a usual lucid manner and answered many questions concerning it.

There was a brief musical program during which Elijah Axon sang several solos. Harry Hopkins was the accompanist.

REV. MR. WHITEHEAD

DELIVERED A LECTURE IN MID-DESEX HALL

Rev. John Whitehead in his lecture in Middlesex hall last evening said:

The question of the nature of the resurrection has assumed a new interest and importance in view of the claim of Mrs. Stetson that Mrs. Eddy will rise from the dead. She undoubtedly means that her dead body will rise again. The directors of the Christian Science church do not believe that she will rise again in this world. Did Mrs. Eddy teach that such a resurrection will take place? In Science and Health page 128, she claims that "she has raised the dying to life and health." She teaches that there is no death, and that what we call death is an illusion of mortal mind which Christian Science will dispel. All her teaching about healing is to the purpose that the body of flesh will continue to live; that there is no need for man to die. Mrs. Eddy has led her followers to believe that they will not die; but will continue in this present life. Judge Hanna in a lecture in Christian Science church in Boston, 1907, said: "Christ did even to raising the dead." Lord Dunsmore in the Christian Science Journal, April, 1907, tells how his wife and himself were cured by Christian Science. He says she learned that there was no necessity for her to die. God never ordained that any of his children were to die. And she lived. Shortly after the article was published Lord Dunsmore died. Mrs. Eddy certainly taught that she could raise the dead. She led her followers to believe that they also could do this. Judge Hanna taught it. Mrs. Stetson is in direct line with her teaching. The directors of mother church are not. Mrs. Eddy expected the resurrection of the material body. She said she could restore its sight and hearing, make new sets of teeth grow, and do many other wonderful cures. She has failed to demonstrate her own claims. Her mother church directors are apostates to her teaching. Is her doctrine about the resurrection true? Christ did indeed raise the dead, as instances in Lazarus, the young man at Nain, and Jairus' daughter. He did not, however, keep them alive in this world forever, for they all died afterward. He did this to establish the belief in His divine nature and power, and to represent in the Word His power of giving eternal life. No one else can do the things life and His disciples did to establish the Christian church. What is done now is what these miracles mean spiritually. Mrs. Eddy, although insisting on the spiritual sense, turns it all the time to material ends of material healing and material gains. Swedenborg shows that the Lord's miracles were done to represent the divine power in the life of men in all stages of the world to reform and regenerate. He also solves the difficulty in understanding the nature of the resurrection. He shows that man is a spirit clothed with a body. We have a spiritual body and a natural body. The resurrection is in the spiritual world.

The Sirolin Sentinel

Sirolin (Pronounced Si-ro-lin): The Celebrated Swiss Remedy for Coughs and Colds.

Sirolin Comes to America

This Famous Swiss Remedy can now be purchased in LOWELL

Sirolin is a famous European preparation that comes to America with an unequalled record of success in the treatment of pulmonary disorders.

Sirolin not only relieves the local symptoms and protects the tissues against the invasions of the tubercle bacillus, but it promotes appetite, increases weight, and acts as a tonic.

The cough is allayed, nutrition is facilitated, and consumption is prevented. Sirolin is there

Sirolin is pleasant to the taste—a clear, syrup-like liquid.

It is entirely different from the ordinary preparations for coughs and colds. It has no depressing effects, and contains no narcotics or harmful ingredients.

Ask your druggist.

Teach the Children To Use Sirolin

Sound lungs are more than half the battle in the building up of a healthy body.

That's why parents should take great care to see that their children's lungs are properly developed; that they are kept sound in tissue; and with an expansive power in proportion to the weight and height of the body.

This can best be done by—

- 1st. Vigorous physical exercises, with stress laid on the setting-up exercises which develop the upper part of the body.
- 2d. The right kind of food, and plenty of it.
- 3d. Fresh Air.
- 4th. The prevention of colds, and their prompt cure if they are contracted. This can be accomplished by the regular use of Sirolin.

Insist on Having Sirolin

These ailments, disagreeable in themselves, lead to graver diseases, if allowed to run unchecked.

Nine-tenths of the fatal cases of consumption are traced to an origin in some minor ailment of the respiratory organs.

The best and surest way to relieve a cold, or cough, a case of gripple, or any other pulmonary affection, is to use Sirolin freely—at the same time taking things easy.

This is no theory—it is a fact, based on the experience of the leading physicians of the world.

Your druggist has Sirolin, or he knows all about it. Ask him for it—and refuse any substitute.

Stop that Exhausting Night Cough with SIROLIN

Every one who has suffered from a deep-seated cold knows how annoying and exhausting the night coughs are.

Sirolin—a dose taken at bed-time—relieves the tickling and irritation that cause the coughing fits.

What Is SIROLIN?

Sirolin is the celebrated Swiss remedy for coughs and colds.

Sirolin is a physician's remedy—not a patent nostrum—and it is known the world over by leading medical men.

Sirolin not only relieves the local symptoms and protects the tissues against the invasion of the tubercle bacillus, but—by addition to this—it promotes appetite, increases weight, and acts as a tonic.

Its creation and use throughout the world marks a distinct advance in the treatment of coughs, colds and other pulmonary affections. Sirolin is clear, syrupy liquid—pleasant to the taste. Your druggist knows about it. Ask him for it.

STEALING FAUCETS PASTOR'S WIFE

The Charge on Which Two Men Committed Suicide by Inhaling Gas at Danvers

Fred Lamarche and John Lane, who were arrested during the early part of the week for the alleged larceny of three nickel plated faucets from an unknown person and who entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned in court the following morning, were this morning placed on trial before Judge Hadley.

Inspector Martin Maher testified that on January 16th the two defendants were going around trying to sell the faucets. That they attempted to sell them at Farrell & Conant's plumbing store, in Dutton street, but Mr. Conant was suspicious and refused to buy them. They then went to a pawn shop and tried to dispose of the faucets but were unsuccessful. The witness said that in conversation with Lamarche the latter said when he and Lane had them on his person, Lane in talking with the officer said he found the faucets on the street.

Lamarche, testifying in his own behalf, admitted that he tried to sell the faucets Monday afternoon. He said he met Lane who said he was a plumber and being hard up wanted to dispose of the faucets. The defendant admitted that he served five months in jail for larceny, four months the following year for a similar offense and upon being released from jail was taken to Fall River to plead to a charge of larceny of cloth.

Lane said he found the faucets in the street and intended to turn them over to the police but he was in need of money and tried to sell them. He admitted that he had served time in Boston and had also been at the state hospital in Tewksbury.

The court decided to allow the case to remain open until Monday in order that the police may have an opportunity to try to locate the owner of the faucets. The defendants were each held under $500 for their appearance at that time.

Case of Trespass

were charged with trespassing on the property of James U. Gage, in Moody street. The defendants through an interpreter entered pleas of not guilty and after the testimony had been offered the court seemed to be of the opinion that there was more of a misunderstanding than criminal intent in the matter and continued the matter until tomorrow morning, notifying the defendants that in the meantime they had better move to another house.

According to the testimony of Victor Gellinas, the Moody street grocer, who has been looking after some of Mr. Gage's property in the vicinity of his store, said he rented the tenement to a man, but later learned that the man in question was not living in the house, but was occupied by seven or eight people whom he did not know.

Fred Avar, the man to whom Gellinas claimed he rented the tenement, said all he had to do in the matter was to go to Mr. Gellinas for the key.

Mrs. Lamarche, wife of one of the defendants, said she hired the place from a man who lived in the rear of the house. It was later brought out that the man in question was in the employ of Mr. Gellinas.

It was at this point that the court decided that there was some misunderstanding and when the defendants said they would pack up their furniture and leave this afternoon the case was continued till tomorrow morning.

Placed on File
Bertrand H. Durgin, who was charged with the larceny of $200 from Oberlin Lodge, I. O. O. F., appeared in court this morning and the case against him was placed on file, he having made restitution to the lodge.

Drunken Offenders
John Buckley, who was on probation, violated the rules by getting intoxicated and this morning the court sentenced him to the state farm. John J. Murphy, a parole man, will be returned to the farm. Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

Boxing Gossip

The decision should have gone to Joe Thomas just the same. Take it from those who saw the bout and not from those who are desirous of another match between the two. Looking through Lawrence paper, which printed Tommy Sullivan's record a few days ago, I got a crumb in my eye looking for a note about Tommy's fight, well, I'll tell it such with Bill Payke at Glen Forest one rainy Saturday afternoon when Harry Gith was in Lawrence and was managing Tommy. All the Boston sports were there and Payke was an unknown. The Boston sports rather than take a chance on the Lawrence gentry getting wise to their ringer, wouldn't offer even money, but demanded 3 to 10 which the Lawrence men went after like a pack of wild dogs. It was such a bad fight that the main event was put on first. They shook hands, they sparred a moment. Bing! Then everybody liked for a car while Tommy's seconds tenderly carried him to his corner and applied restoratives. It only took a minute, too short a fight perhaps to get into the records. But it happened. Since that time Tommy has improved a whole lot but not enough to hand it to Joe Thomas, not by a jugful.

Just think of it Joe Thomas and Jimmie Gardner are going to box against each other at the Army club tonight, a regular family feud. They're boxing at the big benefit to Johnnie Nelson and are among a dozen or more preliminaries. All the preliminaries are friendly, but the main bout is of 10 rounds to a decision between Jack Leonard and George Alger. Every boxer and wrestler in Boston has volunteered his services while every referee in the state will take part.

All Lowell will be on hand when Jimmie Gardner and Len Houck meet at the Army club a few weeks hence.

Gardner showed up in fine shape with Terry Martin at Fall River. It was expected by all who knew both men that Jimmie would get the decision, but the fact that he laid Terry away in three rounds is evidence that he is still in great shape. Never again will he be a contender for the title.

When Packy weighed for Goodman at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon he made pounds of the exact number of pounds. A dozen eyewitnesses, including Goodman's brother, Sammy Kelly, saw McFarland tip the beam at 135½ pounds, yet in spite of the fact that he was light he fought with greater speed and power than ever before and loomed up in such a formidable manner that veteran ring followers said that if the Chicago boy could weigh 133 pounds at 3 o'clock he would show superiority over Volgaist, Moran or any other so-called lightweight in this country.

McFarland has Volgaist's word that the latter will meet him in a ten round bout in Milwaukee on Feb. 22, the weight to be 135 pounds at 7 o'clock, or three hours before ring time. If Volgaist lives up to this agreement McFarland says he will surely defeat him on points if he doesn't knock him out.

Dr. Osborne is one of the physicians called by Mrs. Schenk's counsel and it is expected that several of these will go on the stand today.

Attorney O'Brien expects now to complete his case in three days, in which event it is expected Mrs. Schenk will take the stand Monday. From her it is expected to bring out an alleged conspiracy of the Schenk family against her, the alleged husband, and amounts would cause each class of arsenical poison.

Prosecutor Handlan in cross examination took up many phases of arsenical poisoning and for two hours had Dr. Osborne on the grill. He admitted several points brought out by the physicians for the state.

"Now, doctor, after describing to you and what you know of John Schenk's condition after his return from Europe on June 21st, of his illness, symptoms, etc., would you conclude from those symptoms that he was suffering from lead poison?" he was asked.

"Yes, I probably would."

Dr. Roy Slephy of Pittsburg arrived here this morning for the purpose of testifying in the case. He will be called in connection with the testimony of the detective nurse, Miss Zwickler, alias Mrs. Klein, and his testimony is expected to be of a sensational character.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in telling the crowd at the Fairmont A. C. New York, Tuesday night about the Volgaist-Brown match became unusually eloquent.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Attorney General George W. Wickersham sounded a warning last night against the tendency of popular distrust of various branches of the government, before an audience of more than 400 jurists and lawyers attending the annual meeting of the New York State Bar association. United States Senator Elihu Root presided.

After the address a reception was tendered Attorney General Wickersham and the members of the State Bar association and its guests at the Century club.

Senator Root was the principal speaker at the afternoon session.

This evening the annual banquet will be held. Among the speakers will be Attorney General Wickersham, Chancellor Day and Justice McCall of the King's bench, Toronto, Ont.

DIAMOND NOTES

Pat Crisheim may not play lacrosse ball in 1911. The popular first sacker of the Lawrence team of 1910 has a splendid position in his present home, Syracuse, N. Y., and is not so sure yet whether or not he will give it up to go back to baseball. He has been in that city for many years since he left this vicinity to go playing ball in the New York state league. He has done well there and is not fussy about leaving a good thing.

He would like to play ball in Lawrence. Nothing would please him better as he says he was used splendidly by the public and by the press. But he does not intend to stand for a cut of $75 per month. Crisheim does not think that he deserves such a salary in salary. He says that he will not play anywhere for that cut. With the cut in the salary limit, Manager Louis P. Pieper feels that some of the high priced men must suffer a cut. Crisheim is one of the players affected as he received big money in 1910. He received something like $250 per month in transportation from and back to Syracuse for himself and family. Crisheim probably made as many friends in Lawrence as any player who ever performed in those parts. He was a perfect gentleman all the time, doing his work without a kick and doing it well. It's a question of money, though, and if Crisheim goes it will be because the management was forced to cut his salary to live within the limit as laid down by the league.—Lawrence Eagle.

Manager Louis P. Pieper would like to get McCrone, who was with New Bedford last season. He is a first sacker. Manager McCrone, who is in the Whaling, was also doing business with the Lowell team, according to an exchange. Dowd has asked Lowell to name a price on McCrone. That may mean either money or the best trade. McCrone is a clever first sacker and a player that he is in New Bedford and has asked to be traded. Pieper will make a good bid to land the player.—Lawrence Eagle.

Pitcher Arthur Maybom has stated that he would like to play in Haverhill this season. He says that his first choice is Lawrence, but if he is to be traded or sold, then he would like to hear no better news than that Billy Hamilton had secured him. Brockton is said to have bid for his services, so it will be to the highest bidder, evidently.

If Louis Pieper secures McCrone to play first base for Lawrence in 1911 he will get one of the best first sackers that ever performed in this league. He may be a grouch, but he is some ball player and he is a good man for any club. McCrone is dissatisfied with New Bedford and anxious to be traded to some other club and wants to stay in the New England league.

Doctors Were Principal Witnesses at the Trial Today

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Prosecuting Atty. Handlan of Ohio county, who has been conducting for the state the trial of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, who is charged with poisoning her husband, has been subpoenaed by the defense and will be put on the stand some time today. Certain evidence as to how various witnesses have been paid and an attempt to bring out a conspiracy against their client is said to be part of the plan of Messrs. Boyce and O'Brien, who have been defending the accused.

Dr. J. J. Osborne, who was the first witness for the defense when it began to present its side of the case yesterday and who was on the stand at day's end, was called to the stand today. Dr. Osborne's testimony will be called again today to complete his testimony. He declared that he had treated and examined Schenk and found no trace of arsenical poisoning.

Fifteen other physicians are among witnesses called by Mrs. Schenk's counsel and it is expected that several of these will go on the stand today.

Attorney O'Brien expects now to complete his case in three days, in which event it is expected Mrs. Schenk will take the stand Monday. From her it is expected to bring out an alleged conspiracy of the Schenk family against her, the alleged husband, and amounts would cause each class of arsenical poison.

This evening the annual banquet will be held. Among the speakers will be Attorney General Wickersham, Chancellor Day and Justice McCall of the King's bench, Toronto, Ont.

DIAMOND NOTES

Pat Crisheim may not play lacrosse ball in 1911. The popular first sacker of the Lawrence team of 1910 has a splendid position in his present home, Syracuse, N. Y., and is not so sure yet whether or not he will give it up to go back to baseball. He has been in that city for many years since he left this vicinity to go playing ball in the New York state league. He has done well there and is not fussy about leaving a good thing.

He would like to play ball in Lawrence. Nothing would please him better as he says he was used splendidly by the public and by the press. But he does not intend to stand for a cut of $75 per month. Crisheim does not think that he deserves such a salary in salary. He says that he will not play anywhere for that cut. With the cut in the salary limit, Manager Louis P. Pieper feels that some of the high priced men must suffer a cut. Crisheim is one of the players affected as he received big money in 1910. He received something like $250 per month in transportation from and back to Syracuse for himself and family. Crisheim probably made as many friends in Lawrence as any player who ever performed in those parts. He was a perfect gentleman all the time, doing his work without a kick and doing it well. It's a question of money, though, and if Crisheim goes it will be because the management was forced to cut his salary to live within the limit as laid down by the league.—Lawrence Eagle.

Manager Louis P. Pieper would like to get McCrone, who was with New Bedford last season. He is a first sacker. Manager McCrone, who is in the Whaling, was also doing business with the Lowell team, according to an exchange. Dowd has asked Lowell to name a price on McCrone. That may mean either money or the best trade. McCrone is a clever first sacker and a player that he is in New Bedford and has asked to be traded. Pieper will make a good bid to land the player.—Lawrence Eagle.

Pitcher Arthur Maybom has stated that he would like to play in Haverhill this season. He says that his first choice is Lawrence, but if he is to be traded or sold, then he would like to hear no better news than that Billy Hamilton had secured him. Brockton is said to have bid for his services, so it will be to the highest bidder, evidently.

If Louis Pieper secures McCrone to play first base for Lawrence in 1911 he will get one of the best first sackers that ever performed in this league. He may be a grouch, but he is some ball player and he is a good man for any club. McCrone is dissatisfied with New Bedford and anxious to be traded to some other club and wants to stay in the New England league.

Doctors Were Principal Witnesses at the Trial Today

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Prosecuting Atty. Handlan of Ohio county, who has been conducting for the state the trial of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, who is charged with poisoning her husband, has been subpoenaed by the defense and will be put on the stand some time today. Certain evidence as to how various witnesses have been paid and an attempt to bring out a conspiracy against their client is said to be part of the plan of Messrs. Boyce and O'Brien, who have been defending the accused.

Dr. J. J. Osborne, who was the first witness for the defense when it began to present its side of the case yesterday and who was on the stand at day's end, was called to the stand today. Dr. Osborne's testimony will be called again today to complete his testimony. He declared that he had treated and examined Schenk and found no trace of arsenical poisoning.

Fifteen other physicians are among witnesses called by Mrs. Schenk's counsel and it is expected that several of these will go on the stand today.

Attorney O'Brien expects now to complete his case in three days, in which event it is expected Mrs. Schenk will take the stand Monday. From her it is expected to bring out an alleged conspiracy of the Schenk family against her, the alleged husband, and amounts would cause each class of arsenical poison.

Prosecutor Handlan in cross examination took up many phases of arsenical poisoning and for two hours had Dr. Osborne on the grill. He admitted several points brought out by the physicians for the state.

"Now, doctor, after describing to you and what you know of John Schenk's condition after his return from Europe on June 21st, of his illness, symptoms, etc., would you conclude from those symptoms that he was suffering from lead poison?" he was asked.

"Yes, I probably would."

Dr. Roy Slephy of Pittsburg arrived here this morning for the purpose of testifying in the case. He will be called in connection with the testimony of the detective nurse, Miss Zwickler, alias Mrs. Klein, and his testimony is expected to be of a sensational character.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in telling the crowd at the Fairmont A. C. New York, Tuesday night about the Volgaist-Brown match became unusually eloquent.

"Here, Jack!" yelled a wag far up in the bleacher seats. "Where did you dig up that solidify?"

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Attorney General George W. Wickersham sounded a warning last night against the tendency of popular distrust of various branches of the government, before an audience of more than 400 jurists and lawyers attending the annual meeting of the New York State Bar association. United States Senator Elihu Root presided.

After the address a reception was tendered Attorney General Wickersham and the members of the State Bar association and its guests at the Century club.

Senator Root was the principal speaker at the afternoon session.

The nominating committee reported the name of Senator Root last night for president of the association.

This evening the annual banquet will be held. Among the speakers will be Attorney General Wickersham, Chancellor Day and Justice McCall of the King's bench, Toronto, Ont.

About $125,000 of the $170,000 pledged in the Y. M. C. A. campaign has been paid in and the rest will be forthcoming in a short while. Work on the foundation for the new building is progressing slowly, perhaps, but as quickly as is possible under the circumstances.

While the list is a fairly comprehensive one, as regards the masters represented, including as it does Botticelli, Titian, Rembrandt, Chardin, Franz Hals, Vermeer of Delft, Peter de Hoogh, Van der Werden, Andrea del Sarto and Velasquez.

The newly elected members of the Central council, A. O. H., will meet in January 23rd, at 7 p. m. In addition to after-dinner speeches by the officers of the company, there will be addresses by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, Mr.

Thomas R. Williams, Captain Walter
R. Jones, Dr. H. H. Sumner and others.

The work of removing the old pump from the Centralville pumping station has progressed almost to the point of completion, and in a few days more everything will be in readiness for the new pump for which $80,000 has been appropriated. Mayor Meehan called at the pumping station yesterday to see how the work was progressing and he said today that things are going along all right.

Firemen throughout the city have said many nice things about the new sprinklers and about the watering troughs. The sand makes secure foot-drink much more than they would if they were not sure of their footing.

Mr. Lorenzo E. Smith of the street department is the man who inaugurated the plan of sanding the street about the watering troughs. Mr. Smith is a great lover of horses.

Young Woman's Decision Delays Drama

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 20.—At Parson's theatre in this city, Arthur Hammerstein, son of the noted impresario, presented for the first time in America Mme. Maria Pampari in Arthur Lock's new musical drama, "The Masterpiece," which proved a conspicuous success for a premiere.
Among the Boston visitors of the occasion were Carmen Melis, Mrs. Matthew Dolan and Florence Constantino.

The opening was delayed by the necessity of changing every program, so that Miss Aileen Flaven's name would appear for the role of the young cellist instead of Miss Helen Schoeder, who at the eleventh hour refused to permit her stage lover to kiss her, and threatened a damage suit if her printed name was circulated on the programs.
Miss Schoeder hails from New York city. Miss Flaven went on last night after only one day's study.

WAR INEVITABLE

Dominican Troops Invade the Haitian Southern Frontier

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 20.—
War with Santo Domingo appears inevitable. Dominican troops have occupied Grand Cacaon on the Haitian southern frontier and are marching on Saitrou, Haiti.

The government has decided to oppose this invasion of its territory and is hurrying preparations for sending large forces of infantry and artillery to the threatened points.

The German minister is making an effort toward conciliation but with little prospect of success.

which it had been hoped would result in a peaceful settlement of the bound-dary dispute between the two republics have failed thus far. The Haitian commission of arbitration, which met representatives of the Santo Domingo government at the frontier, has returned without having accomplished its mission. Many citizens have been called to the colors to augment the present navy.

FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Candidates Already in the Fight

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—The campaign for speaker of the House of 1912 to succeed Joseph Walker of Brooklyn has begun in earnest on the republican side of the house.

Grafton D. Cushing formally opened his campaign last night by giving a dinner to a dozen of his supporters in the house. A number who were invited found it inconvenient to be present, owing to previous engagements.

The situation was talked over and within a short time Mr. Cushing expects to announce the appointment of a campaign committee.

Mr. Cushing and his friends realize that if the republican nominee for governor next fall should be Lieut. Gov.
Frothingham, it will injure his chances for the speakership, as the party will not be likely, in its present state of mind, to take its gubernatorial nominee and the speaker from the same ward in the same year.

Leader Martin M. Lomasney of the democratic minority says the democrats are going to have the next speaker because the next house is going to be democratic. The democrats, he says, are going to give such a good account of themselves in the legislature this year and Gov. Foss is going to make such an excellent governor that, in his opinion, the people are going to see to it that Gov. Foss is returned and have a democratic legislature to assist him in giving the people a democratic administration.

Robert M. Washburn of Worcester is also active in pushing his own boom for speaker, and it is believed he will have a goodly number of the husters of the house with him.

Representative Charles L. Underhill quietly nursing his boom for speaker, and is keeping a close watch on his fellow republicans who are already in the field.

James F. Cavanagh of Everett is also a candidate for the republican nomination for the speakership. Mr.
Cavanagh is going to give the republicans a chance to go outside of ward 11 for their speakership candidate next year and is telling his friends that he is in the fight from now on.

Representative Roger Wolcott of Milton is also understood to be after the honor.

The following letter explains
the situation:

Jan. 18, 1911

Messrs. Talbot Company,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—We beg to say that the Underwriters have made a liberal settlement with us for our loss occasioned by smoke and water in consequence of the fire in the premises adjoining ours on the night of December 27th, and therefore we have decided to accept your offer.

Inasmuch as the bulk of this merchandise was in no wise damaged at all, you are buying it at a really ridiculous price, and if you use it for special sale purposes, you ought to be able to create such a sensation in Lowell as was never before heard of in Men's Neckwear.

We are shipping the goods to you by express tonight.
Yours very truly,
STANDARD NECKWEAR COMPANY.

TALBOT'S

American House Bldg., Central St., Cor of Warren St.

fans, bouquets and myriads, and with the school colors, blue and gold. After Irene Simmons, president of the junior class, in a brief address, welcomed the guests and faculty and thanked the seniors for a previous party which they had tendered to the junior class, at the opening of the school year.
Then came the entertainment, the leading feature of which was the cobweb maze, delightful in its entanglements and the unexpected treasures at the end of the mazes. Refreshments followed, after which there came dancing.

That two new unions are underway and that they expected charters for them in the near future. Communications from Senators Lodge and Crane in answer to requests for statements made by the council, were received and placed on file.

It was voted that the next meeting be an open one. President William H.
O'Brien of the Boston Central Labor union will be one of the speakers.

OPEN MEETING

TO BE HELD BY TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

The Trades and Labor council held a lengthy session last evening and transacted considerable business.

After a discussion of the report of the legislative committee of the council relative to the draft of the new charter it was unanimously voted to accept the report of the committee and to reject the new charter as drawn by the charter revision committee. New delegates from the brewery workers, bottlers, street railway men's and carpenters' unions were seated. Several special committees reported that they had attended to matters referred to them and their reports were accepted.
